DEDICATION

It was not hard for me to conclude who should receive a dedication for this book. I would be remiss to ascribe it to any other than YHVH who was gracious enough to use me as a vessel to disseminate the information herein.

Thank you, YHWH Yeshua, the author and finisher of our faith.

PREFACE

Sometimes I wonder if I should have been born in Missouri, after all it is called “The Show Me State.” I have always been an inquisitive person. When someone tells me something or if I read something, I need to know the depths of what is being conveyed to me. Many people can wear a watch on their wrist, or perhaps in their pocket and they are content to know that the watch shows them the current time. People like me are not satisfied with just seeing the time. We want to know how a watch works. If you’re like me you have opened up the back of a watch to see the intricacies of the gears and the spring and perhaps you, like me, have taken a watch apart without the skill to put it back together. Yes, this is aggravating, however knowing that the watch works via springs, gears and nowadays electronic means helps us to see that a lot is involved in the workings of a timepiece.

In many ways Biblical Scripture is similar to the watch that I described above. Many people are content to read scripture and they feel satisfied with what they read, receiving comfort and greater faith through the precious words on the pages of the Holy Writ. When I first came to faith in Yeshua I read through the Bible several times and I love the stories, analogies, parables and of course the promises and provisions that YHVH gives to us in His Word. There are however some things that although they can be accepted by a person’s faith, one feels that there are deeper meanings that need to be addressed. YHVH has given us tools to further explore His Word and he has given us the Ruach Ha Kodesh (The Holy Spirit) to unravel the mysteries of Scripture. Unlike the watch analogy that I gave earlier, when we delve deeper into scripture using scripture itself, helpful written works and by asking in prayer that YHVH will reveal his Word in a deeper way, we can look at the intricacies of scripture and we can put things together in a way that we never thought imaginable. It should also be noted that in the same way that gears in a watch mesh with each other, scripture needs to verify scripture. With that process in mind it is possible to comprehend the surface meaning of scripture, and in addition we can glean the inner workings that YHVH has written into His Word.

I look at Scripture sometimes from a culinary aspect. Any one of us can go to a fine restaurant and we can have a wonderful meal placed in front of us. We look at the meal before us and if we just look we can be satisfied, but only a little bit. We can look at the meal and notice that it is a meal that someone went through a lot of trouble to make for us. We see the steak, potato's a vegetable medley, a salad and a dessert. However, taking in the meal with all of the senses minus the sense of taste is not very satisfying, at least in my estimation. However, if we use a knife and fork we can taste meal as we place it in our mouths. We use the knife to cut the steak into pieces so that we can chew it and we use the fork to place the food from the salad, the meal plate and the dessert into our mouth. When we make an effort to dissect the food it tastes good and it provides us with nourishment.

Why do I feel that I have to dissect the Word of YHVH in such a way? Well, there is wordage in scripture that I simply cannot understand because YHVH's Word was written by YHVH's inspired authors that lived in times that are much more different than ours. They wrote in languages that the modern man find hard to understand, and they lived in cultures that were in many ways different than modern culture.

Perhaps using an example can better illustrate what I am trying to say. When I read through the Tanakh (Old Testament) I came across stories where YHVH told the Israelite Armies to go into certain cities and to kill every man, woman, child and animal in that city. Being a believer of Yeshua (Jesus) I know that the essence of YHVH is love, hope, peace and a variety of other wonderful aspects of character. I accepted by faith that YHVH knew what he was commanding those armies to do, but I had a hard reconciling how a God of Love could order such slaughter. Without delving further into word meanings and a knowledge of the Land of Canaan of that time, and without a knowledge of Satan's attempted destruction of the human race and the Messianic lineage it is easy to think of YHVH as being a murderous being that has a dualism in His character.

Please do not get me wrong. I see nothing wrong with accepting that YHVH has his reasons for all of his actions and interactions in human affairs, but aside from having faith that He knows His own purposes, I felt that if I dug deeper I could find an answer that YHVH had to provide in His own Word. That answer came one day when I was listening to a Chuck Missler seminar back in the 1990's. In that seminar, which Missler presented at Roswell, New Mexico it was explained to me that there was a fallen angel incursion at which time those fallen angels came down to Earth and they corrupted human seed, so much so that YHVH had to destroy the world through a flood to wipe out not only any remaining Nephilim (Giants) but also mankind that had grown corrupted both in their DNA and in their rebellion against YHVH. This one seminar answered for me the Genesis Six question and all of the questions I had about the actions of the Israelite Armies when they were commanded to destroy all of the inhabitants of a city.

Another example can be found in Revelation, Chapter Ten, verse six, where the angel declares that "time will be no longer." That is an oddity that I just had to look up. Looking up those words in the original Greek language cause my jaw to drop to the floor. The word for "time" is "chronos," it is a root word that many of us use in words such as chronology, chronograph and such. The word for "no" means exactly that, "no." The word for longer is the key to the sense of awe that I felt and still feel about this scripture. The word in Greek for "longer," is "eti," and it can mean longer, but its proper rendering is, "of a thing which went on formerly, whereas now a different state of things exists or has begun to exist." This tells me that there will be a time when YHVH will end time as we know it for a short period of time. Yes, we have follow protocol to look for a scripture that could back this up because scripture verifies scripture. We find in the words of Yeshua's discourse in Matthew when he proclaims:

For then shall be great tribulation, such as was not since the beginning of the world to this time, no, nor ever shall be. And except those days should be shortened, there should no flesh be saved: but for the elect's sake those days shall be shortened. Matthew 24:21-22

The best way, at least in my estimation, to shorten time is to end it altogether. I have given two reasons why it is important to dig into scripture to see what lies beneath the surface.

In the same way, when I read that Yeshua told us that at the time of his return the world would be much like it was in the Days of Noah. I feel that it is important to look at the condition of the world and society in antediluvian times and to compare it with our current world. The parallels are amazing and scary at the same time. Knowing that we are so close to the closing of the dominion's of both Satan and Mankind here on earth is very important because it causes the true believer in Yeshua to prepare for His coming and it causes us to get the word out to unsaved friends and family so that at the blowing of the Seventh (and last) Trumpet in revelation YHVH will remove the remnant of His People so that the time of punishment can come upon unbelievers who have taken the Mark of The Beast. If we love others we want them to join us. So now that you know the purpose for putting this book together, please continue on. I do believe that you will find that we are closer to the return of Yeshua than you ever believed before.

A word about nomenclature. You will find that there are some chapters where I use the tetragram YHVH for LORD and there are some chapters where I use Lord and/or God to describe YHVH. Understand please that this book has been a work in process for a few years and my preference in nomenclature has changed as I have grown in my faith in YHVH Yeshua.

CHAPTER ONE

THE SONS OF GOD AND THE NEPHILIM

In this chapter of the “Days of Noah,” we will examine the Sons of God and the Nephilim both before the flood of Noah, after that flood and in our modern day. The whole premise of this text is a phrase that Yeshua (Jesus) mentioned to His disciples during one of their many teachings. The disciples had originally asked Yeshua what the signs would be of His second coming. Yeshua went into many things, but the teaching that we continue to examine is rooted in the following passage:

And as it was in the days of Noe, so shall it be also in the days of the Son of man. Luke 17:26

Many people just pass over this passage when they read it because it is sort of vague. This passage has always caught my eye; and one day, after listening to a recorded message about it I decided to do my own study on the matter. I did this because Yeshua was giving us a hint of what society will be like when He’s about to return. So, like every good student, I got out my Bible and some other works that described what life was like before the great deluge destroyed the world. I don’t know about you, but I want to know if our society belongs to the generation Yeshua said would exist at the time of His return; because if it is, we need to be ready to meet Him and help others to come to faith in Him before it’s too late.

This book is broken up into several chapters because there were distinct world situations at the time; and although they are all related to certain individuals who corrupted mankind through their rebellion toward God, and all the actions are interrelated, I felt that breaking them up into different chapters would make reading easier for those reading this book. This particular chapter deals with angels that rebelled and then took human wives. These wives had offspring called Nephilim, who were half human and half angel, making them supernatural and corporeal at the same time; a strange breed indeed. This occurred before the flood after the flood and my assertion is that it happened after the flood and that it is happening again today. Before you make any judgments, read the book. You might be surprised at what the Bible and some extra-Biblical works tell us about events before God destroyed the world with the deluge.

I suppose that in order to get off to a good start we should define the term antediluvian.

The Merriam Webster online dictionary defines the term as:

an·te·di·lu·vi·an

Pronunciation: "an-ti-d&-'lü-vE-&n, -(')dI-

Function: adjective

Etymology: ante (before) + Latin diluvium flood:

1: of or relating to the period before the flood described in the Bible

So in essence, a good paraphrase would be, “the world before the Noahic Flood.” This is the time from when God finished creating the world until He destroyed it with the worldwide flood. Now that we have a definition we can move on and I can rest assured that people won’t be scratching their heads whenever they see the word antediluvian.

I like to read the Bible. I love every verse and love how things are revealed about the Living Word of God on a constant basis. No person could ever know the Bible in full because to do so one would have to be able to know eternal knowledge and that is impossible. God, however, in His infinite wisdom and mercy will hand out bits and pieces of information that will answer any question that the true seeker wants to be answered. In my 39 years of being a Born Again Believer, He has never ceased to amaze me and has never let me down when in my curiosity, I've wanted to attain wisdom from Him.

If you've visited things that I have written, in any length you'll notice that the focus is to shine a light on some delusions that are plaguing both believers and unbelievers. The saying goes "don't bullshit a bullshitter," and I think that apt where I'm concerned. I've been around long enough to discern fact from fiction and I get a bit uptight when I see people who author delusions trying to hoodwink decent and honest people. I often wish I could get paid for exposing frauds and such because if it did pay I could make a lot of money; seeing all of the garbage that is fed to the masses.

The two main foci of the our ministry website are the delusions of Evolution and extraterrestrials. These are two areas where, before my new birth in Messiah, I was deeply steeped. Since I was involved in these things it's easier for me to preach against them, then it would be for someone who only heard about such things. Someone once said, "don't judge a man (or his beliefs) until you've walked a mile in his moccasins." Well, I've walked many miles in those shoes, so I can talk about these subjects with the confidence of knowing that I know what I am talking about.

What Got This Started:

I love Biblical Prophecy. Reading the prophecies about Messiah's coming in His first advent and seeing how they were answered in that appearing truly amazed me and is what caused me to search in earnest for my Lord before I knew Him. Concerning Prophecy, God proclaims:

Remember the former things of old: for I am God, and there is none else; I am God, and there is none like me, Declaring the end from the beginning, and from ancient times the things that are not yet done, saying, My counsel shall stand, and I will do all my pleasure: Isaiah 46:9-10

Only the Holy God; the God of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob can make such a claim. He has a perfect score and all others fall by the wayside. The interesting thing about the Bible in whole is that it is like a spider web. All points are connected by one common and continuous thread. Anchor point "a" might be on the other side of the web from anchor point "d" but everything between them makes the web one web. Take for instance the first coming of Messiah. There are numerous prophecies of His coming peppered all through the Tanakh. The Brit Hadasha deals with the subject of His first coming and promises His second coming. The birth of the Church (true believers everywhere) is the confirmation of His first coming. Since the Church and Israel, both still exist His word assures us that there will be the second coming of Messiah; first because He promised to return to take the Church unto Himself and second because He promised to come back and redeem Israel. God gave birth to Israel, Israel gave birth to the Messiah, Messiah gave life to all who receive it Him, and Messiah Yeshua's return will be to marry His bride (the Church) and to save His people Israel. But I digress.

Anyway, for some time I was greatly intrigued by one verse in the Gospel of Luke and also shared in the Gospel of Matthew. That verse reads:

And as it was in the days of Noe (Noah), so shall it be also in the days of the Son of man. Luke 17:26

Here Yeshua gives us a prophecy that we should really not ignore. It is vital that we understand what life was like on earth when Noah was alive. The Bible gives us a few ideas about conditions at that time. Mankind had been perverted to such an extent that there were only eight righteous people left on the planet. Some estimates of the population of our planet before the worldwide deluge could have risen as high as a billion people, other estimates go as high as eight billion people. Given that people lived for hundreds of years in that era, the potential for having extremely large families was quite good. For instance, if Adam's son Seth had just twenty sons and twenty daughters, and each son or daughter had the same amount of offspring, by the time that all of Seth's grandchildren were born his family could number 802 persons. Seth lived 912 years so there's a good chance that he and his wife produced more than forty offspring. And we can't rule out that men of that epoch had more than one wife. So, there was a population boom before and during the time of Noah; same as we have today. Moreover, conditions on earth at that time were different and were conducive to longer and healthier lives. All added together, it was perfect for God's Command to "Be fruitful and multiply."

They did eat, they drank, they married wives, they were given in marriage, until the day that Noe entered into the ark, and the flood came, and destroyed them all. Likewise also as it was in the days of Lot; they did eat, they drank, they bought, they sold, they planted, they builded; But the same day that Lot went out of Sodom it rained fire and brimstone from heaven, and destroyed [them] all. Luke 17:27-29

It sounds like life was normal for the common person who lived before the flood. From the passage, you really can't get an idea of what it was like at that time. But one interesting note is that all this time Noah had been preaching to the world that they were all evil. He was pleading with them to repent and come to the Lord. But just like today, people go about their daily lives like things will go on perfectly until the day of their normal death. They hear about Yeshua all the time through friends, radio, television or other means yet they just ignore the warning and the blessed news that God has provided a way of escape from judgment and hell and to live a fruitful and meaningful life. That is another attribute we share with the antediluvian world.

I also find it extremely interesting that Yeshua also brings up the subject of Lot and the destruction of Sodom and Gomorrah. The great sins of the Cities of the Plain were sexual in nature, both homosexuality and perverted heterosexual sin. It's no secret that our society is immersed in sexual perversion. Each and every day we hear about children being molested by adults and even other children. The homosexual agenda is being force fed down our throats, the sin that was once associated with that perversion now just labeled as "an alternative lifestyle." And the perverts and deviants are even lauded and given accolades because they are especially talented. People like Elton John who openly admits a homosexual lifestyle was given a title of royalty in England and child molesters like Michael Jackson are labeled as victims when their sins are brought out into the open. We're supposed to feel sorry for that sort because their father's happened to be a bit tough on them while growing up. Well, so were a lot of fathers of normal decent people. And to make matters even worse, if one is to bring up the misdeeds of these types one can be charged in the legal system of having committed a hate crime. This world is a state where up is down and bad is good. God foresaw this and He comments:

Woe unto them that call evil good, and good evil; that put darkness for light, and light for darkness; that put bitter for sweet, and sweet for bitter! Woe unto them that are wise in their own eyes, and prudent in their own sight! Woe unto them that are mighty to drink wine, and men of strength to mingle strong drink: Which justify the wicked for reward, and take away the righteousness of the righteous from him! Isaiah 5:20-23

We will look further into the sin of homosexuality in a later chapter.

To get an idea of what the world was like before the flood, we have to examine what led up to the evil of Noah's time. The evil of his time was actually quite advanced. This is because the evil didn't start in Noah's days, but had its roots in earlier times. Genesis points out something quite strange. It is so strange that many just pass over it in their reading and don't investigate it fully. First, let's look at the Biblical passage which reads:

And it came to pass, when men began to multiply on the face of the earth, and daughters were born unto them, That the sons of God saw the daughters of men that they were fair; and they took them wives of all which they chose. And the LORD said, My spirit shall not always strive with man, for that he also is flesh: yet his days shall be an hundred and twenty years. There were giants in the earth in those days; and also after that, when the sons of God came in unto the daughters of men, and they bare children to them, the same became mighty men which were of old, men of renown. And GOD saw that the wickedness of man was great in the earth, and that every imagination of the thoughts of his heart was only evil continually. And it repented the LORD that he had made man on the earth, and it grieved him at his heart. And the LORD said, I will destroy man whom I have created from the face of the earth; both man, and beast, and the creeping thing, and the fowls of the air; for it repenteth me that I have made them. Genesis 6:1-7

In this passage, we are introduced to several personages. The first is the men of the earth. They are pretty simple to define, as being men in general, or in a broader sense, mankind. The second group is the daughters of these men. Again, we have people who are easy to identify, as the daughters of the men who are mentioned in the same sentence. Then we are introduced to another group who are called the “Sons of God.” The Hebrew term for “Sons of God,” is “B'nai Elohim”. When the phrase is found in the Tanakh (Old Covenant) it is always used to denote angels. See for reference Job 1:6; 2:1 and 38:7; Psalm 29:1-2; Psalm 89:5-6. Only after the death of Yeshua in the New Covenant does it refer to the believer in Yeshua being “sons of God.” And, that reference is in a manner of adoption. Let’s look at the term “sons of God,” in the Tanakh.

Now there was a day when the sons of God came to present themselves before the LORD, and Satan came also among them. Job 1:6

And:

Again there was a day when the sons of God came to present themselves before the LORD, and Satan came also among them to present himself before the LORD. Job 2:1

And:

When the morning stars sang together, and all the sons of God shouted for joy? Job 38:7

And:

A Psalm of David. Give unto the LORD, O ye mighty, give unto the LORD glory and strength. Psalm 29:1

And:

For who in the heaven can be compared unto the LORD? [who] among the sons of the mighty can be likened unto the LORD? Psalm 89:6

Note that the words in the Psalms translate out to be “ben el” which still means sons of God.

The passage in Genesis goes on to explain how some of the angels found human females attractive and they had sexual relations with them. It doesn't say that they married them but denotes that the women were taken perhaps by force to submit themselves as wives. The offspring of these two different types of beings were called “Giants.” The word “Gigantes” comes from the Greek Septuagint translation of the Hebrew text. Interestingly enough, the word “Gigantes” was also used by the ancient Greeks to describe their gods, who were also said to be large in stature. The Greek Titans were considered to be half human and half God.

There are three extra-Biblical books that tend to shed more light on the vague scripture of Genesis chapter six. The first is the Book of 1 Enoch, which was a book somewhat revered by the Jews of the second and first centuries prior to Yeshua's first coming. The passages read:

And it came to pass when the children of men had multiplied that in those days were born unto them beautiful and comely daughters. And the angels, the children of the heaven, saw and lusted after them, and said to one another: 'Come, let us choose us wives from among the children of men and beget us children.' And Semjaza, who was their leader, said unto them: 'I fear ye will not indeed agree to do this deed, and I alone shall have to pay the penalty of a great sin.' And they all answered him and said: 'Let us all swear an oath, and all bind ourselves by mutual imprecations not to abandon this plan but to do this thing.' Then swore they all together and bound themselves by mutual imprecations upon it. And they were in all two hundred; who descended in the days of Jared on the summit of Mount Hermon, and they called it Mount Hermon, because they had sworn and bound themselves by mutual imprecations upon it. And these are the names of their leaders: Samlazaz, their leader, Araklba, Rameel, Kokablel, Tamlel, Ramlel, Danel, Ezeqeel, Baraqijal, Asael, Armaros, Batarel, Ananel, Zaquel, Samsapeel, Satarel, Turel, Jomjael, Sariel. These are their chiefs of tens. Enoch 5:1-8

And if we study yet another extra-Biblical book, The Book of Jubilees, we see the same story of the angelic corruption of the Earth and all that is in it:

And it came to pass when the children of men began to multiply on the face of the earth and daughters were born unto them, that the angels of God saw them on a certain year of this jubilee, that they were beautiful to look upon; and they took themselves wives of all whom they chose, and they bare unto them sons and they were giants. And lawlessness increased on the earth and all flesh corrupted its way, alike men and cattle and beasts and birds and everything that walks on the earth -all of them corrupted their ways and their orders, and they began to devour each other, and lawlessness increased on the earth and every imagination of the thoughts of all men (was) thus evil continually. And God looked upon the earth, and behold it was corrupt, and all flesh had corrupted its orders, and all that were upon the earth had wrought all manner of evil before His eyes. And He said that He would destroy man and all flesh upon the face of the earth which He had created. But Noah found grace before the eyes of the Lord. And against the angels whom He had sent upon the earth, He was exceedingly wroth, and He gave commandment to root them out of all their dominion, and He bade us to bind them in the depths of the earth, and behold they are bound in the midst of them, and are (kept) separate. And against their sons went forth a command from before His face that they should be smitten with the sword, and be removed from under heaven. And He said 'My spirit shall not always abide on man; for they also are flesh and their days shall be one hundred and twenty years'. And He sent His sword into their midst that each should slay his neighbour, and they began to slay each other till they all fell by the sword and were destroyed from the earth. And their fathers were witnesses (of their destruction), and after this they were bound in the depths of the earth for ever, until the day of the great condemnation, when judgment is executed on all those who have corrupted their ways and their works before the Lord. And He destroyed all from their places, and there was not left one of them whom He judged not according to all their wickedness. Jubilees 5:1-11

In the late 1940's a wonderful discovery was made by a young Bedouin child who was out meandering in the desert near the ancient ruins of Qumran. Throwing a rock into a cave and hearing a crashing sound and went into the cave to investigate. Inside the cave, he found large pottery vessels which contained the ancient documents that we know as the Dead Sea Scrolls. These scrolls contained nearly the whole Bible as well as many of the extra-Biblical books. Among those scrolls was one called, "The Genesis Apocryphon." The scroll is a greatly abbreviated version of the first few chapters of Genesis and is mostly in fragments. One of the fragments contains the following text regarding the birth of Noah:

I thought, in my heart, that the conception was the work of the Watchers the pregnancy of the Holy Ones and that it belonged to the Giants... and my heart was upset by this... I, Lamech, turned to my wife Bitenosh and said... Swear to me by the Most High, Great Lord, King of the Universe...the sons of heavens, that you will truthfully tell me everything, if... You will tell me without lies... Then Bitenosh, my wife spoke harshly and she cried... and said: Oh my brother and lord! Remember my pleasure... the time of love, gasping for breath. I will tell you everything truthfully... and then my heart began to ache... When Bitenosh realized my mood had changed...Then she withheld her anger and said to me: O my lord and brother! Remember my pleasure. I swear to you by the Great Holy One, the King of the heavens... That this seed, pregnancy, and planting of fruit comes from you and not a stranger, Watcher, or son of the heaven... Why is your expression changed and your spirit saddened... I speak honestly to you... Then I, Lamech, went to my father, Methuselah, and told him everything so that he would know the truth because he is well liked... and he is in well with the Holy Ones and they share everything with him. Methuselah went to Enoch to find the truth... he will. And he went to Parvaim, where Enoch lived... He said to Enoch: O my father and lord, to whom I... I tell you! Do not be angry because I came here to you... fear before you... Fragment 2

Column 2; Genesis Apocryphon

It appears that the text is talking about the conception and birth of Noah. Apparently, when he was born he bore some physical trait that was uncommon for the humans of the time. The difference is not known. Perhaps he had blue eyes, or different color hair, or perhaps he was a larger child than most. The important thing is that Lamech was concerned that his wife had been having relations with either one of the fallen angels or one of the Nephilim. While the text is fragmented and we don't have the next column it is clear that after consulting with his father Methuselah and grandfather Enoch that Lamech's fears were laid to rest. The testimony of his wife Bitenosh and his two elders gave him comfort that Noah was perfect in his generations and was not tainted by the angels or the Nephilim.

Many people think that the flood that God sent upon the Earth was sent to destroy the Nephilim. This is not the case, as we can see in the following passages:

Before these things Enoch was hidden, and no one of the children of men knew where he was hidden, and where he abode, and what had become of him. And his activities had to do with the Watchers, and his days were with the holy ones. And I Enoch was blessing the Lord of majesty and the King of the ages, and lo! the Watchers called me -Enoch the scribe- and said to me: 'Enoch, thou scribe of righteousness, go, declare to the Watchers of the heaven who have left the high heaven, the holy eternal place, and have defiled themselves with women, and have done as the children of earth do, and have taken unto themselves wives: "Ye have wrought great destruction on the earth: And ye shall have no peace nor forgiveness of sin: and inasmuch as they delight themselves in their children, The murder of their beloved ones shall they see, and over the destruction of their children shall they lament, and shall make supplication unto eternity, but mercy and peace shall ye not attain." 1 Enoch Chapter 12

And:

The book of the words of righteousness, and of the reprimand of the eternal Watchers in accordance with the command of the Holy Great One in that vision. I saw in my sleep what I will now say with a tongue of flesh and with the breath of my mouth: which the Great One has given to men to converse therewith and understand with the heart. As He has created and given to man the power of understanding the word of wisdom, so hath He created me also and given me the power of reprimanding the Watchers, the children of heaven. I wrote out your petition, and in my vision it appeared thus, that your petition will not be granted unto you throughout all the days of eternity, and that judgement has been finally passed upon you: yea (your petition) will not be granted unto you. And from henceforth you shall not ascend into heaven unto all eternity, and in bonds of the earth the decree has gone forth to bind you for all the days of the world. And (that) previously you shall have seen the destruction of your beloved sons and ye shall have no pleasure in them, but they shall fall before you by the sword. And your petition on their behalf shall not be granted, nor yet on your own: even though you weep and pray and speak all the words contained in the writing which I have written. 1 Enoch 14:1-8

And:

And against the angels whom He had sent upon the earth, He was exceedingly wroth, and He gave commandment to root them out of all their dominion, and He bade us to bind them in the depths of the earth, and behold they are bound in the midst of them, and are (kept) separate. And against their sons went forth a command from before His face that they should be smitten with the sword, and be removed from under heaven. And He said 'My spirit shall not always abide on man; for they also are flesh and their days shall be one hundred and twenty years'. And He sent His sword into their midst that each should slay his neighbour, and they began to slay each other till they all fell by the sword and were destroyed from the earth. And their fathers were witnesses (of their destruction), and after this they were bound in the depths of the earth for ever, until the day of the great condemnation, when judgment is executed on all those who have corrupted their ways and their works before the Lord. And He destroyed all from their places, and there was not left one of them whom He judged not according to all their wickedness. Jubilees 5:6-11

And as sort of a sideline to the subject of the Nephilim, one has to wonder what became of them after they slew each other by the sword. Can a half human, half angel go to heaven or hell? Can they be resurrected or live for eternity? The Book of 1 Enoch answers that question in the following passage:

And now, the giants, who are produced from the spirits and flesh, shall be called evil spirits upon the earth, and on the earth shall be their dwelling. Evil spirits have proceeded from their bodies; because they are born from men and from the holy Watchers is their beginning and primal origin; they shall be evil spirits on earth, and evil spirits shall they be called. [As for the spirits of heaven, in heaven shall be their dwelling, but as for the spirits of the earth which were born upon the earth, on the earth shall be their dwelling.] And the spirits of the giants afflict, oppress, destroy, attack, do battle, and work destruction on the earth, and cause trouble: they take no food, but nevertheless hunger and thirst, and cause offences. And these spirits shall rise up against the children of men and against the women, because they have proceeded from them. From the days of the slaughter and destruction and death of the giants, from the souls of whose flesh the spirits, having gone forth, shall destroy without incurring judgement -thus shall they destroy until the day of the consummation, the great judgement in which the age shall be consummated, over the Watchers and the godless, yea, shall be wholly consummated.” Enoch 15:8 thru 16:2

We see from the above passages that when the Nephilim killed each other by the sword their spirits didn't go to Hell or Paradise. They are disembodied spirits that cause all sorts of havoc among mankind. When you hear reports of ghosts, goblins, poltergeists and other paranormal activities, they are the works of the Nephilim. Demon possession in reality is possession by the spirits of the Nephilim. Mediums and psychics aren't hearing from the dearly departed or ascended masters. They're hearing the haunting voices of the Nephilim.

Before going on to other things, one might be asking about the angels who caused all these problems. Where did they go? What happened to them? First, we have to bear in that there were many angels who decided to follow Satan in his rebellion. We read in 1 Enoch chapter six that there were twenty leaders and the chapter says that each leader had ten angels under him. So, out of the multitude of rebellious angels that rebelled with Satan, only two hundred were involved in taking human wives. But those two hundred were sent to a horrible place to pay for their transgression:

For if God spared not the angels that sinned, but cast them down to hell, and delivered them into chains of darkness, to be reserved unto judgment; 2 Peter 2:4

The word that Peter used for Hell in the passage above is Tartarus. The region is defined as the name of the subterranean region, doleful and dark, regarded by the ancient Greeks as the abode of the wicked dead, where they suffer punishment for their evil deeds; it answers to Gehenna of the Jews. It was also defined as a place that is as far below the Earth as Earth is below heaven. Not a nice place to be.

And the angels which kept not their first estate, but left their own habitation, he hath reserved in everlasting chains under darkness unto the judgment of the great day. Jude 1:6

And in The Book of Enoch it is written:

And I proceeded to where things were chaotic. And I saw there something horrible: I saw neither a heaven above nor a firmly founded earth, but a place chaotic and horrible. And there I saw seven stars of the heaven bound together in it, like great mountains and burning with fire. Then I said: 'For what sin are they bound, and on what account have they been cast in hither?' Then said Uriel, one of the holy angels, who was with me, and was chief over them, and said: 'Enoch, why dost thou ask, and why art thou eager for the truth? These are of the number of the stars of heaven, which have transgressed the commandment of the Lord, and are bound here till ten thousand years, the time entailed by their sins, are consummated.' And from thence I went to another place, which was still more horrible than the former, and I saw a horrible thing: a great fire there which burnt and blazed, and the place was cleft as far as the abyss, being full of great descending columns of fire: neither its extent or magnitude could I see, nor could I conjecture. Then I said: 'How fearful is the place and how terrible to look upon!' Then Uriel answered me, one of the holy angels who was with me, and said unto me: 'Enoch, why hast thou such fear and affright?' And I answered: 'Because of this fearful place, and because of the spectacle of the pain.' And he said unto me: 'This place is the prison of the angels, and here they will be imprisoned for ever.' 1 Enoch 21:1-10

The angel/human connection didn't end with the binding of these angels though. There are scriptures that indicate that more angels rebelled after the flood and created more Nephilim.

There were giants in the earth in those days; and also after that, when the sons of God came in unto the daughters of men, and they bare children to them, the same became mighty men which were of old, men of renown. Genesis 6:4

“Afterward” specifies after the flood, when we see another instance of giants appearing, this time in the land of Canaan which the Israelites were to inherit (Num. 13:33). Satan once again tried to thwart God's plan by using these savage hybrids to occupy the land of Canaan and keep Abraham's offspring out. Obviously, none of the Nephilim survived the flood.

These giants are often mentioned in the early books of the Tanakh until the last of them were finally killed off. The word Nephilim only appears twice in the Old Testament (Gen 6:4; Num. 13:33), but these giants are also referred to as Gibbor (Gen 6:4; Num. 13:33; Job 16:14) and Rephaim when they reappear in a more limited fashion after the flood (Gen. 14:5; 15:20; Deu. 2:11, 20; 3:11, 13; Jos. 12:4; 13:12; 15:8; 17:15; 18:16; II Sam. 5:18, 22; 21:16, 18, 20, 22; 23:13; I Chr. 11:15; 14:9; 20:4, 6, 8; Isa. 17:5; 26:14). They were known by the proper names of Rephaim, Emim, Anakim, and Zamzummim.

There were other ideas and notions that the fallen angels introduced into the human consciousness. The Book of 1 Enoch tells us some of these things:

And all the others together with them took unto themselves wives, and each chose for himself one, and they began to go in unto them and to defile themselves with them, and they taught them charms and enchantments, and the cutting of roots, and made them acquainted with plants. And they became pregnant, and they bare great giants, whose height was three thousand ells: Who consumed all the acquisitions of men. And when men could no longer sustain them, the giants turned against them and devoured mankind. And they began to sin against birds, and beasts, and reptiles, and fish, and to devour one another's flesh, and drink the blood. Then the earth laid accusation against the lawless ones.

And Azazel taught men to make swords, and knives, and shields, and breastplates, and made known to them the metals of the earth and the art of working them, and bracelets, and ornaments, and the use of antimony, and the beautifying of the eyelids, and all kinds of costly stones, and all colouring tinctures. And there arose much godlessness, and they committed fornication, and they were led astray, and became corrupt in all their ways. Semjaza taught enchantments, and root-cuttings, 'Armaros the resolving of enchantments, Baraqijal (taught) astrology, Kokabel the constellations, Ezeqeel the knowledge of the clouds, Araquel the signs of the earth, Shamsiel the signs of the sun, and Sariel the course of the moon. And as men perished, they cried, and their cry went up to heaven. .. 1 Enoch; Chapters 7 and 8

We can see that the beginning of most of the occult activity that has plagued mankind through the ages started with instruction by the fallen angels. We see that the Nephilim used up all the resources of mankind and when mankind couldn't sustain their appetites with foods, the Nephilim turned to cannibalism and started to devour mankind. The angels taught mankind how to make weapons and defenses so we can ascribe mankind's art of warfare as having come from these angels.

So, we can see by all we have read up to this point that there are many similarities between antediluvian society and modern society. The masks might be different but the players are the same.

Feet of Clay and Iron – Return of The Nephilim:

From all the study that we've done above both with Biblical texts and extra-Biblical text, we know that some of the angels that fell had relations with female humans and produced creatures called Nephilim. We've seen that they were wiped out before the flood, but there were instances of them reappearing after the flood. Did you ever wonder why God gave instructions to the Israelites to destroy every man, woman, child and animals of certain villages or cities? How could a merciful God make such a commandment? The answer is simple. Those cities were most probably inhabited by Nephilim, Gibbor, Rephaim, Emim, Anakim, and Zamzummim and other offspring of angelic and human origin. True, the angels that committed the first offense in Genesis chapter six were bound in Tartarus to never be released until the judgment of all the wicked, but there still exists fallen angels that harass people and try to disrupt the work of the Kingdom of God. So it stands to reason that more of these angels tried to start Nephilim societies after the flood. They did so because the Satanic hoards knew that God gave the land to Abraham and his descendants and that the Messiah would have to be born in that area. God knew that those cities had to be destroyed completely so that there could be no corrupt gene pool in Israel's descendants, especially in Messiah's lineage.

We know that there were giants in the land when Israel was returning from their bondage in Egypt. We read an account of the spies that were sent into the land to reconnoiter the situation:

And they brought up an evil report of the land which they had searched unto the children of Israel, saying, The land, through which we have gone to search it, is a land that eateth up the inhabitants thereof; and all the people that we saw in it are men of a great stature. And there we saw the giants, the sons of Anak, which come of the giants: and we were in our own sight as grasshoppers, and so we were in their sight. Numbers 13:32-33

So it seems that all throughout history when God is about to make a great stride to forward His kingdom, the enemy tries to throw a wrench into the works. At least twice in history, he has tried to introduce giants or angelic half-breeds into society to corrupt the human gene pool. And I hate to rain on anyone's parade, but he's in the process of doing it again.

There is a subtle passage in the Book of Daniel that many tend to just pass over when they read the book. It is a very important passage though because it tells us how Yeshua's second coming will be just like in the days of Noah. The history of the passage is as follows. King Nebuchadnezzar of Babylon had a dream that troubled him and he wanted an interpretation of the dream. To make things harder he told the soothsayers and his psychics that he wouldn't tell them what the dream was. They were to tell him what the dream was and then tell him what it meant. Needless to say, his advisers couldn't tell him what the dream was so he ordered their execution.

About that time someone remembered Daniel who was languishing in prison, having been falsely accused of a crime. Daniel met with the king and then took some time to pray and seek the Lord about the matter. Daniel came back and related the dream to the king.

The king answered and said to Daniel, whose name was Belteshazzar, Art thou able to make known unto me the dream which I have seen, and the interpretation thereof? Daniel answered in the presence of the king, and said, The secret which the king hath demanded cannot the wise men, the astrologers, the magicians, the soothsayers, shew unto the king; But there is a God in heaven that revealeth secrets, and maketh known to the king Nebuchadnezzar what shall be in the latter days. Thy dream, and the visions of thy head upon thy bed, are these; As for thee, O king, thy thoughts came into thy mind upon thy bed, what should come to pass hereafter: and he that revealeth secrets maketh known to thee what shall come to pass. But as for me, this secret is not revealed to me for any wisdom that I have more than any living, but for their sakes that shall make known the interpretation to the king, and that thou mightest know the thoughts of thy heart. Thou, O king, sawest, and behold a great image. This great image, whose brightness was excellent, stood before thee; and the form thereof was terrible. This image's head was of fine gold, his breast and his arms of silver, his belly and his thighs of brass, His legs of iron, his feet part of iron and part of clay. Thou sawest till that a stone was cut out without hands, which smote the image upon his feet that were of iron and clay, and brake them to pieces. Then was the iron, the clay, the brass, the silver, and the gold, broken to pieces together, and became like the chaff of the summer threshingfloors; and the wind carried them away, that no place was found for them: and the stone that smote the image became a great mountain, and filled the whole earth. This is the dream; and we will tell the interpretation thereof before the king.

Thou, O king, art a king of kings: for the God of heaven hath given thee a kingdom, power, and strength, and glory. And wheresoever the children of men dwell, the beasts of the field and the fowls of the heaven hath he given into thine hand, and hath made thee ruler over them all. Thou art this head of gold. And after thee shall arise another kingdom inferior to thee, and another third kingdom of brass, which shall bear rule over all the earth. And the fourth kingdom shall be strong as iron: forasmuch as iron breaketh in pieces and subdueth all things: and as iron that breaketh all these, shall it break in pieces and bruise. And whereas thou sawest the feet and toes, part of potters' clay, and part of iron, the kingdom shall be divided; but there shall be in it of the strength of the iron, forasmuch as thou sawest the iron mixed with miry clay. And as the toes of the feet were part of iron, and part of clay, so the kingdom shall be partly strong, and partly broken. And whereas thou sawest iron mixed with miry clay, they shall mingle themselves with the seed of men: but they shall not cleave one to another, even as iron is not mixed with clay. And in the days of these kings shall the God of heaven set up a kingdom, which shall never be destroyed: and the kingdom shall not be left to other people, but it shall break in pieces and consume all these kingdoms, and it shall stand for ever. Forasmuch as thou sawest that the stone was cut out of the mountain without hands, and that it brake in pieces the iron, the brass, the clay, the silver, and the gold; the great God hath made known to the king what shall come to pass hereafter: and the dream is certain, and the interpretation thereof sure.

Then the king Nebuchadnezzar fell upon his face, and worshipped Daniel, and commanded that they should offer an oblation and sweet odours unto him. The king answered unto Daniel, and said, Of a truth it is, that your God is a God of gods, and a Lord of kings, and a revealer of secrets, seeing thou couldst reveal this secret. Then the king made Daniel a great man, and gave him many great gifts, and made him ruler over the whole province of Babylon, and chief of the governors over all the wise men of Babylon. Then Daniel requested of the king, and he set Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, over the affairs of the province of Babylon: but Daniel sat in the gate of the king. Daniel 2:26-49

I know that that scripture took up a lot of room and was a lot to read, but I just couldn't leave out even one sentence of the story because it explains the scripture that I'm trying to shed light on. In the dream, and in its subsequent interpretation God gave Nebuchadnezzar a prophecy of all of human history, from his time forward. We know that Babylon was symbolized by the head. The breast and arms of silver represented the second kingdom which turned out to be the Medio-Persian Empire that conquered Babylon a generation later. The belly and the thighs of brass symbolized the Greek Empire that conquered the Medes and Persians. The legs of iron symbolized the Roman Empire which conquered the Greek Empire. The Roman Empire later broke into two distinct parts, Rome and The Byzantine Empire. The feet with ten toes, many people surmise will symbolize the ten world regions that will exist during the time of the Anti-Christ. Interestingly enough, it is when these feet and toes are in world dominance, that the stone cut without hands (Yeshua the Messiah) will return and reduce all human empires to dust that will be blown away by the wind.

Now we have to go back to the scripture and study what is meant when God interprets the dream and says:

And as the toes of the feet were part of iron, and part of clay, so the kingdom shall be partly strong, and partly broken. And whereas thou sawest iron mixed with miry clay, they shall mingle themselves with the seed of men: but they shall not cleave one to another, even as iron is not mixed with clay.

For years, scholars told us that the ten toes would be ten nations of a Revived Roman Empire. Many believed this and for a long time, it appeared that as the European Community began to grow it would become a reality. But it didn't take long before the community grew beyond ten nations. As of this writing, some nations of the former Soviet Eastern Block are joining that community bringing the union far beyond the required ten nations. It is my contention, and that of many others, that the ten toes are ten world regions. This would answer a lot of questions. While the world will unite to become a New World Order or One World Order, it will never be totally united. There will always be rich nations and poor nations. There will be regions that will have different ideologies.

It will behoove us to look at the focus of this section. The key part of the scripture reads:

“they shall mingle themselves with the seed of men”

In order to mingle with the seed of men, they would have to be something other than mankind. What could they possibly be? We then make a big circle and go back to Genesis chapter six. The angels that rebelled mingled with the seed of men and created the Nephilim. Are you starting to see a repeating pattern here? In Genesis, this was done to mock God. It was done in order to corrupt the gene pool of mankind in order to thwart the promise of a redeemer for mankind. If the entire gene pool had been corrupted then Yeshua's lineage would have been corrupt. But God kept one man for Himself named Noah, who was perfect in his generations. In others words, there were not Nephilim genes in his ancestry.

After the flood, Satan again attempted to thwart God's plans by populating the Promised Land with Nephilim and their descendants. The Israelites were commissioned to enter the land and wipe out that infestation. They prevailed for the most part, but the victory wasn't complete. That little bit of failure resulted in Goliath, his brothers and other oddities.

Extraterrestrials and The New Nephilim Race:

I do not want to make it seem like mankind is enlightened in any way. We still make the mistakes that we've made for millennia and we never seem to learn. But, since the first advent of Messiah and the subsequent birth of the Church by the impartation of the Holy Spirit things have not been very easy for Satan and his minions. The Holy Spirit endows believers in Yeshua with a spiritual intelligence and knowledge in things not seen. He enables us to see things as they are even when the enemy tries to block our sight with fog and smokescreens. Satan wouldn't dare allow his angels try the forceful taking of human females to make Nephilim again because Christians worldwide would unite and fight him with force, and we would win. So how can he accomplish this fete? He uses what seems to be ridiculous to accomplish his deeds until the plan is in motion with such an inertia that it is hard to stop.

Satan is a deceiver and I'm sad to report that he's pretty good at what he does. I like to compare him to a barkeep who is who is skillful at watering down drinks. The first drink is pure, then the next drink is watered down a little bit and this goes on and on until the drinker is pretty well inebriated and can't notice that he's now drinking mostly water with just a little bit of alcoholic beverage in the mixture. Perhaps a better illustration would be an event that occurred a couple of years ago here in California. A pharmacist who was in charge of dispensing a cancer-fighting medication was caught watering down that medication so that he could make more money by selling twice the quantity of the preparation, claiming that it was full strength. Some patients died because they didn't receive the correct dose. In either case, the watering down of anything that is meant to be of benefit causes an ill effect over a given time.

The same is true with the story of the Nephilim. The accounts were accepted fact until supposed religious theologians got a hold of it and then the bickering started. More and more of the suspected theologians started to question the story about the angels that fell and they then started to insert their notion that the "sons of God" were really the righteous people that existed before the flood. This is called "The Sethite Theory." This was at the expense of writing off the written and oral traditions of the Jewish people as well as the original church fathers that held to the Angel synopsis. In human pride, and with Satan's help, people of a new generation think that they are wiser than the old generation, forsaking their ways, customs, and habits. While this might be a good thing, especially when those ideas might be harmful, like Nazism, Aryanism, Communism and other cancers that have inflicted society, it is not a good thing where Biblically sound teaching is concerned.

Over the years the Sethite theory has persisted as the accepted theory in lieu of the Angelic Incursion Fact. After that, other things were birthed into so-called "accepted Christian belief." Those things include, but are not limited to the notions that Satan doesn't exist, there is no hell, all religions lead to heaven and on and on and on. Biologists and sociologists refer to this as "the boiling frog syndrome." If you take a frog and put him in a pot of cool water he'll enjoy himself a great deal. If you turn the heat on under the pot of water the frog will acclimate to the water temperature, so much so, that he will just sit in the water and boil to death without ever trying to jump out. Such is the case of the human psyche.

Part of the blame for the ignorance of the Christian populace is that the Word of God (The Bible) was scarce for many hundreds of years. Printing presses weren't invented until well into the Renaissance so the common man had to trust that what he was being taught from the pulpit was the truth. It is unfortunate that many nefarious people used this situation to inflict some of the most heinous crimes committed by those who claimed to be Christians. Had Bibles been readily available in Spain there might not have been an inquisition and had Christians throughout the ages had Bibles to study from, then the Catholic Church might not have survived to this day. But on the same token, in an age like today, when everyone on the free world has access to a Bible many ignore it. A word to the wise is that ignorance will not be an excuse when you stand before God someday.

Since the 19th-century society has been spoon fed a variety of different lies. Some of them were mentioned above; no hell, no devil, and all religions are a way to heaven. The average Joe out on the street, when asked what he believes about these things will tell you that he believes in at least one of them. We've been fed other things too, like evolution, which has even caused many believers in Christ to question if the Genesis account of creation is correct and adequate to explain why we're here. Years ago I had a friend who had a saying that is so applicable to today's society. He used to say about ignorant people, "you buy them books and send them to school and all they do is eat the book covers."

So now we advance to the middle of the 20th century and we see that people have been fed so many different lies that they cannot determine what to believe, so, they believe nothing. Purposeful ignorance is easier than trying to tax one's mind to find the truth. Now the stage has been set to start the perpetuation of the great delusion that the Bible says will come in the end days. Well, a great part of its basis lies in the belief in extraterrestrials and UFOs as being corporeal beings and vehicles from advanced civilizations.

It started with a few people who the rest of society termed “crackpots” who claimed to have seen flying disks or strange lights in the sky. It then advanced to the craft coming closer and then landing and then occupants being seen. Soon after that, we started reading about people who were either willingly or unwillingly taken into the craft, their stories cautiously accepted by a society that seeks answers. But then bizarre events started to come to light. People started to claim that they were being taken forcefully in the night; from their beds, their cars, and other locations. They were claiming that strange experiments were being conducted on them. Some said that sperm or ovum was taken by the aliens who were supposed, “just studying mankind.”

One question I’ve always pondered is, if these beings are so advanced, then why does it take so many abductions for them to learn all about us? Some of them claim to be ascended masters; those who have become so enlightened that they have shed their physical bodies and are pure energy or spirit. If so enlightened, then they should know everything and not need to perform hideous and demeaning experiments and tests on unwilling subjects. Well, we know that Satan is a liar and that his minions follow in his footsteps and by his instruction. The claims of these beings, that they come from other worlds is just a bold faced lie, but one that many are willing to believe. And why do so many believe the lie? The Bible tells us:

Now we beseech you, brethren, by the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, and by our gathering together unto him, That ye be not soon shaken in mind, or be troubled, neither by spirit, nor by word, nor by letter as from us, as that the day of Christ is at hand. Let no man deceive you by any means: for that day shall not come, except there come a falling *away first, and that man of sin be revealed, the son of perdition; Who opposeth and exalteth himself above all that is called God, or that is worshipped; so that he as God sitteth in the temple of God, shewing himself that he is God. Remember ye not, that, when I was yet with you, I told you these things? And now ye know what withholdeth that he might be revealed in his time. For the mystery of iniquity doth already work: only he who now letteth will let, until he be taken out of the way. And then shall that Wicked be revealed, whom the Lord shall consume with the spirit of his mouth, and shall destroy with the brightness of his coming: Even him, whose coming is after the working of Satan with all power and signs and lying wonders, And with all deceivableness of unrighteousness in them that perish; because they received not the love of the truth, that they might be saved. And for this cause God shall send them strong delusion, that they should believe a lie: That they all might be damned who believed not the truth, but had pleasure in unrighteousness. II Thessalonians 2:1-12

Plainly put, the world doesn't want to know the truth anymore. They don't want to hear about God's love and grace because they know that with that love and grace the receiver has to acknowledge that they have to be accountable to God, whom they see has dictating rigid rules and regulations.

The world has told Yeshua to go away and they deny that God exists, or if they do acknowledge that He exists, they want nothing to do with Him; God is a gentleman and he will depart and will let them have it their way. Halfway through the Tribulation period, God will remove His Holy Spirit and Yeshua will bring His Bride (all true believers) home to be with him. If you think things are weird now, wait till God removes His protection. To put it bluntly, "you ain't seen nothing yet."

How do we explain the phenomenon called alien abductions? Well, it's quite simple. Since the evil angels can't abduct human women by force like they did both before the flood and afterward, they are reduced to other actions. They've convinced the world that they are here to assist us. They claim that they are here to help us to advance into the next stage of societal evolution, which they say will make the Earth a better place to live. They're doing this in two stages.

The first stage is almost complete. It is the stage where they convince humanity that they're here to make the world a better place. They pick certain individuals who have relinquished their free will to these entities so that they can use them to spread propaganda and false prophecies. These people will sow discord between anyone godly and those who really don't know what to believe. Through cunning and worldly wisdom they're convincing people that Christianity is evil and has only hindered the world from moving up the evolutionary ladder. Many fortune tellers, mediums, automatic writers and others are all claiming that the entities that convey messages to them are either aliens or ascended masters of the universe. They promote almost any religion or philosophic belief with the exception of Biblical Judaism and Biblical Christianity. They have people of this world on a runaway train that's heading for a washed out bridge while the passengers are demanding that the train go faster. It's quite insane but it's a reality nonetheless.

The second stage is for the extraterrestrials (AKA fallen angels) to create a race of beings that though they appear to be human in every aspect are really just shells of humans with no soul. This is the reason why ovum and sperm are collected from the abductees. These materials allow them to create beings that can be inhabited by the demonic hordes that long for bodies. Yeshua

Himself talked about the places where demons inhabit before they find a body to infest and how infestation occurs:

When the unclean spirit is gone out of a man, he walketh through dry places, seeking rest, and findeth none. Then he saith, I will return into my house from whence I came out; and when he is come, he findeth it empty, swept, and garnished. Then goeth he, and taketh with himself seven other spirits more wicked than himself, and they enter in and dwell there: and the last state of that man is worse than the first. Even so shall it be also unto this wicked generation. Matthew 12:43-45

If you have ever been on a long business trip or vacation can identify with this rigor. You might have motel rooms, places to eat, a car and such, but when you get down to it, there is no place like home. Demons desire a place of residence and they're not happy until they find one. Once they find a willing subject they move in and bring others in with them. Having worked in psychiatric hospitals I've seen this firsthand. First, let me say that I do not believe that everyone with a psychiatric condition is demon possessed. Most are oppressed by demons, but not possessed.

There is a psychiatric disorder that goes by two different names, one titled MPD (Multiple Personality Disorder), and the other DID (disassociative identity disorder). The theory behind DID is that a person has suffered so much traumatic stress in their lives that they create within themselves a variety of personalities to cope with the injury that the stressful trauma has caused. The "personalities" help the patient to disassociate from the trauma. Long ago I read research by a Christian psychologist that developed a way to make such people whole. He claimed that he would deal with each of the personalities on an individual basis and lead them to faith in Yeshua which would cause them to go away. When he dealt with all of the personalities the person was made whole. I believe this is an interesting therapy and hope to read more about it.

In regard to MPD, it is usually associated with schizophrenia. Many people with MPD tend to hear voices that take on a religious air and/or berate the patient with humiliating suggestions and/or suggestions to do harm to themselves and to others. In nursing school, we conducted an experiment where one person was trying to interview us individually while there was a person with a cone at each ear telling us religious jargon or insulting us or the interviewer. It was a truly bothersome example of what schizophrenics have to experience, many on a 24/7 basis.

One way that I am able to determine if a person is demonically possessed or oppressed is they obtain knowledge that they should not know. For instance, while at work one day a patient walked up to my medication window and said, "you're Jewish aren't you." I asked him to repeat what he said and he just said "never mind," and he walked away. I never share my ancestry or the fact that I am a messianic believer at my workplace. This showed me that this man is most probably possessed because he got information about me that he should not know. It's a sad fact that many people who are possessed or severely oppressed will only progress to a worse condition if their possession/oppression is not dealt with.

So, where am I going with all of this? I believe, as do many secular UFO researchers, that the supposed aliens are creating a race of their own. They will look and act (for the most part) human. But because they are the progeny of gene manipulation, they will have no souls. God did not will for these beings to exist and He will not want to have any part of them. Since their bodies will be human, and their spirits will be demonic, they will, in essence, be Nephilim. And to further firm up the idea, demons, as we have learned at the beginning of this text, are really the disembodied spirit of the Nephilim that lived before the flood; so they will be trying to get a second chance.

Now I'm not trying to advocate that we should be looking at everyone who seems different as though they are alien in nature. Too many people have done that in the past; like Hitler saw the Jews as different and Caligula saw the Christians as strange; both ideologies that led to much mayhem and sorrow. Likewise, I don't condone the action of those who try to ascribe demonic activity to everything wrong that happens in their lives. But one has to be careful and rightly divide the truth from fantasy.

What we have to determine is what these beings are doing on earth now and what they will be doing when they are fully in force, and things tend to point to the fact that these beings will be a numerable constituency upon the earth. The Book of Jasher refers to the Nephilim as:

And their judges and rulers went to the daughters of men and took their wives by force from their husbands according to their choice...Jasher 4:18

We see that the Nephilim appointed themselves as judges and rulers over common mankind. As just an observation, one has to wonder about the judges and rulers we have today. Daily we see judges making decisions that are slowly but surely removing any mention of God from society while they promote evolution and atheism, both are Satanic religions. Just a thought in passing?

The Bible, in Genesis chapter six, gives a hint to the character of the Nephilim:

There were giants in the earth in those days; and also after that, when the sons of God came in unto the daughters of men, and they bare children to them, the same became mighty men which were of old, men of renown. Genesis 6:4

The scripture says many things. One must remember that in the Hebrew, one word can have several meanings. The words have to be put into the context of the passage. When the King James Bible was written the “Sons of Seth” theory of the Nephilim was strictly enforced. Therefore, when the words of the above scripture were translated, they were done so in order to enforce the scriptural understanding of that time. Having done a word study of the passage I find it to be sound until I get to the word “renown.” The word can mean many things, including; mighty, valor, fame and other militaristic terms. However, the word can also be translated to be the word infamous. Looking at a thesaurus one can see other words for infamy. Those words include; disgrace, scandal, outrage, abomination, villainy, and atrocity. So, taking the scripture into context, especially after we’ve learned about the Nephilim (giants) we can better see the scripture as saying:

There were giants (Nephilim) in the earth in those days; and also after that. when the sons of God came in unto the daughters of men, and they bare children to them, the same became men, whose origins (by their father’s lines) were of old and who were mighty in their abominations and atrocities. Genesis 6:4 (Dave’s Paraphrase)

The “of old” rendering too is interesting. The Hebrew word for that phrase is transliterated “Olam” which has the following meanings:

long duration, antiquity, futurity, forever, ever, everlasting, evermore, perpetual, old, ancient, world

a) ancient time, long time (of past)

b) (of future)

1) forever, always

2) continuous existence, perpetual

3) everlasting, indefinite or unending future, eternity

The Bible can say this because it was clear to the original writer of Genesis knew that the Nephilim were half angel, and angels are special creations of God. It is accepted by scholars that the angels were created well before mankind, which would make them ancient in respect to human history.

To Summarize:

The basis of this document was to establish that there have been some strange activities in the world where it's inhabitants are concerned. We have seen that there have been several attempts by Satan to try to interrupt if not foil the plans that God Almighty has established to provide salvation to our fallen race.

We have not even gone into the murderous attempts that the evil one has tried to interrupt the first advent of Messiah Yeshua and how he's tried to prevent the second and final advent of our Savior. Yet we have seen that just as it says in Ecclesiastes,

The thing that hath been, it is that which shall be; and that which is done is that which shall be done: and there is no new thing under the sun. Ecclesiastes 1:9

If one desires to see how the evil one is going to act in the future, then one should look and see what he has done in the past. For while the package may have a different decorative paper wrapping it, the contents are still the same.

The Nephilim were here before the flood and they wreaked chaos at that time. They were here after the flood until finally wiped out by the Israelites. They are here now and will be a sizeable part of our population during the reign of the Anti-Christ.

When we hear about UFO's, alien abductions, body harvesting and other terms, we should be aware that it is the attempt of demonic and evil angelic forces to recreate the Nephilim race. When we hear of ghosts, goblins, fairies, poltergeists and other things that go bump in the night we know that they're not our dearly departed, but the deceptions of the disembodied spirits of the Nephilim. When the local fortune teller, medium, automatic writer or other New Age fanatic claims to be in contact with the other world, just remember that they are having fellowship with demonic forces, also known as the Nephilim.

And in closing, be aware that you are in a spiritual warfare whether you want to be or not. There are no neutralities in this war. You're either on God's side or you're on Satan's side and which side you pick will determine whether you spend eternity with a loving God that loves you so much that He died to save your soul or if you'll pick the wrong side and spend eternity in the fires of hell. They're real folks and God your creator has given you a choice. If you haven't already, I pray you choose the right choice. If you're curious about how to have a new life in Yeshua Ha Mashiach (Jesus The Christ) just look for the "how to be saved" page on the Delusion Resistance Website. OH, and I've read the end of the book, and we win!!

CHAPTER TWO

CONTINUED RESEARCH INTO THE UNEARTHLY BEINGS OF GENESIS

I feel that I have to interject this chapter within the pages of this book at this time. Between the time that I presented the “Days of Noah” series on the Delusion Resistance website I have researched further and have researched additional information that pertains to this fascinating subject. My job sometimes presents me with times of boredom and tedium that allows me to pray and to ask YHVH what he would allow me to approach in research aspects. I usually write down notes in a pad that I bring with me during these times. One day I felt the urge to write down that I was supposed to look into a new Bible that I purchased not long ago.

About a year ago I purchased an Eth Ceper (Holy Book) because I like using the Hebrew names in that version and I like that it has 87 books that the Ethiopian Bible has, the pseudepigrapha as well as the Apocrypha. These were books that were revered by the Jews of Yeshua’s time and they were referenced by Biblical scholars until they were removed by what would become the Roman Catholic Church. To be fair, the Catholic Church did keep the Apocrypha in their Bible. The Apocrypha can be used in historical context to illustrate history in Israel between the Prophets and the Brit Hadasha. The Pseudepigrapha is in my estimation, key to understanding the Ceper Bereshit (Genesis).

I was introduced to 1 Enoch, The Book of Jubilees, and the Book of Jared early in my ministry. Many people do not consider them canon, but since they mirror what is written in the Bible after the changes that occurred in Nicaea I consider them verifications of Scripture. They also are helpful in understanding some of the strangeness that is found in Bereshit that leaves us scratching our heads as to their meaning. The sixth chapter of Bereshit is a good example:

That the sons of God saw the daughters of men that they were fair; and they took them wives of all which they chose. And the Lord said, My spirit shall not always strive with man, for that he also is flesh: yet his days shall be an hundred and twenty years. There were giants in the earth in those days; and also after that, when the sons of God came in unto the daughters of men, and they bare children to them, the same became mighty men which were of old, men of renown. Genesis 6:4 KJV

This scripture in Genesis causes more questions than it gives answers. Who were the Sons of God? Who were the Giants? How did they figure into the wickedness of mankind before the flood? Did they come back after the flood? With these questions in mind, I read through 1 Enoch and was amazed. That book laid out all of the answers. It helped me to understand the history of Earth before the flood and it helped me to understand what the world will be like when Yeshua returns because He said that the world would be like the days of Noah when he comes back. In addition, it helped me to understand why YHVH would give orders to the Israelites to wipe out every man, woman, and child, including animals, in some of the villages that they conquered. The only explanation for that would be to understand a tainting of human genes with Nephilim genes in the land of Canaan. We're clearly told that YHVH told Abraham that his descendants (those of Isaac) would go into captivity in for four hundred years because:

"But in the fourth generation they shall come hither again: for the iniquity of the Amorites is not yet full." Genesis 15:16

The Amorites were an interesting people. They were a wicked and dark (meaning involved in the occult) people and they are said to have been descended from a race called Anakim. The Anakim are more mysterious as they do not seem to have any progenitors.

The origin of the Anakim is unknown, and they have left no trace in history. On possible (but uncertain) remains of them, compare Nowack, "Hebr. Arch." § 16. The name "Anak" (so the Greek), or "the Anak" (Hebrew), is an etymological puzzle. The meaning of "bene ha-Anak" is uncertain. It is interpreted by some as “the long-necked”; by others, as “the necklace-wearers.”

It is perhaps non-Semitic. [Source: <http://www.jewishencyclopedia.com/articles/1453-anakim>]

And from the Answers in Genesis website we find more information about the Anakim:

The Anakim

The Anakim were mentioned in several of these passages. They were perhaps the best known of the giants dwelling in the land of Canaan at the time of the Exodus. As stated in the verse above, they were part of the Nephilim. If Nephilim simply refers to giants in general, then the Anakim are just said to be giants in Numbers 13:33, which is consistent with their description in this passage. So the Amorites and other giant people would also be Nephilim. If Nephilim refers to a particular giant tribe, then the Anakim were part of this line.

Numbers 13:22 states that Ahiman, Sheshai, and Talmai were descendants of Anak, who was obviously the namesake of the Anakim. Both the Emim and Zamzummim were compared to the Anakim, as they were both “a people as great and numerous and tall as the Anakim” (Deuteronomy 2:10, 21; 9:2).

Anak was the son of Arba (Joshua 15:13). Little is known about Arba, and his ancestry is not provided. However, he was apparently somewhat legendary as indicated by the parenthetical statements in the text when his name appears. The city of Hebron, where Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob settled and were buried was also called Kiriath Arba. We are told that “Arba was the greatest man among the Anakim” (Joshua 14:15), and “the father of Anak” (Joshua 15:13; 21:11). Kirjath Arba was also called “Mamre” in Genesis 35:27. Mamre was an Amorite, who was an ally of Abram (Genesis 14:13). This man owned some trees by which Abram settled, and at some point, part of Hebron became synonymous with his name.

Joshua fought several battles with the Anakim and the Amorites. Eventually, he “cut off the Anakim from the mountains: from Hebron, from Debir, from Anab, from all the mountains of Judah, and from all the mountains of Israel; Joshua utterly destroyed them with their cities. None of the Anakim were left in the land of the children of Israel; they remained only in Gaza, in Gath, and in Ashdod” (Joshua 11:21–22). These actions set the stage for the famous account of Goliath in 1 Samuel. [Source: <https://answersingenesis.org/bible-characters/giants-in-the-old-testament/>]

It is interesting to note that a long neck is one of the characteristics of what we know today to be gray aliens. We also know that the gray aliens are the entities that are seen most often during alien abduction scenarios. Could it be that the progenitors of the Anakim were the gray alien’s and that one of the characteristics that their children bore along with human characteristics is a grossly elongated neck? Here is an image of long necked gray aliens.

All that we can ascertain is that there is really no ancestry attributed to the Anakim, which suggests to me that they were not human in nature. As I mentioned earlier they had a feature that suggests that they had necks that were longer than average human beings. We are told by Rabbi Paul that Satan can transform himself into an angel of light and that his emissaries can do the same:

For such are false apostles, deceitful workers, transforming themselves into the apostles of Christ. And no marvel; for Satan himself is transformed into an angel of light. Therefore it is no great thing if his ministers also be transformed as the ministers of righteousness; whose end shall be according to their works. 2 Corinthians 11:13-15

I immediately questioned the identity of “ministers of righteousness,” that this Scripture mentions. I looked up the Greek word for “ministers,” and found the following:

διάκονος diákonos, dee-ak'-on-os; probably from an obsolete διάκω diákō (to run on errands; compare G1377); an attendant, i.e. (genitive case) a waiter (at table or in other menial duties); specially, a Christian teacher and pastor (technically, a deacon or deaconess): —deacon, minister, servant.

Of course, the definition means the word is defined as one who runs errands, but it also could mean deacon, minister or servant. One of the duties of deacons and ministers is to deliver the Word of YHVH to those in the Body of Mashiach. That makes them messengers because they are delivering messages. We are accustomed to hearing that a pastor or minister “delivered” a great message to the church. True, the word for messenger in Greek is “angelos,” but anyway that you look at it, pastors and ministers deliver messages. But what if Paul was also referring to fallen angels that deliver false messages. After all, the context of the message started out by talking about Satan. He is the head of the hierarchy of fallen angels, and those fallen angels do serve him and attend to his every wish. Where am I going with this? Well, if Satan can transform himself into something that he is not, then other fallen angels can do the same and it is quite possible that the Anakim were the product of what was a long period of a second incursion of fallen angels that came to put a “crimp in YHVH’s plan” so to speak. It is also important to remember that angels appeared to humans in human form in scripture, never as beings with wings and they were always male in gender when they appeared.

I do not, for one moment, want to take away from the primary meaning of the word “diakonos.” The word does apply to ministers, pastors, and deacons, but notice that the ecclesiastic people that the scripture is talking about are “Satan’s,” in other words, they are sent by him. They may think that they are working for YHVH, but in reality, they always have and always will belong to Satan and will serve his purpose. The list is numerous but includes Bill Johnson, Kenneth Copeland, Robert Tilton, Joel Olsteen and a host of others. Even with those people in mind, we must realize two things. Either these charlatans are controlled by the powers of wickedness, or they are the powers of wickedness transformed into human likeness so as to fool people into thinking that they are genuine ministers of YHVH. Read Ephesians chapter six:

For we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places. Ephesians 6:12

It is common knowledge among the People of YHVH that YHVH uses his Ruach Ha Kodesh to interpret scripture for us. If you are Born Again you might remember what it was like when you read Scripture before your new life. It was a nice book to read but it was very confusing, and you probably thought that it was full of contradictions. You may have loved reading it, but you couldn’t comprehend it fully. But now you can understand YHVH’s purpose in Scripture because the Ruach explains it to you. Satan knows scripture and could probably quote it word for word from beginning to end if he needed to. However, his condition is like what we were before we came to Yeshua and were given the Ruach Ha Kodesh. He has tried to circumvent what YHVH has purposed for his followers and for the world in general, however, he cannot understand the full context of YHVH’s Word. With that in mind, think about the Nephilim in Canaan and think about why they were concentrated there. Satan knew of YHVH’s promise to Abraham and he also knew about YHVH’s plans to have a redeemer come from Bethlehem.

YHVH promised the land of Canaan to Abraham and said that Abraham's descendants would occupy that land, so Satan filled the land with Nephilim who were giants and very intimidating. He probably also surmised that the Israelites would not listen to YHVH, so he polluted the seed of the Canaanites with Nephilim seed so that when the Israelites were rebellious and interbred with descendants of Nephilim their seeds would be intermixed, and if this would have been totally successful then the seed of Mashiach would have been negated. Scripture is quite clear that "the Nephilim shall not rise," meaning that they will not participate in the resurrection, so he tried to corrupt Israel's seed. And, in what was probably an attempt to sabotage YHVH's attempt to save Humans through Yeshua's blood, he probably thought that he could corrupt the genetic line of Mashiach so that YHVH would be forced into a corner to include that salvation would be offered to the Nephilim. YHVH, however, preserved the line of purity of race which resulted in Yeshua having only human genes through Miriam his mother.

In like manner, the second incursion continues, but in a different mannerism. During the time of the Tanakh, the incursion occurred in an overt manner. The battle between good and evil was of a more physical nature than spiritual/physical. After the crucifixion and resurrection of Yeshua, and after the imparting of the Ruach Ha Kodesh, Satan had to go underground in his effort to pervert the human genetic line. There was no longer a reason to pervert the genetic line of Mashiach because Mashiach Yeshua had already come and had victory over Satan, as well as sin and death, and he had procured salvation for "whosoever will," come to faith in Yeshua. Now Satan has a twofold purpose for corrupting the human gene pool. Before Yeshua, Satan used an overt fallen angel incursion and in doing so he created an army that he used to cause YHVH angst and to prevent Israel from entering the Promised Land. In our current age, he continues to create an army, but the process has moved from in-vivo to in-vitro, in the laboratory instead of by physical union, although sometimes it combines both, let me explain. Having worked in ministry to victims of alien abduction, those of us who listen to those victims hear of countless events where males have had their sperm removed and women have had ovum taken from them. The only reason to do such a thing is to create a human being in a laboratory setting. Many times, the women are impregnated with the fertilized egg, but before they deliver the child it is taken from them. Doctors have documented what they call “false pregnancies,” where children were present, and heartbeats were heard, however, a day comes when the woman is no longer pregnant. It is my belief that human shells are being created using laboratory conditions and by using the womb of abducted women as growing rooms.

There have been many accounts where women are abducted after their child is taken. During the abduction, they are shown babies and are told that they are the mothers of these babies, but the babies always take on some sort of alien aspect as if their genetic structure has been changed. It is my assertion that whether these children look fully human or they take on “alien” aspects, they are being created, not only to make another army for Satan but that they are also empty vessels, shells that look human but possess no soul. These bodies are vacuums that need to be filled, which is something that demons have perfected. These bodies have no soul; therefore, they cannot fight the possessor.

Now remember that I said that during Tanakh times one of the purposes for a second incursion was to attempt to attain salvation for the spirits of the Nephilim (Raphaim) whom YHVH said will not rise in the Resurrection to eternal life, that is life in Paradise with Yeshua and Aveinu. However, in another attempt to preempt YHVH’s promise I believe that Satan and his minions are trying to create bodies with pure human DNA, empty vessels that demons can possess, so that Satan can make a contention that these bodies have 46 chromosomes, therefore, they deserve to participate in the resurrection of the righteous. I do believe that is a gross error of reasoning, the reason for possession of humans by demons (the spirits of the dead Nephilim) is so that when that person dies, if they are still possessed by demons, those demons reason that they have possession of the body, so they should be able to attain salvation through the body that they possessed. As I said, this is a gross mistake because the human that they possess was the result of a union between a human male with 23 chromosomes and a human female with 23 chromosomes, resulting in 46 unique chromosomes, all of them human. No, the Raphaim will not rise, no matter what loophole that they think they have found.

Having said those things, let me get back to Tanakh times. Just to cement things as to who the Amorites were and where they lived because Abraham was told that Isaac's descendants would serve in Egypt for 400 years because the iniquity of the Amorites was not yet full, here is another source that shows that the descendants of the Anakim did possess the land:

Sometimes, the Deuteronomistic History gets oddly specific with the location of the Amorites, but there is little agreement as to what that location is. In Deuteronomy 1.28, the Amorites are equated with the sons of the Anakim, a primeval race of "giants" who live in the Israelite hill country. Genesis 14 locates the Amorites further south, in the Judean Negeb. Numbers 21 appears to equate "the territory of the Amorites with Ammon and Moab across the Jordan. Joshua 10, discussed in an earlier article here, depicts the kings of Jerusalem and four cities in the Shephelah as the "kings of the Amorites" who are defeated by Joshua in the process of conquering the Promised Land.

I mentioned at the beginning of this chapter that I had purchased a Cephher Bible because of the way that it explains things and because it has some books within its pages that were omitted by what would someday become the Roman Catholic Church, in a series of meetings that they had in Nicaea in the second century AD. One of those books was 1 Enoch, a very helpful book that explains the misdeeds of the fallen angels but also expounds on many other things, including a detailed look into the future (future at that time) coming of Yeshua. The script in this rendering of 1 Enoch is however different where those birthed by the fallen angels are concerned. Here is the text that is presented with this rendering:

It happened after the sons of men had multiplied in those days, that daughters were born to them, elegant and beautiful. And when the Watchers, the sons of heaven, beheld them, they became enamored of them, saying to each other, Come, let us select for ourselves women from the progeny of men, and let us beget children. Then their leader Samyaza said to them; I fear that you may perhaps be indisposed to the performance of this enterprise; And that I alone shall suffer for so grievous a crime. But they answered him and said; We all swear; And bind ourselves by mutual execrations, that we will not change our intention, but execute our projected undertaking. Then they swore all together, and all bound themselves by mutual execrations. their whole number was two hundred who descended upon Ardis, which is the top of Mount Chermon. That mountain therefore was called Chermon, because they had sworn upon it, and bound themselves by mutual execrations.

These are the names of their chiefs: Samyaza, who was their leader, Urakabame'el, Akiybe'el, Tamiy'el, Ramu'el, Dan'el, Azke'el, Sarakny'al, Asa'el, Armers, Batra'al, Anane, Zavebe, Samsave'el, Ertal'el, Tur'el, Yomya'el, Azazy'al. these were the prefects of the two hundred angels, and the remainder were all with them.

Then they took women, each choosing for himself; whom they began to approach, and with whom they cohabitated; teaching them sorcery, incantations, and the dividing of roots and trees. And the women conceiving brought forth giants, and they bore to them three races first, the great giants. The giants brought forth the Nephiliym and the Nephiliym brought forth the Elioud. And they existed, increasing in power according to their greatness. Whose stature was each three hundred cubits. These devoured all the labour of men; until it became impossible to feed them; When they turned themselves against men, in order to devour them; And began to injure birds, beasts, reptiles, and fishes, to eat one another's flesh and to drink their blood. Then the earth reprovved the unrighteous. Chanok (Enoch) 7:1-15, from Eth Ceper.

The account of these times is echoed in the Book of Jubilees:

For owing to these three things came the flood upon the earth, namely, owing to the fornication wherein the Watchers against the law of their ordinances went a whoring after the daughters of men, and took themselves wives of all which they chose: and they made the beginning of uncleanness. And they begat sons the Naphidim, and they were all unlike, and they devoured one another: and the Giants slew the Naphil, and the Naphil slew the Eljo, and the Eljo mankind, and one man another. And every one sold himself to work iniquity and to shed much blood, and the earth was filled with iniquity. And after this they sinned against the beasts and birds, and all that moves and walks on the earth: and much blood was shed on the earth, and every imagination and desire of men imagined vanity and evil continually. Jubilees 7:21-24

I want to say that regarding the books of Jubilees and 1 Enoch, that the only version that is whole is the Ethiopic version. Some fragments have been found in the Dead Sea Scrolls and they verify what is written in the Ethiopic. There are some differences. For instance, the version of 1 Enoch that I use from the Cephher Bible differs from some versions found online in that the versions online do not differentiate the three races of the offspring of the Watchers. The Book of Jubilees that can be found online does show the differentiation, but the one in the Cephher Bible does not. The important thing to remember is that all versions show that the Sons of God (AKA the Watchers) did come down from Heaven and that they had union with human females and created unnatural offspring.

I had been familiar with the version of 1 Enoch that talked about the Nephilim but never mentioned the three races. So, when I read the Cephher version I was intrigued to find out about the three races because the three races help me to understand more about the era before the flood. I found an interesting article on the internet that helps me to understand more about what people call Gray Aliens and how they figure into the equation. They, in fact, might be the Elioud that Enoch and Jubilees talk about. Just a word of caution, the author of this article talks about the Annunaki and Nibiru, both things that are presented in ancient Sumerian texts and both entities that Zachariah Stinchin equates with ancient astronauts (or another sort of entity) which are doctrines that contradict Biblical Scripture, therefore I cannot fully endorse the website that I have sourced with the following text:

I have come to the conclusion that, the 'little grays' are the front "men", for the fallen angels. Now originally, I thought they were themselves the fallen angels. But a number of interesting bits of evidence has revealed otherwise. First and foremost – they can be killed!

In 2007, Dr. Steven Greer headed up the "Disclosure Project". He brought a panel, composed of just 22 of the more than 400 'eye witnesses' to various UFO and ET phenomena, before the National Press Corps in Washington D.C. (You didn't hear about this did you? – You need to ask yourself why?) Each member of the panel testified in detail their individual experiences. Witnesses ranged from retired military to; scientists, technicians, various professionals, ex-NASA employees, etc.

One man, a retired Air Force NCO, stationed on a missile base in England, witnessed a UFO land on the base, with a 'little gray' stepping out moments later. Another airman with him actually shot at and wounded the creature. It wandered for a distance and then fell and died. Angels, fallen or otherwise are immortal beings and so could not be killed. So, we know now, 'little gray' is not a fallen angel.

Another interesting bit of evidence regarding these little guys is reported in a book by Richard Dewhurst entitled, "The Ancient Giants Who Ruled America". In it he tells of a Dr. John Haywood, who in 1823 in Tennessee, along with caves filled with bones of giants and their artifacts, he found some mini mounds that contained caskets. Caskets filled with – "moon-eyed" 3-foot-tall skeletons! Cherokee lore recounts that these little guys came originally from North Carolina and accompanied the giants. They were said to be mischievous and only liked to come out at night. Their skeletons have since been found in South Carolina as well.

So we now know that 'little gray' is a physical creature of some kind and is associated with the giants of ages gone by. And we can look to both the Book of Enoch and the Book of Jubilees for more possible clues. Enoch describes, in addition to man, three other races; the Nephilim, the Naphelim and the Elioud, also called the Eljo. He makes it clear that the Nephilim are the co-creation of the fallen angels and the women of earth. Also, that the Naphelim (called the Raphaim in the Old Testament), are the offspring of two Nephilim. But he gives us no information on the Eljo other than that they warred against man. The Book of Jubilees however, tells us that the Eljo were the product of the Naphelim. We just don't know if they were created naturally or engineered in some way. Regardless, in the "long or short of it all" (sorry, couldn't resist), we know they are the minions of the fallen angels. But for more possible clues, let's go to ancient Sumerian writings, where the devil seems to expose his overall grand plan. His great deception on the "origins of man" and who the "true gods" are. [Source: <http://nephilim-hunters.com/just-who-really-are-the-little-grays/>]

What this man asserts is quite interesting. He is right in his statement that Grays have been found alive and dead at crash sites and it is reported that they work with both humans and what people call Reptilian Aliens. It is my assertion that the Reptilians are probably the "monsters" talked about in the fragments of "The Book of Giants," an ancient Hebrew script that we have no full copy of. We can, however, look at what has been reconstructed to see how it verifies the other books that we are studying in this matter.

The giants begin to be troubled by a series of dreams and visions. Mahway, the titan son of the angel Barakel, reports the first of these dreams to his fellow giants. He sees a tablet being immersed in water. When it emerges, all but three names have been washed away. The dream evidently symbolizes the destruction of all but Noah and his sons by the Flood.

The giant goes to the others and they discuss the dream.

4Q530 Frag. 7 [. . . this vision] is for cursing and sorrow. I am the one who confessed 2[. . .] the whole group of the castaways that I shall go to [. . .] 3[. . . the spirits of the sl]ain complaining about their killers and crying out 4[. . .] that we shall die together and be made an end of [. . .] much and I will be sleeping, and bread 6[. . .] for my dwelling; the vision and also [. . .] entered into the gathering of the giants 8[. . .]

The giants realize the futility of fighting against the forces of heaven. The first speaker may be Gilgamesh.

Ohya's dream vision is of a tree that is uprooted except for three of its roots; the vision's import is the same as that of the first dream.

6Q8 Frag. 2 1three of its roots [. . .] [while] I was [watching,] there came [. . . they moved the roots into] 3this garden, all of them, and not [. . .]

Ohya tries to avoid the implications of the visions. Above he stated that it referred only to the demon Azazel; here he suggests that the destruction is for the earthly rulers alone.

More dreams afflict the giants. The details of this vision are obscure, but it bodes ill for the giants. The dreamers speak first to the monsters, then to the giants.

Thereupon two of them had dreams 4and the sleep of their eye, fled from them, and they arose and came to [. . . and told] their dreams, and said in the assembly of [their comrades] the

Someone suggests that Enoch be found to interpret the vision.

This document has some problems. The first problem is that it calls Azazel a demon when we know from other works that he was one of the Watchers (the fallen angels AKA Sons of God in Genesis). Second, it mentions Gilgamesh as living during the time before the flood. Some credible scholars assign Gilgamesh and Nimrod to be the same person. In addition, Gilgamesh is never mentioned in the 1 Enoch or anywhere else for that matter in books that any serious Messianic/Christian researcher would use for reference, including Scripture. Gilgamesh and Nimrod are the same characters. We practice this same thing in our current society. Many of you might be familiar with a character in Hollywood known as “The Rock.” That’s not his real name, his name is Dwayne Johnson, but everyone calls him “The Rock.” This being the case, I must stress that Nimrod lived after the flood. This is illustrated by Dr. David Livingstone who makes many parallels between the two characters also making the observation that Nimrod might not have been a name, but more of a title. These are just two examples of problems that I find with this work, but I have to mention that there are many parallels to 1 Enoch in regard to the reaction of the Nephilim and Monsters to their dreams and in the mention that they sought out Enoch to talk with YHVH about their demise.

Whatever determination a person makes about the Book of Giants one has to admit that it shows that Nephilim cohabitated with Monsters, or as we're told, in other works of literature, The Elioud. We have seen that Giants and/or Nephilim have always been in the company of unearthly looking creatures. The Giants of the antediluvian world had sons that were called Nephilim and the Nephilim had sons called the Elioud. After the flood, there were Nephilim that were fathered through human females by beings called the Anakim. The Nephilim had relations with human females which I believe inhabited the cities of Canaan and other places and these offspring were equivalent to the Monsters of the antediluvian world. According to the article cited near the beginning of this paper, it was mentioned that the Cherokees believe that Giants came from North Carolina and that they were accompanied by little creatures. In our modern day in the phenomena called "alien abduction," the event always seems to start with small beings that transport their human victims to another location to perform experiments. Many people, however, recount that there were other beings there, sometimes tall attractive beings with long blond hair and blue eyes, other times with beings that look like praying mantis', sometimes beings called reptilians are in the setting and on rare occasions there are representatives of each race in the room with the victim. It sounds like the modern-day phenomenon has the same characters as in days of old with perhaps a different shell for each one.

Parallels Between Incursions:

It is now that we have to see if there are any parallels between the first incursion of fallen angels and the second incursion that is still occurring. We now know that before the flood there were three races of beings created as a result of the union between the Watchers and human females, Giants, Nephilim and Elioud. The Giants fathered the Nephilim and the Nephilim fathered the Elioud. I mentioned before that the Genesis account only mentions the Sons of God and the Nephilim, however, if we look at the account there is more that is written into it:

There were giants in the earth in those days; and also after that, when the sons of God came in unto the daughters of men, and they bare children to them, the same became mighty men which were of old, men of renown. Genesis 6:4

First of all, the very beginning of the scripture above denotes that there were two incursions, thanks to the addition of the semicolon which is used to show that the idea changed from the first incursion to a second incursion that produced the same result. It is the same as me saying “I loved my wife in those days; also, after that when I married my wife and we lived happily ever after.” The first part of my statement says that I loved my wife before she was my wife, but I loved her after that, the “that” being our wedding, a time between our time of continued love. It does NOT mean that I loved her one way before we got married and that love happened in a different way after we were wed. The fact is that it shows that my love continued and continues to this day. One could say that before the wedding, while we were engaged my love was the first incursion of love then after our wedding my love experienced the second incursion because all things became new and there was nothing to restrain our love from growing stronger.

One of you could argue that the first two hundred watchers were locked in the bottomless pit, so my illustration is moot, but I disagree. Before we were married I was a single entity, but after we were married we became one flesh, in other words, I brought her into my life totally and she became the second incursion into our existence. The Sons of God that rebelled were locked up for sure, but a second incursion came upon the earth and the second group of fallen angels tried with an even greater fervor to usurp the purpose of YHVH upon this earth, much in the same way that my new wife and I dedicated ourselves, even more, to become what YHVH has meant for us.

Books like 1 Enoch say that the Sons of YHVH saw women and their lusts caused them to take human females. The corruption that they taught to men and what they produced in the way of Giants, Nephilim, and Monsters was a result of their sin. The fact that they destroyed YHVH's creation was a result of their rebellion through lust. The second incursion resulted as an act of spite and deliberate attempts at the damage of YHVH's plan because of anger toward YHVH due to what happened to their fallen companions before the flood. What I have just explained in this paragraph is an idea that is abstract in nature so if you cannot understand I ask you to pray to YHVH for understanding.

Now we will look at the particle of the sentence that is a connector, the word "when." That word, in Hebrew וְכֵן, is a conjunction, it is a word that connects an idea. The way that the sentence is translated in its current form it makes it sound like the Nephilim existed on the earth at the time that the Watchers came down from Heaven and before they had union with human women. If one were to place a different conjunction in place of the current one, say the conjunction "because" the scripture makes much more sense. Doing so would render the following result:

There were giants in the earth in those days; and also after that, (and this happened) because the sons of God came in unto the daughters of men, and they bare children to them, the same became mighty men which were of old, men of renown.

Now we have to look at the rest of the scripture. We have determined that the Giants (the Hebrew word is Nephilim) were the offspring that resulted from the union of the Watchers (Sons of God) and human females. Then this scripture says that "the same became mighty men which were of old," which causes us to think that the Giants became "mighty men which were of old." This could be a possibility, but there is another possibility. That possibility is that the Giants had offspring that took on those attributes. Let's not forget that in Jubilees and the rendition of 1 Enoch that is cited in the Ceper Bible, there were three races, those being Giants, Nephilim, and Elioud. The book of Jubilees lists them as Giants, Naphil, and the Eljo (Elioud). So, in place of the Giants becoming men of old and men of renown, it could also be interpreted that the children of the Giants were the men of old and the “men of renown,” were the Elioud.

Again, we have to ask ourselves if the Giants became those two other things, or was it the offspring of the Giants that became those things. Are there any other scriptures that show that one can “become” something through successive generations? Yes, there is one that is quite clear that proves this point:

And the priest shall take the basket out of thine hand, and set it down before the altar of the Lord thy God. And thou shalt speak and say before the Lord thy God, A Syrian ready to perish was my father, and he went down into Egypt, and sojourned there with a few, and became there a nation, great, mighty, and populous: Deuteronomy 26:4-5

Jacob went down to Egypt and through successive generations, HE became a great nation. The nation that left Egypt was Israel, and it was that group of people that were descended from Jacob that was great, Jacob had long since been dead. In the same way, the Giants get credit for the posterity of their offspring although it was not them that were the men of old or those of renown.

When one reads 1 Enoch, Jubilees and Jared we find that the Watchers taught their wives many different occult practices. The Giants would have inherited this knowledge from both their fathers who taught their wives and their mothers who had become adept in the occult arts. It is not hard to imagine that the information would have been passed down to their children, the Nephilim. The book of 1 Enoch says quite clearly that the Nephilim were a part angel and part human. This is not hard to accept because their grandfathers were fallen angels. They would have been endowed with incredible powers the likes that we cannot begin to imagine. The great wonders that archaeologists are finding today, pyramids all over the world and walls made of boulders that ancient humans could not have possibly lifted would have been child’s play for them because of their strength and because of technology that existed at that time that was imparted by the Watchers. The book of 1 Enoch even tells about the genetic manipulation that involved the mixing of kinds (species), which is something that would explain oddities like the Minotaur and the Centaur and other strange creatures that the Greeks believed to have once existed. In addition, it could also explain how the dinosaurs came into being. We will look that in a later chapter.

We run into another possibility when we find a comma after “mighty men which were of old,” we have the phrase “men of renown.” I do believe that the children of the Nephilim could be what that part of this scripture is talking about. To get an idea of what renown meant in Hebrew we should look at the word and its usage:

רָשָׁה shêm, shame; a primitive word [perhaps rather from H7760 through the idea of definite and conspicuous position; compare H8064]; an appellation, as a mark or memorial of individuality; by implication honor, authority, character: —+ base, (in-) fame(-ous), named(-d), renown, report.

We can see that the name has some good attributes associated with it, however, there is one definition that fits with the context of evil offspring from evil entities, that word is “infamous.” A quick look at the word “infamous” in Webster’s 1828 dictionary yielded the following definition:

IN’FAMOUS, adjective [Latin infamis; infamo, to defame; in and fama, fame.]

1. Of ill report, emphatically; having a reputation of the worst kind; publicly branded with odium for vice of guilt; base; scandalous; notoriously vile; used of persons; as an infamous liar; an infamous rake or gambler.

2. Odious; detestable; held in abhorrence; that renders a person rake or gambler.

3. Branded with infamy by conviction of a crime. An infamous person cannot be a witness.

These creatures were not honorable people, they were devious and diabolical. If we were to equate them with the 1 Enoch text that I present it is quite possible that they could be equated with monsters merely by their character. However, the monster title might go much deeper than that. In 1 Enoch we're told that the Nephilim taught things like DNA manipulation to mankind, which means that they probably practiced it themselves. In addition, we are told that the Nephilim sinned against the animals. Could it be that the Elioud, the infamous men were actually half-bred sons, perhaps half animal and half human? Are they perhaps the Anakim that we're told existed after the flood? Was Anak an Elioud? Are modern alien Grays really what was once known as Elioud? All of these things are quite possible and better yet, probable. If we want to equate them with the Anakim we can refer to the article from Nephilim-Hunters.com where they draw from old Cherokee lore where the Cherokees say that the Grays (the Elioud or Anakim) accompanied the giants that came from the area of North Carolina.

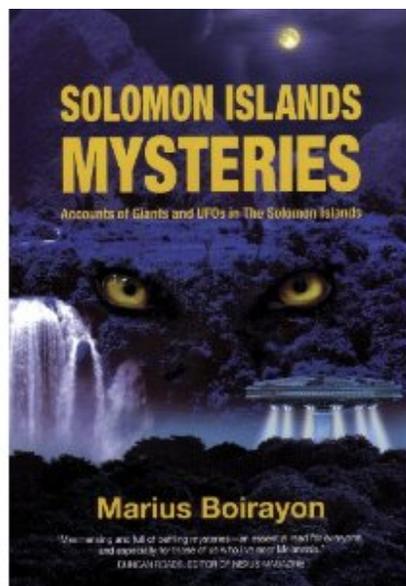

In a website article and on a subsequent Opposing The Matrix radio show I displayed (played the audio on the radio) a story about a young boy who drowned and was clinically dead for 40 minutes. When he returned to life after that extended time his mind was not damaged by the lack of oxygen. The boy told a fantastic story about his time with Yeshua. At the end of the narration, which was voiced by his mother (the boy later died at the age of 13) his mother told of a warning that the boy brought back with him. He said that very soon there will be a demonic alien invasion. He emphasized that these creatures were demonic, not extraterrestrial and that when these creatures came to earth they would cause worldwide chaos and, that they would eat people. A cursory read of 1 Enoch tells about the Giants, the Nephilim, and the Elioud. The account says that these three races used up all of the resources of mankind and when they could not be satisfied they devoured men. The boy's account was eerily similar to what is found in the pages of 1 Enoch which illustrates the time before the flood when these creatures lived on the earth. We must also remember that Yeshua was quite clear in his assertion that when he returns conditions on earth will be just like in the Days of Noah. He also said that He would have to shorten time because if failed to do so then “no flesh would survive.” Simply put, these three races are coming back to decimate this world and to destroy mankind, the only creature on Earth that was made in YHVH’s image.

Modern Giants:

Modern giants do exist, and I’m not talking about humans born with excessive amounts of HGH (Human Growth Hormone) that causes gigantism. That is a defect in the pituitary production of HGH, NOT a genetic hybridization like giants of a biblical proportion are. Native American tradition states that a reason why Natives held a hand up in greeting is so that they could count the fingers on a large person approaching their direction. If the being had six fingers they wasted no time in dispatching that being.

One very good book that I have read is called “Solomon Island Mysteries,” written by author Marius Boirayon, who married a woman from The Solomon Islands and wrote down the accounts of many Islanders who have had personal experiences with these giants. One interesting story echoed so many times in the stories that are found in the book is how the Solomon Island Giants would kidnap some villagers to eat and also female islanders to that they used for mating purposes.

Another story that is being touted as an urban legend is one that talks about US soldiers encountering a very large red-haired giant in a cave in Afghanistan. Supposedly the first group of soldiers was wiped out by this giant, who was later killed by a group of soldiers that brought larger weapons and explosives. Interestingly enough, the plane that was dispatched from Germany to load a pallet with this dead giant were all told to leave cameras and recording devices behind before they left on their flight. There are some pictures online that have been drawn to show the account, one that I present below:

There are still Giants! Our troops have encountered several in Afghanistan. One account is that a special forces unit was sent in to a mountain valley with lots of caves to search for enemy troops hiding in the cave. Well they found a 12' to 14' giant that killed five of our troops before they could kill him. A C-130 crew was sent from Germany to fly the thing out, but they had to give up their cameras and cellphones before they left. There was just a single pallet with tarp covered cargo. After they got up in the air, they went back and found the giant in a fetal position and saw what they could hardly believe. [Source: <http://www.e38news.com/nephilim.html>]

To conclude our look at modern day giants I think that it is prudent to talk about burial mounds that are found all over the world. Many times, when these mounds are excavated they are found to contain skeletons of Giants. You may ask where these skeletons are today? Truth be told, when things are found that contradicts what we're told by modern science, those things are seized, many times by the Smithsonian Institute and sometimes by the military (probably acting on their behalf) and the artifacts are never seen again. One archaeologist, named Jonathan Gray has researched this in great depth and has written several books, the best of which is called "Dead Men's Secrets." Jonathan has a wonderful website that is an outlet for his books, but the site whets your thirst for knowledge with little factoids that are fascinating. We've had him as a guest on our Opposing the Matrix radio show several times. I highly recommend his site and his ministry. You can reach his site <http://www.beforeus.com>

Are There Modern Day Elioud or Monsters?

I have been wondering how I am going to present the rest of the "modern day Nephilim" idea without freaking people out and/or have you think that I've gone completely off my rocker. I think that it's prudent to remind those of you who are believers of Yeshua and his followers, that we have promises from Him that we are overcomers and that he has endowed us with certain powers over these fallen entities. A ministry that I have been involved in for many years is one that helps those who claim to have been abducted by aliens. Of course, we know them to be demonic and/or fallen angelic in identity. If a person is willing we can help them to become free from these entities and to have a full and enduring relationship with YHVH Yeshua, which will guarantee them eternal life and escape from the second death. I myself have had some experiences in my lifetime that I have known to be of a demonic/fallen angelic nature and I have illustrated them ad-nausea on my website and on this radio show.

On one of our older Opposing the Matrix shows we had occasion to interview Gordie Tong who in turn produced for us another person who he'd known personally and could verify the veracity thereof. This other person told of his encounters with modern day Nephilim, or perhaps now that we know of the different races, we could call them Elioud. This person told of his encounters with people that you and I would not even consider being different because they have an ability to cloak their true identities. He talked about people whose eyes changed to look reptilian in nature when he talked to them and/or provoked them. He talked about many other things. You can listen to this show yourself by going to the link that follows and looking for the show that aired on November 18, 2011. Go to The Delusion Resistance website to access the archive page. It works better if you download the show and listen to it on your computer.

The idea that I'm trying to convey to you is that in these last days we are going to be approached by people who for all extensive purposes look like normal people, but they will be Nephilim or Elioud. I prefer the term Elioud because they will be monsters in disguise. I believe that these entities have been manufactured by fallen angels that roam around in the guise of "extraterrestrials," but are the fallen angels of old. They want to create bodies for their fallen Nephilim sons in order to find some sort of loophole make YHVH resurrect the Nephilim. Of course, it will not work because YHVH clearly said that the Nephilim will not rise. YHVH means what he says and says what he means and there are no loopholes, either real or imagined.

Back in 2011, I was mourning the death of my first wife. I missed her dearly and would have promised YHVH anything to have her back alive and whole. What I heard next helped me to understand this whole concept about the enemy manufacturing bodies for the Nephilim to inhabit. As I tried to wheel and deal with YHVH I heard, "you'll see her again, but it will not be her." I was freaked out for a brief moment but I received clarity and I believed, and still do believe that YHVH was telling me that in an attempt to fool the whole world, and to bring about the "Great Falling Away," as spoken about in the Bible, what better way would the enemy use than to bring back a doppelgangers of our loved ones who would try to convince us that our Biblical beliefs were old fashioned and that the New Age and the New Age's Messiah are the real answer to eternal life. I know that if I had a shallow faith I would fall for that hook, line, and sinker.

What Does the Future Hold?

I'm going to be blunt and tell you that the future does not look pretty. This world is already a mess and it's only going to get worse. We're told by Yeshua and the scribes of scripture that the time of the end will be terrible times. Humans will become desperately evil and evil spiritual entities will become tangible beings that will roam the earth for a period of years. The hard thing to accept is that no matter how much the world tells you that people are genuinely good, the fact is that all hearts that don't know Yeshua are desperately wicked.

The heart is deceitful above all things, and desperately wicked: who can know it? I the Lord search the heart, I try the reins, even to give every man according to his ways, and according to the fruit of his doings. Jeremiah 17:9-10

And Isaiah tells us:

But we are all as an unclean thing, and all our righteousnesses are as filthy rags; and we all do fade as a leaf; and our iniquities, like the wind, have taken us away.

So, we know the inclinations of humans and how our deeds are not bent toward doing good, but we're bent toward doing selfish and evil things. Now add to that what Yeshua said the condition of the world would be when He returns:

And as it was in the days of Noe, so shall it be also in the days of the Son of man. They did eat, they drank, they married wives, they were given in marriage, until the day that Noah entered into the ark, and the flood came, and destroyed them all. Likewise also as it was in the days of Lot; they did eat, they drank, they bought, they sold, they planted, they builded; But the same day that Lot went out of Sodom it rained fire and brimstone from heaven, and destroyed them all. Even thus shall it be in the day when the Son of man is revealed. Luke 17:26-30

So, aside from what those in the Seven Mountain Theology believe (that they can make a perfect earth to present to Yeshua upon his return) things are going to get very bad, so much so that Yeshua asked a rhetorical question about there being any flesh alive upon His return. It is going to be a time when Satan, through his anti-Messiah is going to try to snuff every reminder of YHVH so that he (Satan) can create his own dominion. The Earth that we see today with its beauty will cease to be, and upwards of two-thirds of people will have been killed when the reign of Satan ends upon Earth.

I tend to agree with researcher and Minister Jim Wilhelmsen who says that he believes that the alien abduction phenomenon will end just before or right at the return of the fallen angels to earth simply because they will have built their army which will take dominion of Earth and then literally all hell will break loose.

No, these are not things to look forward to, but YHVH never promised us a rose garden. He stressed often that times would be terrible at the end of this age and that there is a price to pay for walking with and for Yeshua. We are new creatures in Yeshua, a peculiar people, frankly, we are an oddity to the world's people and we know how people act toward people who are different. But the important thing to remember is that we are not of this world, that we belong to the Kingdom of YHVH, a kingdom that exists in the Ruach through those of us who love Yeshua. And, though we suffer in this lifetime, a wonderful Millennial Age will come about after the return of Yeshua when all things will be put back into order and then after that, a New Heaven and a New Earth will be made that will never be corrupted ever again. I read something that went like this, "this world is all the heaven that those who are perishing will ever see, and it's all the hell that believers in Yeshua will ever see." As for me, I think that living a scant seventy or eighty years in this existence is nothing compared to the eternal bliss that we will have with El Elyon, the creator of the universe, and the maker of all good things now and things to come. As for me and my household, we will serve YHVH!

CHAPTER THREE

ANTEDILUVIAN GENETIC MANIPULATION

We live in a wonderful but terrifying age. Science, in its true form, has brought us wonderful things. Diseases that once decimated whole societies have been tamed and in some instances, they have been obliterated. Modern conveniences have made our lives easier and our tasks simpler. Information, which a couple of centuries ago took weeks to reach people far away now, can be accessed in just seconds. In just the space of one century, the human lifespan in developed nations has doubled, so much so that someone who dies in their sixties is considered to have died young. Yes, we live in a marvelous age.

On the flip-side though there are many frightening things that our ancestors never dreamed of or considered. Mankind has developed weapons that can destroy the entire world many times over. Some diseases have developed tolerances to the drugs that were made to prevent or cure them. Each year untold thousands are killed in the machines that have made life easy. Planes fall from the sky, automobiles strike other autos or pedestrians, and the air is fouled by the emissions of the combustion engine. And though life tends to be longer, many of those who live to a ripe old age suffer long lingering deaths; wasting away in nursing homes or other places. To many, long life is a curse as they have to live with debilitating ailments like arthritis, neurological disorders, and failing hearts, just to name a few.

Those who trust science also trust that there is a cure for all these ailments, and it's just around the corner. The trouble is that there are no side streets in sight. Many hold hope in the advances in gene manipulation which have shown little promise, at least at the present. Mankind in all its puffed up pride for itself thinks that it can someday solve all problems, but the sad reality is that their efforts are akin to giving a wrench to a two-year-old child and telling him or her to rebuild the family automobile's engine. Genetic scientists are fooling around with things that they hope will work, but at what cost? The future will hold successes in this area of research, but the authors of the successes won't be men themselves, but the knowledge that is imparted from the unseen world.

We read in the newspapers or hear on the television news about some strange things that scientists are doing. One article last year told of some researcher growing a human ear on the back of a laboratory mouse. Still, others are talking about growing human organs in domesticated farm animals. They rave about Dolly the sheep that was cloned successfully, but they don't mention that there were many failed attempts before Dolly became a reality. They also sweep under the carpet the fact that Dolly died at a very early age; having inherited "old genes" from the donor sheep. Now if what we hear about is hideous, what is happening in laboratories around the world that they keep from public attention. One can only wonder.

The question arises about some of the mythological creatures that the ancients have written about. As a matter of fact, questions have to be asked about all of the Greek and Roman gods. Where did the idea come from? Could societies of men, who excelled in so many scientific and social advances really invent so many fables and believe them like they were true? Could some of these stories be true? It is my contention that the stories of those Greek and Roman gods really were a perversion of real events that happened millennia before those societies existed. I believe that they are holdovers from the history of the world before the flood. For instance, the famous Titans from mythology were said to be the children made by unions between the gods and humans. The correlation between them and the Nephilim of Genesis and other books is just too close to ignore or dismiss. The Titans were just a Satanic perversion of the true Genesis story.

When I was a young man, attending intermediate school, we had to read a book called “The Iliad and The Odyssey,” written by the Greek scholar Homer. It was a book about Ulysses and the journeys that he took to mystical lands while trying to get home from a time of war. He meets strange characters like Medusa, who had snakes emanating from her head and who could turn men to stone. The book was fraught with strange characters like that. Greek mythology was full of hideous creatures. The Minotaur, for example, had the head and tail of a bull but the body of a man. Pegasus was a horse who had wings. There was the centaur who was a man above the waist and a horse below the waste. Then there are mermaids and other creatures too numerous to list in this short document. Again, these are perversions of the actual accounts of the world in Noah’s time.

Now the Bible isn’t very specific about what actually happened to the animals during the time of Noah. It reads:

And the LORD said, I will destroy man whom I have created from the face of the earth; both man, and beast, and the creeping thing, and the fowls of the air; for it repenteth me that I have made them. Genesis 6:7

First, you’ll notice that God says that He was going to destroy “man, whom I’ve created.” No mention is made of the Nephilim, simply because they were dead by this time. But mankind had become so corrupted, both by their sinful nature and by the knowledge that they learned from the wicked angels and the Nephilim, that they were beyond redemption. God is just, and he knows when people have crossed the line that separates things salvageable from total decadence.

But next, one has to ask about the animals. Why would a just God want to destroy all of the animals? Animals have no souls, therefore, they don't have the ability to sin. They can't deny God and they can't make any conscious choice to be disobedient. If it were only mankind that was evil God could just have easily created some sort of deadly virus that only affected humans. Being God, He could have given Noah, Noah's wife, his sons and their wives some immunity to the virus and wiped out all of the human race except those eight people. No, there was another insidious thing that he had to destroy.

Having done some research in the extra-biblical works from which I obtained copies a couple of years ago I have discovered that these books, although not authorized canon, do fill in some gaps and answer some questions that arise from reading Genesis chapter six. I've used some of those works in the preceding areas of this book to show how those gaps can be filled in and those questions answered.

And lawlessness increased on the earth and all flesh corrupted its way, alike men and cattle and beasts and birds and everything that walks on the earth -all of them corrupted their ways and their orders, and they began to devour each other, and lawlessness increased on the earth and every imagination of the thoughts of all men (was) thus evil continually. And God looked upon the earth, and behold it was corrupt, and all flesh had corrupted its orders, and all that were upon the earth had wrought all manner of evil before His eyes. And He said that He would destroy man and all flesh upon the face of the earth which He had created. Jubilees Chapter 5 verses 2-4

And in the Book of Jasher:

And their judges and rulers went to the daughters of men and took their wives by force from their husbands according to their choice, and the sons of men in those days took from the cattle of the earth, the beasts of the field and the fowls of the air, and taught the mixture of animals of one species with the other, in order therewith to provoke the Lord; and God saw the whole earth and it was corrupt, for all flesh had corrupted its ways upon earth, all men and all animals. And the Lord said, I will blot out man that I created from the face of the earth, yea from man to the birds of the air, together with cattle and beasts that are in the field for I repent that I made them. Jasher 4:18-19

Now it is important to remember that this is after the Nephilim had slain each other.

There was, however, the knowledge that the departed Nephilim and the fallen angels had imparted to mankind. These things had not been removed when the authors of such things were killed or the angels bound up. And we also have to remember that only 200 of the angels were bound in Tartarus. All indications are that many more angels rebelled with Satan at the beginning. They, of course, would have an influence on the population of mankind that was left on earth before the flood.

The passage in Jubilees is interesting because it goes into detail about not only mankind but the animals that walked the earth and also the birds. One must remember that Satan hates God and although he couldn't pervert mankind with the Nephilim anymore, he was bound and determined to not only destroy mankind with a polluted gene pool but also ALL of God's creation. So it would come as no surprise to me that knowledge was imparted to mankind of how to crossbreed different "kinds" of animals through gene manipulation. And if the Book of Jubilees isn't enough to enforce this history, the book of Jasher approaches it with much more specificity.

Now some readers are probably dismissing this because of preconceived notions that pervade the thoughts of modern man, which state that more ancient means more primitive; mankind couldn't have possibly have had the wherewithal to do such things. We don't take into account that when Adam was created, and later Eve, they were created with intelligence programmed into them. They weren't some stumbling automatons that jumped every time that God pushed some button. They were created with free will and the intelligence to choose which way they could go. That is a sign of intelligence. They fell from Grace because Satan appealed to Eve's lust to become a higher power and Adam's desire to please his wife and not wanting her to go through God's chastisement all by herself. These things required thinking and deduction; all of which are not signs of idiots or morons.

I'm a firm believer that Plato's Atlantis was really the antediluvian world. Plato wrote about a highly advanced civilization which existed long before his time. Who can really disprove that their intelligence (that of the antediluvian society; AKA Atlantis) wasn't in many ways up to par with current technology. Archeologists find strange mechanisms all of the time in layers of history that they ascribe as ancient. Such finds include a battery from ancient Egypt, crude computer-like geared instruments from ancient Greece and even crude piped plumbing from the once great Minoan Empire. In an interesting prophecy given to Daniel we read:

But thou, O Daniel, shut up the words, and seal the book, even to the time of the end: many shall run to and fro, and knowledge shall be increased. Daniel 12:4

Now if Daniel was told that in the time of the end that, “knowledge shall increase,” and Yeshua said that the time of His coming will be, “as it was in the days of Noah,” it stands to reason that civilization at Noah’s time was quite advanced, maybe as much as it is today.

Some might say that if the antediluvians did have a society that is advanced or close to advanced as we have today that there would be a lot of evidence of that civilization. So, where is that great evidence? All one has to do is see the result of one tornado in a mid-west American town, or the result of the recent tsunami that destroyed many shorelines from India to Indonesia and one can realize that total destruction can be achieved in a fairly short period of time leaving only rubble where houses, buildings, and other structures once stood. Now, the result of a worldwide deluge where torrents of water scrubbed the earth for nearly a year could totally obliterate any indication of a civilization no matter how large or advanced and not leave a trace.

Since I’ve touched on Atlantis being the antediluvian world I should state that the story of Atlantis came from Plato. I’d like to show how the story came to Plato:

Critias’ story is introduced by another guest Hermocrates (a historical general from Syracuse) who urges Critias to tell his story "that goes back a long way" (20d).

Critias begins by emphasizing his story is true and was vouched for by Solon, the Greek statesman and poet who lived c. 640 - c. 560 BCE. Critias acknowledges his story is "a very strange one, but even so, every word of it is true" (20d). He says that Solon told it to his friend Dropides, Critias’ great-grandfather, and it was passed on down the family generations. Solon, we are told, heard the story on his travels in Egypt, specifically by priestly scholars at Sais, and had meant to put it in writing but never found the opportunity. Critias would like to tell the story because it illustrates one of Athens’ greatest ever achievements but has, unfortunately, been forgotten over time due to its great antiquity, according to the Egyptian priests, 9,000 years before Plato. [Source: <https://www.ancient.eu/atlantis/>]

I think that it is important to show the origin of the story of Atlantis because it shows again how information can be twisted with the passing of time. The passing of data from generation to generation can be perverted in a great way. When we were kids the teachers had us play a game called “telephone.” In the game the teacher would whisper something in the ear of the first student, something like “the brown fox runs through the green meadow.” When the last child was asked to repeat what the teacher had said it was something like “the brown fuzz on the bread smells like mildew.”

With the story of Atlantis the teller of the story says that Atlantis existed 9000 years before Plato. People automatically ascribe long periods of time to data that they cannot remember. Remember, the story of what occurred before the flood was passed down through three lines, those of Shem, Ham and Japheth. As the story progressed through oral tradition it became perverted and contorted and it was either seen as something that happened before the earth was even formed or it was turned into mythology with gods, titans and the hideous creatures replacing fallen angels, Nephilim and DNA manipulation.

If you do not think that this is possible, I implore you to visit a channel on Youtube authored by Mark Dice. Mark walks the streets and beaches of San Diego asking people ridiculous questions about American history, something that people have lost identity with. If people can forget a scant 220 years then forgetting about the antediluvian, or perverting its memory is not hard to believe at all.

We should probably exit our rabbit hole now. It is time to continue with our studies of Genetic Manipulation in the antediluvian world and how it parallels our modern society.

Again, with the subject of gene manipulation, the passage in The Book of Jubilees states that:

and all flesh corrupted its way, alike men and cattle and beasts and birds and everything that walks on the earth – all of them corrupted their ways and their orders,

In the Genesis creation account, God uses the word, “kinds,” to describe varieties of animals. In other words, all horses are of one kind, they are all horses, including zebras. All cats (even the big ones) are of one kind. All the different varieties of dogs belong to one kind; they’re all dogs. You get the picture. So in the passage from Jubilees where the word “orders” is found, if one was to substitute the word “kinds,” like God wrote in Genesis. The passage should read:

and all flesh corrupted its way, alike men and cattle and beasts and birds and everything that walks on the earth – all of them corrupted their ways and their kinds. (My Paraphrase)

Another thing to remember is that it is most probable that the animals before the flood didn’t have animosity toward one another. When the curse came because of Adam and Eve’s sin, it was divided into three parts. The first part was God’s curse on the serpent (Satan) which doubled as God’s first prophecy of the future advent of the Messiah. The second curse was placed upon Eve, who was told that she would birth children in great pain. The third curse was on Adam, who had the ground cursed so that he would have to toil in great agony to produce a crop to eat. There was no curse on any of the animals. It’s my contention that the animals before the flood were docile, tame and we know by God’s own word that the animals did not fear mankind before the flood. God changes things after the flood and tells Noah:

And the fear of you and the dread of you shall be upon every beast of the earth, and upon every fowl of the air, upon all that moveth upon the earth, and upon all the fishes of the sea; into your hand are they delivered. Genesis 9:2

It is also most probable that humankind and the animals before the flood were all vegetarians. There are two things that bear this truth for humans. First, God proclaims to Adam that He (God) had given every herb bearing seed and every tree to be used as meat:

And God said, Behold, I have given you every herb bearing seed, which is upon the face of all the earth, and every tree, in the which is the fruit of a tree yielding seed; to you it shall be for meat. Genesis 1:29

Second, after the flood he gives Noah permission to use animals for food:

Every moving thing that liveth shall be meat for you; even as the green herb have I given you all things. Genesis 9:3

It is interesting that God sort of backs up the eating of the meat of animals, but he backs up the way things were before by mentioning that the plants were still okay to eat as they were before the flood. In all actuality, part of the reason why God now allowed animals for food was that there wasn't a lot of plant life right after the flood and also the proteins and animal fats would be necessary for the human body because the atmosphere had been changed. The proteins and fats of animals would be necessary to enrich the human body, helping to protect it from worldly conditions that had never been experienced before. The atmosphere was thinner, the sun shone brighter with its harmful rays now reaching the face of the earth and so on.

Getting back on subject, the passage in Jubilees says that the animals had corrupted ways. There could be several implications here. First, it is possible that the docile herbivores had changed their ways and started to hunt each other. This is borne out by the phrase in the same chapter that says that the animals started to devour each other. The sad part is that in the same chapter it talks about the humans doing the same act, devouring each other; which tells me that cannibalism was practiced. But the thing that I want to investigate here is that the passage says that the animals had corrupted their “kinds.” But how could animals corrupt their own kinds? Surely horses don’t have the intelligence to manipulate their genes, nor do any other animals, but mankind had the capability. He had the intelligence and could listen to the ideas of the fallen angels and demonic voices of the Nephilim and was able to perform these perverted acts. Mankind was already in rebellion against God and gene manipulation was the perfect tool that Satan and his minions could use to corrupt and try to destroy all of God’s creation. Again we refer to Jasher:

And their judges and rulers went to the daughters of men and took their wives by force from their husbands according to their choice, and the sons of men in those days took from the cattle of the earth, the beasts of the field and the fowls of the air, and taught the mixture of animals of one species with the other, in order therewith to provoke the Lord; and God saw the whole earth and it was corrupt, for all flesh had corrupted its ways upon earth, all men and all animals. And the Lord said, I will blot out man that I created from the face of the earth, yea from man to the birds of the air, together with cattle and beasts that are in the field for I repent that I made them. Jasher 4:18-19

Since the “kinds” of the animals had been manipulated by mankind, or perhaps direct intervention of the fallen angels, all of the ancestors of those animals would have corrupted genes. All sorts of genetic freaks would have infested the earth. It seems possible, at least to me, that this is how some of the hideous looking dinosaurs came into being. As mentioned above, the ancients after the flood had legends of all types of strange creatures. If given the knowledge, I see no reason why creatures like the minotaur, the centaur, the Pegasus and other weren't actual creations of perverted biologists and geneticists that lived before the flood. Fifty years ago, before the advent of gene manipulation, what I am writing here would have caused me to be a laughingstock. Today, when doctors are installing bovine and pig valves in human hearts; and when they are growing human ears on the backs of mice, such a thing doesn't sound too far-fetched. In a day when we read articles like one, I've read recently, where some geneticists are attempting to clone a human cell from a cow's egg and all sorts of animals have been cloned, creating animals that are mixtures of two different kinds doesn't seem to be fantasy anymore.

Isn't God great? Just as I was writing this chapter, National Geographic came out with an article about mixing human and animal genome. Directly below is the article:

Animal-Human Hybrids Spark Controversy

Maryann Mott

National Geographic News

January 25, 2005

Scientists have begun blurring the line between human and animal by producing chimeras—a hybrid creature that's part human, part animal.

Chinese scientists at the Shanghai Second Medical University in 2003 successfully fused human cells with rabbit eggs. The embryos were reportedly the first human-animal chimeras successfully created. They were allowed to develop for several days in a laboratory dish before the scientists destroyed the embryos to harvest their stem cells.

In Minnesota, last year researchers at the Mayo Clinic created pigs with human blood flowing through their bodies.

And at Stanford University in California, an experiment might be done later this year to create mice with human brains.

Scientists feel that, the more humanlike the animal, the better research model it makes for testing drugs or possibly growing “spare parts,” such as livers, to transplant into humans.

Watching how human cells mature and interact in a living creature may also lead to the discoveries of new medical treatments.

But creating human-animal chimeras—named after a monster in Greek mythology that had a lion’s head, goat’s body, and serpent’s tail—has raised troubling questions: What new subhuman combination should be produced and for what purpose? At what point would it be considered human? And what rights, if any, should it have?

There are currently no U.S. federal laws that address these issues.

Ethical Guidelines

The National Academy of Sciences, which advises the U.S. government, has been studying the issue. In March it plans to present voluntary ethical guidelines for researchers.

A chimera is a mixture of two or more species in one body. Not all are considered troubling, though.

For example, faulty human heart valves are routinely replaced with ones taken from cows and pigs. The surgery—which makes the recipient a human-animal chimera—is widely accepted. And for years scientists have added human genes to bacteria and farm animals.

What's caused the uproar is the mixing of human stem cells with embryonic animals to create new species.

Biotechnology activist Jeremy Rifkin is opposed to crossing species boundaries because he believes animals have the right to exist without being tampered with or crossed with another species.

He concedes that these studies would lead to some medical breakthroughs. Still, they should not be done.

“There are other ways to advance medicine and human health besides going out into the strange, brave new world of chimeric animals,” Rifkin said, adding that sophisticated computer models can substitute for experimentation on live animals.

“One doesn't have to be religious or into animal rights to think this doesn't make sense,” he continued. “It's the scientists who want to do this. They've now gone over the edge into the pathological domain.”

David Magnus, director of the Stanford Center for Biomedical Ethics at Stanford University, believes the real worry is whether or not chimeras will be put to uses that are problematic, risky, or dangerous.

Human Born to Mice Parents?

For example, an experiment that would raise concerns, he said, is genetically engineering mice to produce human sperm and eggs, then doing in vitro fertilization to produce a child whose parents are a pair of mice.

“Most people would find that problematic,” Magnus said, “but those uses are bizarre and not, to the best of my knowledge, anything that anybody is remotely contemplating. Most uses of chimeras are actually much more relevant to practical concerns.”

Last year Canada passed the Assisted Human Reproduction Act, which bans chimeras. Specifically, it prohibits transferring a nonhuman cell into a human embryo and putting human cells into a nonhuman embryo.

Cynthia Cohen is a member of Canada’s Stem Cell Oversight Committee, which oversees research protocols to ensure they are in accordance with the new guidelines.

She believes a ban should also be put into place in the U.S.

Creating chimeras, she said, by mixing human and animal gametes (sperms and eggs) or transferring reproductive cells, diminishes human dignity.

“It would deny that there is something distinctive and valuable about human beings that ought to be honored and protected,” said Cohen, who is also the senior research fellow at Georgetown University’s Kennedy Institute of Ethics in Washington, D.C.

But, she noted, the wording on such a ban needs to be developed carefully. It shouldn’t outlaw ethical and legitimate experiments—such as transferring a limited number of adult human stem cells into animal embryos in order to learn how they proliferate and grow during the prenatal period.

Irv Weissman, director of Stanford University's Institute of Cancer/Stem Cell Biology and Medicine in California, is against a ban in the United States.

"Anybody who puts their own moral guidance in the way of this biomedical science, where they want to impose their will—not just be part of an argument—if that leads to a ban or moratorium. ... they are stopping research that would save human lives," he said.

Mice With Human Brains

Weissman has already created mice with brains that are about one percent human.

Later this year he may conduct another experiment where the mice have 100 percent human brains. This would be done, he said, by injecting human neurons into the brains of embryonic mice.

Before being born, the mice would be killed and dissected to see if the architecture of a human brain had formed. If it did, he'd look for traces of human cognitive behavior.

Weissman said he's not a mad scientist trying to create a human in an animal body. He hopes the experiment leads to a better understanding of how the brain works, which would be useful in treating diseases like Alzheimer's or Parkinson's disease.

The test has not yet begun. Weissman is waiting to read the National Academy's report, due out in March.

William Cheshire, associate professor of neurology at the Mayo Clinic's Jacksonville, Florida, branch, feels that combining human and animal neurons is problematic.

"This is unexplored biologic territory," he said. "Whatever moral threshold of human neural development we might choose to set as the limit for such an experiment, there would be a considerable risk of exceeding that limit before it could be recognized."

Cheshire supports research that combines human and animal cells to study cellular function. As an undergraduate, he participated in research that fused human and mouse cells.

But where he draws the ethical line is on research that would destroy a human embryo to obtain cells or research that would create an organism that is partly human and partly animal.

"We must be cautious not to violate the integrity of humanity or of animal life over which we have a stewardship responsibility," said Cheshire, a member of Christian Medical and Dental Associations. "Research projects that create human-animal chimeras risk disturbing fragile ecosystems, endanger health, and affront species integrity."

So as you can see, I'm not making these things up. The article above is from a respected magazine that is dedicated to exposing the supposed truths of science. And this is just a few things that we're learning about. What about the experiments that we don't hear about.

What Does The Future Hold?

So we have seen that in many ways our age is similar to "the days of Noah." We have to ask ourselves what does the future hold. What will we see coming out of the laboratories around the world? I think that we will see very little of what genetic perverts are birthing in in their labs. If the public could see what is being done we would be appalled and demand an end to the experiments. The Bible isn't too clear about such things, but it does mention two separate events that are sort of curious. Now I have to mention here that the views that I am about to write are speculation which I believe will be born out. You might have your ideas about these two subjects and object to mine, but I ask that you consider that these things might be a possibility. We'll work backward in our approach. I mean by this that I'm going to go to the Book of Revelation first then to the Book of Daniel.

The Locust Swarm:

In Revelation Chapter nine we read about some very strange creatures. Read the passage below then we'll look at it more in depth:

And the fifth angel sounded, and I saw a star fall from heaven unto the earth: and to him was given the key of the bottomless pit. And he opened the bottomless pit; and there arose a smoke out of the pit, as the smoke of a great furnace; and the sun and the air were darkened by reason of the smoke of the pit. And there came out of the smoke locusts upon the earth: and unto them was given power, as the scorpions of the earth have power. And it was commanded them that they should not hurt the grass of the earth, neither any green thing, neither any tree; but only those men which have not the seal of God in their foreheads. And to them it was given that they should not kill them, but that they should be tormented five months: and their torment was as the torment of a scorpion, when he striketh a man. And in those days shall men seek death, and shall not find it; and shall desire to die, and death shall flee from them. And the shapes of the locusts were like unto horses prepared unto battle; and on their heads were as it were crowns like gold, and their faces were as the faces of men. And they had hair as the hair of women, and their teeth were as the teeth of lions. And they had breastplates, as it were breastplates of iron; and the sound of their wings was as the sound of chariots of many horses running to battle. And they had tails like unto scorpions, and there were stings in their tails: and their power was to hurt men five months. And they had a king over them, which is the angel of the bottomless pit, whose name in the Hebrew tongue is Abaddon, but in the Greek tongue hath his name Apollyon. Revelation 9:1-11

Now before we go any farther we need to talk about where hell is located. In the Bible, the word for hell is Sheol. The Wikipedia web encyclopedia describes sheol as:

She'ol is the Hebrew abode of the dead; the underworld, grave or pit. In the Hebrew Bible, it is portrayed as a comfortless place beneath the earth, beyond gates, where both the bad and the good, slave and king, pious and wicked must go after death to sleep in silence and oblivion in the dust. In some sources, for example in Deuteronomy 32:22, Sheol seems to be synonymous with the depths of the earth. Sheol is generally compared to the gloomy, twilight afterlife of Hades or Tartarus from Greek mythology. Sheol is the common destination of both the righteous and the unrighteous dead; the righteous Job sees it as his destination (Job 3).

So, since I believe that the Bible is the authoritative word of God, I believe that hell is somewhere within the Earth. If you're now laughing at me, you will probably find out that I'm right after you draw your last breath. As an aside, we have to make one correction to the definition above. When Yeshua (Jesus) died he went to hell and preached to the people who died before his first advent. Those who believed His message and accepted Him as Lord and Savior were taken to heaven with Him. This changed the nature of Hell and it has been since that time only a place where the wicked go after death. Born again believers who die go straight to Heaven to be with the Lord.

We are confident, I say, and willing rather to be absent from the body, and to be present with the Lord. 2 Corinthians 5:8

Now there are many who throughout the ages who have tried to identify the locusts mentioned in the Revelation scenario as many different things. Some equate them to be demons, others ascribe them the status of fallen angels. Some have even made the assumption that these locusts are really some sort of mechanized human invention, but one has to study and when one does that, one will see that these beings are living beings with strange attributes. It's pretty easy to figure out. What do normal locusts eat when they ravage a land? They eat plants, like grass and tree leaves. They were even given a command:

And it was commanded them that they should not hurt the grass of the earth, neither any green thing, neither any tree;

So it is highly doubtful, especially since these creatures were specially created to torment mankind, that they are some sort of demon or angelic being; they are some mutated form of locust. I believe that since Satan and the fallen angels have had a great deal of experience at gene manipulation, that these creatures are their creation. I do believe that these creatures might be possessed by demons when they make their appearance. I base that on the fact that they have a king over them, and Satan is the king of the demonic realm. So again, we see the evil ones messing around with species creation, melding several kinds of animals into one hellacious painful creature.

Whatever the future holds, or should I say when these things become manifest we can rest assured that if they occur before we are taken to be with Yeshua we will be protected from such carnage. If we are gone to be with Yeshua then it will be a terrible time that we will miss and that what remains of mankind will suffer in horrible proportions.

CHAPTER FOUR

HOMOSEXUALITY AND SAME-SEX MARRIAGE IN ANTEDILUVIAN SOCIETY

Our Enlightened Age?

In our modern era we humans tend to be quite puffed up about our accomplishments. Anyone who lived prior to one hundred twenty years ago; if they could somehow be transported to our modern time, would be astounded by what mankind has achieved. Before the train was invented there was a hypothesis that a person could not survive traveling speeds over forty miles per hour. Those during that era who dreamed of manned flight were labeled as crazy and told, “if men were meant to fly, God would have given them wings.” Travel to the moon was only entertained in the mind as was any notion of a ship that could travel submerged for extended periods of time. Yet in our modern time, all of these things exist in our reality.

To bring it to a more recent time I can summarize the things that I have seen come to fruition during my time. When I was in high school, the thought of having a personal computer was not even considered. We thought that we were hot stuff with our electric typewriters and our pocket calculators were just coming into reality for the general public. Funny too is that although we possessed them, we were banned from using them in school; the teacher’s premise being that we needed to be able to calculate equations should a calculator not be handy. When I was a young child, there were only three network television channels, maybe four if you count public television. Channels only came on during certain times of the day and sign-on and sign-off were both done with our national anthem playing while patriotic images flashed across the screen. In the TV Guide, programs were posted like they are today, but they included a little logo proclaiming the program was broadcast in “color” for those lucky enough to have a color television set. We danced to records which had scratches and skips and the FM band on the radio was a new thing.

Today we are really spoiled by way of the technology we possess. In the period of ten minutes I can access information it would have taken me weeks to research in libraries and through other channels. I can watch hundreds of channels on my television and they come through crystal clear on a relatively inexpensive television set. I could go on for a long time, but I think we can agree that our modern era is one of wonder.

With all of these blessings and comforts, we have been presented with something that, although considered a blessing, is quite a curse. Frankly, we have too much time to think and ponder things. Not that doing those things is wrong, but sometimes, out of boredom, our ponderings become imaginations worked into reality.

An idle brain is the devil's workshop. (H.G. Bohn, - Hand-Book of Proverbs, 1855)

We tend to think that with our enlightenment, comes changes in order. We've replaced the reality of God with the notion that science and reason can solve all the ills of human society. On many an occasion, I've talked with people about some of the wrong ways our society is heading or, in some cases we've been practicing. I try to use illustrations from the Bible to show why some practices like abortion, homosexuality, lack of ethics and such are wrong and I almost always get the same answer. The answer that I get is that we are living in modern times and that the Bible really doesn't relate to people's thoughts, lives, and aspirations in our modern age.

Sadly too, I have to report that I've heard this come from the lips of some who profess to be Christians.

What makes our modern era different than every other era since the creation? The answer to that question is nothing. The only change is the attitude of people. The same sun rises over the mountains and sets behind the ocean here in Oregon. The seasons still change. The rains still come in the winter and the heat continues in the summer. No, the physical world is the same, just people change. But mankind, while touting that he is so wise has in its possession one of many major flaws. People just can't seem to remember that those who do not remember history are doomed to repeat it.

For some reason, every new generation thinks that it is smarter than the one that preceded it. One illustration came in my own life. When I was growing up I was constantly told that abusing drugs and alcohol would ruin my life should I attempt to do such a thing. My attitude was that I was being preached to by some old people who only wanted to quash my life by making me as boring as theirs were. I honestly thought that I could master the abuse of drugs and for a while, I was fooled into believing that I was the master of them. My pride had led me down a road to destruction, and after much angst, I realized that the old folks were right. I had to eat my pride, confess that they were right all along and had to recover from the damage that still affects me today. You see, today I have an arrhythmia that sometimes causes my heart to beat in strange manners. It's a defect in the wiring of my heart that some doctors have attributed to an enlarged atrium. How did it get this way? Some say that it was brought about by high blood pressure which can enlarge the atrium. I know what brought it on though. It was all those days, months and years that I was disobedient to my elders when I took drugs to keep me awake. Those drugs caused my young heart to beat very fast many hours a day and in effect, my heart responded by developing a wiring problem. Now those who knew better tried to tell me about the history of drug abuse that had been observed for many years and through many scientific tests, but I thought I knew better and now I live with the consequences of my actions. The “history” was there for me to read and study, but I just ignored it, thinking I could change history; oh what a foolish notion. Through God’s grace, the condition is under control because God graciously has a way of bailing out those who ignore history if they ask Him to.

God Never Changes

We have concluded that it is people who are the ones who change. The laws of the universe remain the same because they were written by God Almighty and He’s set all things in motion and He keeps those things in good working order. But the universe and the physical realm lack something that God has given to people; that thing being “free will.” He’s given us the choice to choose between right and wrong, good and bad and sadly, most people seem to continually make the wrong choices. God really gets the blame for everything that is not his fault. When you get pulled over by a police officer for breaking traffic laws chances are that you’ll mumble God’s name in vain while you frantically search for your paperwork that he’ll demand to see. When an aunt or uncle happen to die from cancer because they smoked tobacco like a chimney for fifty years we blame God; accusing Him of not stepping in and healing our relative. When a mother loses her newborn child we blame God but we ignore that the mother drank alcohol or abused drugs during pregnancy. When our nation was attacked in 2001 someone had the unmitigated gall to ask where God had been when the planes hit the Twin Towers. Well, what about a nation that has basically told God to get lost; that we don’t need Him anymore. When God is in the founding of a nation, or in the rebirth of a person, He’ll never leave unless He’s told to get out!

How do we know that God is unchanging in His ways and precepts? Simple, He tells us so in His word and then He back up His word by His actions.

Jesus Christ the same yesterday, and to day, and for ever. Hebrews 13:8

And:

The counsel of the LORD standeth for ever, the thoughts of his heart to all generations.

Psalm 33:11

And:

For I [am] the LORD, I change not; therefore ye sons of Jacob are not consumed.

Malachi 3:6

And

The thing that hath been, it is that which shall be; and that which is done is that which shall be done: and there is no new thing under the sun. Is there any thing whereof it may be said, See, this is new? it hath been already of old time, which was before us.

Ecclesiastes 1:9-10

Ask any Bible-believing Born Again Christian if they think in the Last Days, as foretold in the Bible, and they will in most cases answer a resounding, “YES!” Why would they say that? Well, there are a few scriptures that describe the world as it is today:

This know also, that in the last days perilous times shall come. For men shall be lovers of their own selves, covetous, boasters, proud, blasphemers, disobedient to parents, unthankful, unholy, Without natural affection, trucebreakers, false accusers, incontinent, fierce, despisers of those that are good, Traitors, heady, highminded, lovers of pleasures more than lovers of God; Having a form of godliness, but denying the power thereof: from such turn away. For of this sort are they which creep into houses, and lead captive silly women laden with sins, led away with divers lusts, Ever learning, and never able to come to the knowledge of the truth. Now as Jannes and Jambres withstood Moses, so do these also resist the truth: men of corrupt minds, reprobate concerning the faith. But they shall proceed no further: for their folly shall be manifest unto all men, as theirs also was.

2 Timothy 3:1-9

It is prudent to examine in modern terms what this scripture means because some of the words might not be familiar in the contemporary vernacular. Well, we know the meaning of the phrase “lovers of own selves.” Covetous means that people will desire to have what others possess, including their spouses, sons, and daughters. We have all seen boasters; people who are legends in their own minds. Pride comes next; thinking that what they’ve accomplished is by them and them alone. To blaspheme means to take the things of God and corrupt them; exemplified by many of the cults that have been popping up all over the place; claiming to be from the God of Israel as they contort scripture. Have you seen any of that lately? Disobedience to parents is self-explanatory. It’s always existed, but not at the heights it exists now. Unthankfulness is at an all-time high. Being a man I see this all the time when I hold a door open for a woman. There was a time when such an action was met with gratefulness, now it’s not even acknowledged. And that was only one example. Holiness means to be godlike or to have many attributes of living a godly life; a rare thing these days. Without natural affection means that a person doesn’t have love and respect for other human beings. It could also be alluding to homosexuality. Then we come to trucebreakers. There was a time when you could trust a person's word by just a handshake. In our contemporary time, you can't even trust their signed name on a contract. False accusers are rampant; just watch the news every night; especially where politics are concerned. Incontinent means to lack self-restraint or self-control. Seen any of that lately? Television and movies go out of their way to promote incontinence.

People nowadays are very fierce. Many don't care who they have to step upon to achieve a higher status or goal. Many are also fierce in the way they conduct their person to person skills. Many divorces occur because they are fiercely devoted to themselves rather than their supposed loved one. The world is full of those who despise those who practice goodness. Walk into any secular social setting and announce to everyone that you are a Christian and see what happens; you won't have too many friends there. Our society is full of traitors. The US Government is infested with traitors, but the connotation here is traitors to faith in Yeshua. In our modern time, people become believers because it is the thing to do, or because a spouse or lover is a believer. However, the minute their relationship goes sour; so does any supposed love for God. When the God "vending machine" fails to give what the heretic orders that person leaves the faith; like they had any faith, to begin with? Heady people are people who are extremely impressed with themselves and like to let others know it too. High-minded people are those who think they are more intelligent than anyone else.

How many do you know who love pleasure rather than love God? There are so many ways that this is true in contemporary society that one could write a whole book about it. Therefore, it is self-explanatory. Then we are told to turn away from people who have a form of godliness but deny the power that imparts godliness. I feel that this speaks of organizations that call themselves churches but are really social clubs. One example is all of the modern mainline churches who call themselves Christians, yet they condone lifestyles and practices that God abhors.

Evolutionists are another group that fits into this category; claiming to have all the answers of how we got here, but denying the Creator who made everything. We're expressly told to flee from these types of things. How many televangelists have crept into women's houses and led them away and have taken them for everything they own. How many fallen pastors have fornicated with their female parishioners; pastors who may have never been real believers falling in lust and performing acts of perversion that might only be rivaled by the pornographic industry. I've seen it, have you? The scripture also says that this sort of people is always learning, but is never able to come to the knowledge of the truth. Again I believe this refers to counterfeit Christians in addition to people like evolutionists. They are in search for the truth, and although the truth is plain they ignore it, looking for a truth that will confirm the preconceived notions that they hold in their hearts and minds. Paul says that this sort of people are like Jannes and Jambres, Pharaoh's two magicians who went out of their way to counterfeit the miracles that God was performing through Moses in Pharaoh's court. In the same way, counterfeit Christians and scientists dedicate themselves through countless hours of research to elevate mankind and attempt to discredit the miracles of God as some sort of ancient myth. But God promises us in the scripture above that the works of these false believers will be exposed in due time as counterfeit works from the occult realm.

But now we come to yet another scripture that shows what happens to those who deny God, His Majesty, and his rule.

For the wrath of God is revealed from heaven against all ungodliness and unrighteousness of men, who hold the truth in unrighteousness; Because that which may be known of God is manifest in them; for God hath shewed it unto them. For the invisible things of him from the creation of the world are clearly seen, being understood by the things that are made, even his eternal power and Godhead; so that they are without excuse: Because that, when they knew God, they glorified him not as God, neither were thankful; but became vain in their imaginations, and their foolish heart was darkened. Professing themselves to be wise, they became fools, And changed the glory of the uncorruptible God into an image made like to corruptible man, and to birds, and fourfooted beasts, and creeping things. Wherefore God also gave them up to uncleanness through the lusts of their own hearts, to dishonour their own bodies between themselves: Who changed the truth of God into a lie, and worshipped and served the creature more than the Creator, who is blessed for ever. Amen. For this cause God gave them up unto vile affections: for even their women did change the natural use into that which is against nature: And likewise also the men, leaving the natural use of the woman, burned in their lust one toward another; men with men working that which is unseemly, and receiving in themselves that recompence of their error which was meet. And even as they did not like to retain God in their knowledge, God gave them over to a reprobate mind, to do those things which are not convenient; Being filled with all unrighteousness, fornication, wickedness, covetousness, maliciousness; full of envy, murder, debate, deceit, malignity; whisperers, Backbiters, haters of God, despiteful, proud, boasters, inventors of evil things, disobedient to parents, Without understanding, covenant breakers, without natural affection, implacable, unmerciful: Who knowing the judgment of God, that they which commit such things are worthy of death, not only do the same, but have pleasure in them that do them. Romans 1:18-32

The interesting thing about the scripture above is that it professes that belief in evolution, which is a great denial of God, causes God to pull the plug on any protection that He might have once had over such persons. To paraphrase what is said, God is saying here: "Okay, so you have all of the creation before you to tell you about me and to show my greatness. Even with that, you don't want to believe in me, but you believe things that in your vanity you have invented (love of self). So, if you want to believe that you evolved from animals, I'll allow it, but you'll have to live like animals. You think you're really wise, but you're nothing but a bunch of fools. I was protecting your hearts and minds from the darkness that lived in your hearts, but now I give up. You can have your evil ways; and what will it get you? You men will become homosexuals and you'll do things that are horrible to each other. You women will lose your desire for men and will start to desire each other and you too will do things that aren't right. And because you will delight in these things, you will be the very essence of unrighteousness, fornication, wickedness. You'll covet your neighbor's possessions and do anything you can to obtain them. You'll actually desire to cause pain, injury or distress to others (maliciousness) and you'll envy everyone else because you don't have what they have. You'll consider and possibly act on murderous thoughts. You'll debate everything with everyone because you'll think that your opinion is more important than all others. You'll constantly act in deceit and you'll be so evil that your attitude will spread throughout your whole being and to others also. Nobody will be able to tell you a secret because you'll be a gossip and nobody will trust you because they know you'll turn on them when their back is turned. And you'll secretly hate yourself, but you'll blame me for what you've become. And because your conscious will be seared from your denial of me and my truths you'll be full of malice and deceit (despiteful) and you'll even brag about how wonderful you think you are, but you will be deceived. You'll sink so low that you'll actually be an inventor of evil but your inventions will never satisfy you, so you'll grow worse and worse. You'll hate your parents just as much as you hate me because you'll blame them for what you've become; not taking into account that you and only you are responsible for yourself.

You won't have the ability to understand other people's ways and although you hate intolerance, you'll become the epitome of intolerance. Nobody will trust you anymore because you'll be known as someone who can't keep their word and the business world will spurn you because they'll think you're nothing but trouble. Because your heart has grown cold you'll lose the ability to love anyone in any form. You'll hate everyone and nobody will want to be around you because they know that nothing that they can do will ever please you. Because you're that way, you will not be able to show mercy to anyone for anything. And the sad thing is that deep down you know what you are doing is wrong. For many years that still small voice deep inside has warned you that you need to repent; that you need to examine your actions and compare them with what God requires of you. You'll know that in the real scheme of things you're probably not worthy of taking another breath. The fleeting thought of changing is replaced with an attitude that you really like what you've become and in a final act of desperation, you'll actually search for others that are like yourself in order to make you feel better. You'll find them because they're looking for you too and you'll all continue to become worse until one day you'll die and join the other countless hell-bound souls who lived and believed a lie." By examining the two scriptures where Paul tells us what it will be like during the last days we can see that it's impossible to deny that we are in that period of time. But what does this have to do with the days of Noah? Let's examine that below.

Homosexuality in Antediluvian Society?

We are again reminded that Yeshua said that the conditions on Earth will be just like they were during the days of Noah. In the movies that have been made in Hollywood that depict that time, we see a strange absence of the homosexual lifestyle. In the 1950's movie, "The Bible" we are shown a scene where the angels of God make a deal with Abraham that if so many righteous people can be found in Sodom, only then God will spare the city. If not, then God would destroy the Cities of The Plain. In that scene, we see fornication mildly noted and we even get a hint of bestiality but when it comes to the homosexual lifestyle we see men dressed sort of funny and even some in makeup but hardly what one would see if they were to visit the Castro District or walk down Polk Street in San Francisco. So, because Hollywood and other outlets won't reveal the truth because of their debase agenda, we have to rely on the words of Yeshua. After all, there is no one better to rely on since he is the ultimate authority on everything.

Like so many other people, I've read Luke, chapter 17 many times but never picked up on what our Lord Yeshua was telling us in His briefing about the end of days. I can't claim this discovery though. On April 29, 2005, a dear sister named Jennifer, whom I had never met before wrote an e-mail to me. She said that she had visited the site and had made an interesting observation of Yeshua's briefing in Luke chapter 17. Let's look again at the scripture and then we'll pull it apart to look at it.

And as it was in the days of Noe, so shall it be also in the days of the Son of man. They did eat, they drank, they married wives, they were given in marriage, until the day that Noe entered into the ark, and the flood came, and destroyed them all. Likewise also as it was in the days of Lot; they did eat, they drank, they bought, they sold, they planted, they builded; But the same day that Lot went out of Sodom it rained fire and brimstone from heaven, and destroyed them all. Even thus shall it be in the day when the Son of man is revealed. Luke 17:26-30

Again, Yeshua starts out by saying that society in the days of His return will be like it was in the days of Noah. He says that they ate and drank; nothing new there. Then he says that they married wives; nothing new there. But let's take a moment to look at what the betrothal process was back in Yeshua's day. In his day there was a patriarchal society and the main functions of women were to cook, clean, to provide pleasure for their husbands and to produce children. Marriages were arranged for the most part although some freedom did exist. If two families were close they would arrange the marriage of their children. The family of the prospective groom would pay a dowry for the bride and if the bride's family would approve then things were placed into motion. Note that the women were always given in marriage and that they were given to the men.

But, when we look at what Yeshua was saying, he says that the same "they" that were marrying wives (they, being men) were also given in marriage. Since a man in Yeshua's time could never be given in marriage to a woman, we have to come to the conclusion that Yeshua was telling the disciples that men were being given in marriage to other men. It's really the only way to look at the discourse. Now, I believe that since Yeshua knew that someone would try to debate this, He gave us another hint so that there would be no doubt as to what he was saying.

It is awfully interesting that right after he tells us about the homosexuals before the flood, and then he tells that the flood came; He then uses an illustration about Lot living in Sodom. And, Yeshua uses the analogy that Lot was rescued from Sodom and that very day judgment came upon Sodom. What was the main sin of Sodom? Their sin was homosexuality for it is from the word Sodom that we get the name for the perverted act of sodomy. So, Yeshua was telling us that in the last days, it will be like when there was homosexuality before the flood and he cements the idea into force by saying that it will be like it was in Sodom. Very interesting indeed!

So, taking into account that as the scripture said in Ecclesiastes:

The thing that hath been, it is that which shall be; and that which is done is that which shall be done: and there is no new thing under the sun. Is there any thing whereof it may be said, See, this is new? it hath been already of old time, which was before us.

Ecclesiastes 1:9-10

This “same-sex marriage” as it is so labeled by the politically correct people, is nothing new. It is just a sign of the time; a sign that this world is just as it was during the days of Noah. Although it is a highly perverted act and one that God hates and we should hate too, we should glory at the fact that this sign of the times is yet another proof that the Bible is right; that Yeshua is the Son of God; and that He’s coming soon to get us out of this stinking world.

CHAPTER FIVE

BIRTH CONTROL IN ANTEDILUVIAN SOCIETY?

In the Book of Jasher, we find a historical account mentioned that the Bible omits for whatever reason. The passage is as follows:

And Lamech, the son of Methusael, became related to Cainan by marriage, and he took his two daughters for his wives, and Adah conceived and bare a son to Lamech, and she called his name Jubal. And she again conceived and bare a son, and called his name Jubal; and Zillah, her sister, was barren in those days and had no offspring. For in those days the sons of men began to trespass against God, and to transgress the commandments which he had commanded to Adam, to be fruitful and multiply in the earth. And some of the sons of men caused their wives to drink a draught that would render them barren, in order that they might retain their figures and whereby their beautiful appearance might not fade. And when the sons of men caused some of their wives to drink, Zillah drank with them. And the child-bearing women appeared abominable in the sight of their husbands as widows, whilst their husbands lived, for to the barren ones only they were attached. Book of Jasher 2:17-22

The Book of 1 Enoch also illustrated an account, but this time we are told about the angel that taught men to abort children in the womb:

The name of the fifth is Kasyade; he discovered to the children of men every wicked stroke of the ruachot and of devils: The stroke of the embryo in the womb, to diminish; the stroke to the ruach by the bite of the serpent, and the midday stroke of the offspring of the serpent, the name of which is Tabaet. [Source: Eth Cepher, Chanok (Enoch) 68:17-28]

It has always been God's intent that the human race perpetuates itself; that it grows in numbers and prospers. So when I read about this account it really didn't surprise me. I say that because it seems to be the express desire of degenerated mankind to purposefully disobey the commands of God. But one has to only look at the passage above and see how truly debase people were before the great flood. We've seen in other articles we have about this time that "global warming," 'same sex marriage,' fallen angels and Nephilim', and gene manipulation in the antediluvian world match what is going on in the modern world, thus proving Yeshua's claim that the days of His return would be just like the Days of Noah. So, when we discover that birth control and abortion existed before the flood it should come as no surprise to us.

So it appears from the account in Jasher and Enoch that, just as in our day, sex had become an obsession. The men of that day wanted their wives to maintain their young and youthful bodies and not have them bear any evidence of having given birth. It is interesting to do a little study about civilizations and see how God fearing societies always tend to produce many children and godless societies tend to draw themselves to sexual deviancy which causes child production to slow down or stop. Of course, I'd like to point out that when I say "God fearing," I am talking about societies that revere YHVH. It is true that adherents to other religions do procreate in great numbers. Hindu's, for instance, procreate in great numbers so that they can aid in Karma for the souls they claim are in the ether waiting to be reborn. Muslims procreate in large numbers because they feel that there is strength in numbers and their aim is to flood the world with Muslims as to conquer it for Allah. However, those faithful to Yeshua procreate in order to bring more souls into the world and into YHVH's family.

Who Is Behind Birth Control Ultimately?

I'd like to preface this part by stating that although this is a touchy subject, and it's bound to get me some critical castigation; it is still YHVH's purpose for mankind to, "be fruitful and multiply." Whatever your stance on birth control; that is your conviction and if it is YHVH's purpose for us to fulfill his command to procreate, and someone chooses not to, for whatever reason, then they should reconcile that with the Almighty. I do not consider this article to be a vehicle for name calling, and it not for that purpose. But if a person becomes upset by this subject, then it is a good indication that they should get away for a few days and commune with YHVH to see why they are upset. I make no apologies for the content of this article.

If you believe that YHVH is real, you have to believe that there is a Satan, and if you do not, then you're deceived. Birth control could very well be a tool of Satan. We see several places in YHVH's word where He states, after a calamity, that the people who remain should reproduce; that they should be fruitful and multiply. YHVH wants the world to thrive and He wants it filled with people. He told Adam and Chava to be fruitful. He told Noah's family to do the same after the flood waters abated. He told the Jews who went into exile to Babylon to settle there and have families and to thrive. We also see in another place where a form of birth control occurred and it upset YHVH:

And Onan knew that the seed should not be his; and it came to pass, when he went in unto his brother's wife, that he spilled it on the ground, lest that he should give seed to his brother. And the thing which he did displeased the LORD: wherefore he slew him also. Genesis 38:9-10

For the last three generations, birth control has become an accepted norm. It is common for many women, from their teen years and onward to practice birth control by putting chemicals into their bodies to change their hormonal structure so that their eggs will not remain set. It is not well remembered how when the idea of birth control via chemicals first came into being, that it met a lot of resistance; and not just by Catholics, but by Protestants who saw it as an unwholesome act, and one that didn't please YHVH. Of course, we can see by the scripture above, that men's use of prophylactics probably doesn't make YHVH too happy either. There are other ways of practicing good birth control, abstinence being the surest one. The trouble today is that society has turned around the meanings of love and lust so much that people feel that the act of sex has to accompany any relationship and if it isn't there then they feel that love isn't there. People who honestly love someone will prove it by showing fidelity, caring, selflessness, longsuffering and other traits of true love; and in today's society, those who practice such things are looked upon as being sort of strange or not quite right.

But if birth control should be an idea of the evil one, why would he want that? What purpose could he have to keep people from procreating? Well, the first reason is that he has a rabid hatred for mankind. Elohim made mankind in HIS image as we see in Genesis:

And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness: and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth. Genesis 1:26

When Satan sees mankind, he sees a special creation of Elohim. If you've ever had a bad breakup with a girlfriend, boyfriend, wife or husband or if you had a falling out with a close friend you can relate to this. If you look around your house and see something that they left with you, or that they bought for you it usually brings back memories of that person, and most likely the hurt that they caused you. I can remember that for a while after my parents divorced, my mother would see me do something that my dad used to do and she would sarcastically tell me "you're just like your father." When Satan looks at any human he must murmur, "They're just like their father. That is, our ultimate father being Elohim.

The second part of Genesis 1:26 gives us another clue as to why Satan hates us and doesn't want us to procreate. Elohim originally gave mankind the title deed to the Earth.

And God blessed them, and God said unto them, be fruitful, and multiply, and replenish [fill] the earth, and subdue it: and have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over every living thing that moveth upon the earth. Genesis 1:28
Brackets mine

Imagine if you will that YHVH owns a very large apartment complex. He hires you and tells you to call all of your relatives and move into the apartments; fill them up and live in them for free. He says to just obey Him and life will be just fine; but if you disobey, He'll still let you live there, but the place will become run down and such. So you disobey Him and He fires you; you're no longer the manager of the apartments. The person who deceived you so that you disobeyed now (because you relinquished your dominion) becomes the manager and he hates you and your family. He makes life hard for you, tries to evict you and even tries to kill you so that he can move his own people into the complex. One day the owner of the apartments sends his son to give you comfort from the evil manager. The manager kills the owner's son but is surprised when the son comes back to life and proclaims that he will come back some day to take over the apartments and throw the evil manager into prison forever.

The manager decides that if he can evict or kill the residents of the apartments, then the son will not have a reason to come back and he'll own the apartments. He wants to move in his own kind, to create an apartment scenario where he can be the big-shot and make all of the calls. He tells the tenants that the son isn't coming back; he's forgotten all about you. Come to the apartment office to eat, drink and be merry. Don't worry about reproducing; kids are such an encumbrance during life's journey. Party hardy and live like there's no tomorrow. He fills your minds with garbage and tries to poison your beverages. He really hates your guts and will do anything he can to be rid of you. You remind the manager of the land owner and he wants you dead or at least left with no progeny to carry on your line. Oh, and don't forget that the owner's son was born into your family; He's one of you. So when the evil manager sees you, he sees his failed attempt to rid himself of the owner's son. In addition he is constantly reminded of his future demise. I think you get the picture.

Planned Parenthood – A Satanic Primer

I think that we can all agree that the Words of Yeshua are truth and life. One of Yeshua's many truths came in His instruction about good fruit and bad fruit.

Beware of false prophets, which come to you in sheep's clothing, but inwardly they are ravening wolves. Ye shall know them by their fruits. Do men gather grapes of thorns, or figs of thistles? Even so every good tree bringeth forth good fruit; but a corrupt tree bringeth forth evil fruit. A good tree cannot bring forth evil fruit, neither can a corrupt tree bring forth good fruit. Every tree that bringeth not forth good fruit is hewn down, and cast into the fire. Wherefore by their fruits ye shall know them. Matthew 7:15-20

When we read this scripture we immediately think about the fruit and little attention is paid to the tree. The tree itself is made up of many different components; branches, the trunk, and the roots. While the trunk and branches are easy to view, and we sometimes gaze in wonder at how majestic a tree looks, we often forget about the roots. We know that the roots bring nutrients and water from the ground, but let's consider for a moment another important attribute of the root system. The roots are the foundation of the tree. The roots spread out and reach down into the earth to create an anchor that is quite formidable. If you've ever cut down a tree you're aware that the tree above ground is quite easy to get rid of, but if you leave a stump and the roots then the tree will try to grow again. The roots reach out for dozens of feet and the tap root can reach down in equal lengths.

Foundations are important things. In both a tree and a building, the structural integrity of a foundation can mean the difference between the structure withstanding flood, wind or earthquake, or it failing during any of those events. Foundations are also important in regard to businesses, organizations and even where philosophies are concerned. Christianity is an example of faith built on a firm and stable foundation. For centuries the winds of oppression and the fires of persecution have come to faith in Yeshua. Spiritual earthquakes have tried to shake Christianity apart, but it has always survived. When the winds have come, all they did was blow away loose things that YHVH wanted to discard anyway. When shaking has come against the Church it has caused the bad fruit to fall from the tree, allowing more nutrients to reach the good fruit. When a fire has come against Yeshua's Church, it has not harmed it, but instead, it purified

His believers like gold in a hot crucible is purified. Yes, solid foundations are beneficial and sure.

Sometimes though, foundations are faulty but hidden. If you're buying a house it is the usual practice that a home inspector will be called in to investigate the integrity of the house. One of the structural components that the inspector will look at is the foundation. However, in life's situations, we are sometimes left to investigate things on our own. In every instance where we are tricked by someone, or fooled into believing a lie, it is because we didn't look too carefully at the foundation of the case in hand. Sometimes in life, we have to rely on certain truths that pertain to living in this world. Take for instance a scam that has been very popular the last ten or so years. There are nefarious entities living in Nigeria, Africa who have come upon a brilliant but devious idea. They send a postal letter or more popularly, an email telling the recipient that they the scammers have a lot of money that they need to hide away in American banking institutions for a short period. They ask for your bank account number so that they can deposit the money. They promise the recipient that for their being helpful, the recipient will be given a large sum of money; the scammer's way of saying thank you. Once they have that information they go into your bank account and empty it completely. There are at least two certain foundational truths that could have kept a lot of people from going through the grief of being electronically robbed. First, you never trust a stranger with your money and second, it's almost always true that you never get free money.

It must be affirmed that there are some people, ideas and belief systems out there that are like a poor grafting. In the agricultural world, a botanist will sometimes graft one plant into the rootstock of another. This is done to make a hardier plant that can withstand temperature extremes, drought or diseases or insect infestations. The results of these mixtures are called hybrids. But in the case of some things, the rootstock can be corrupt which will produce a plant that looks normal, but produces bad fruit. It would be akin to grafting an apricot branch into poison oak stock. Perish the thought! Satan has perfected this sort of thing over the millennia that he has practiced in the deceiving of mankind, one instance which we will now examine.

Back in the early 20th Century an organization arose in America called “Planned Parenthood.” Like all deceptions, it was touted as being a help for families; a place where useful information could be disseminated to the masses so that the society could be healthier. Well, anyone with any sort of faith should have seen that this was a humanist organization bent of subverting Biblical truths, but few if any did anything to try to kill this monster.

“All that is necessary for the triumph of evil is that good men do nothing.” (Edmund Burke)

It is true, so many times that crisis’ and maladies could have been averted had YHVH’s people acted to come against these things. Another quote is from Pastor Martin Niemoller who lived in Nazi Europe in the 1940’s:

First they came for the Jews and I did not speak out because I was not a Jew. Then they came for the Communists and I did not speak out because I was not a Communist. Then they came for the trade unionists and I did not speak out because I was not a trade unionist. Then they came for me and there was no one left to speak out for me.

Pastor Martin Niemöller

It is exactly an attitude like that which allows evil to happen. It is an attitude like that; turning a blind eye to the plight of others that allowed the Nazi’s to murder six million Jews and countless others. It is an attitude like this that allowed Pol Pot’s regime to flourish in Cambodia, bringing about the “Killing Fields.” It is an attitude like that that is allowing the genocide in the Sudan to happen this very day. It is the same attitude that allowed a demonic organization like “Planned Parenthood,” to grow and thrive, and to still exist today.

But what if the people of the early 20th Century had investigated the founder of Planned Parenthood? What would they have discovered? Well, a simple search of the internet yields a plethora of results which yield some of the twisted quotes by Margaret Sanger. Like all messengers of deception, they tend to give away their true intents in their writings and/or speeches. Let’s take a look at some of the quotes from Sanger, and see if they’re right out of the history as presented in The Book of Jared and the philosophies of Nazism and the New Age:

MARGARET SANGER QUOTES:

On blacks, immigrants and indigents:

“...human weeds,’ ‘reckless breeders,’ ‘spawning... human beings who never should have been born.” Margaret Sanger, Pivot of Civilization, referring to immigrants and poor people On sterilization & racial purification:

Sanger believed that, for the purpose of racial “purification,” couples should be rewarded who chose sterilization. Birth Control in America, The Career of Margaret Sanger, by David Kennedy, p. 117, quoting a 1923 Sanger speech.

On the right of married couples to bear children:

Couples should be required to submit applications to have a child, she wrote in her “Plan for Peace.” Birth Control Review, April 1932

On the purpose of birth control:

The purpose in promoting birth control was “to create a race of thoroughbreds,” she wrote in the Birth Control Review, Nov. 1921 (p. 2)

On the rights of the handicapped and mentally ill, and racial minorities:

“More children from the fit, less from the unfit — that is the chief aim of birth control.” Birth Control Review, May 1919, p. 12

On religious convictions regarding sex outside of marriage:

“This book aims to answer the needs expressed in thousands on thousands of letters to me in the solution of marriage problems... Knowledge of sex truths frankly and plainly presented cannot possibly injure healthy, normal, young minds. Concealment, suppression, futile attempts to veil the unvealable — these work injury, as they seldom succeed and only render those who indulge in them ridiculous. For myself, I have full confidence in the cleanliness, the open-mindedness, the promise of the younger generation.” Margaret Sanger, Happiness in Marriage (Bretano’s, New York, 1927)

On the extermination of blacks:

“We do not want word to go out that we want to exterminate the Negro population,” she said, “if it ever occurs to any of their more rebellious members.” Woman’s Body, Woman’s Right: A Social History of Birth Control in America, by Linda Gordon

On respecting the rights of the mentally ill:

In her "Plan for Peace," Sanger outlined her strategy for eradication of those she deemed "feeble-minded." Among the steps included in her evil scheme were immigration restrictions; compulsory sterilization; segregation to a lifetime of farm work; etc. Birth Control Review, April 1932, p. 107

On adultery:

A woman's physical satisfaction was more important than any marriage vow, Sanger believed. Birth Control in America, p. 11

On marital sex:

"The marriage bed is the most degenerating influence in the social order," Sanger said. (p. 23) [Quite the opposite of God's view on the matter: "Marriage is honorable in all, and the bed undefiled; but whoremongers and adulterers God will judge." (Hebrews 13:4)]

On abortion:

"Criminal' abortions arise from a perverted sex relationship under the stress of economic necessity, and their greatest frequency is among married women." The Woman Rebel – No Gods, No Masters, May 1914, Vol. 1, No. 3.

It's not hard to see that the foundations of Planned Parenthood are indeed built on ideas that are bent on the destruction of godly institutions in our society. Just like in antediluvian times, there is a plan to wipe out what they believe to be "bad genetics," something that the fallen angels aspired to do through eugenics through the corruption of the human seed before the flood, and another attempt afterward.

In antediluvian times, having the woman drink the draught so as to make them barren is no different than birth control methods that we have in contemporary times. It's not far-fetched at all to say that both methods fit into Sanger's view of sterilization of what she termed less superior persons. Satan doesn't want the human race to reproduce, and he's even more vehemently opposed to the perpetuation of YHVH's people. It's really not hard to see his efforts paying off in regards to humanity. Before the flood, there was a corruption of the human seed that ran rampant until YHVH had the seed of the serpent destroy each other. We have seen that before the flood there was a strong homosexual presence. A human race that is homosexual will not reproduce itself and will become extinct. We have seen that before the flood mankind was highly technical where gene manipulation was concerned; giving rise to hideous looking creatures that were mixtures of animals and also humans and animals, further corrupting the genetic pool. Yes, Satan has tried to wipe us out several times, but the grace, mercy and all loving protection of YHVH have preserved the human race. Blessed be HIS NAME!!

CHAPTER SIX

GLOBAL WARMING DURING ANTEDILUVIAN TIMES

Earth Was Different Before the Deluge

There are scriptures that bear witness to the fact that before the flood of Noah's time, the world was a drastically different place. But before we do that, let's look at some of the physical evidence that we have that proves this point. What evidence do we have that we can touch with our own hands and see with our eyes plainly? We have the fossil record. Many of you reading this will no doubt be either unbelievers who believe in the false nonscientific assertion that everything you see evolved from basically nothing. There are others who will argue that God might have had a hand in assisting the evolutionary process over millions if not billions of years. I believe that God created all that exists in a scant 6 days and then refrained on the seventh day. But humor me for a while and assume that I'm right and that God's word is right. Let's start from the beginning.

Many would argue that the Biblical Creation scenario parallels the evolutionary one. That is a wrong assumption and a simple reading of the Biblical text will bear that out. For instance, evolution theory says that states that first there was land, then came the seas. The Bible states:

And God said, "Let there be an firmament in the midst of the waters, and let it separate the waters from the waters." And God made the firmament and separated the waters that were under the firmament from the waters that were above the firmament. And it was so. And God called the firmament Heaven. And there was evening and there was morning, the second day. And God said, "Let the waters under the heavens be gathered together into one place, and let the dry land appear." And it was so. 10God called the dry land Earth, and the waters that were gathered together he called Seas. And God saw that it was good. Genesis 1:6-9

So, God states (and who's a better witness) that he created the seas first and then brought forth the dry land after that. That is a direct refuting of the evolutionary belief. One has to be right and one has to be wrong; there is no melding of the two.

Let's look at the rest of the Creation event just for the fun of it:

And God said, Let the waters under the heaven be gathered together unto one place, and let the dry land appear: and it was so. And God called the dry land Earth; and the gathering together of the waters called he Seas: and God saw that it was good. And God said, Let the earth bring forth grass, the herb yielding seed, and the fruit tree yielding fruit after his kind, whose seed is in itself, upon the earth: and it was so. And the earth brought forth grass, and herb yielding seed after his kind, and the tree yielding fruit, whose seed was in itself, after his kind: and God saw that it was good. And the evening and the morning were the third day.

And God said, Let there be lights in the firmament of the heaven to divide the day from the night; and let them be for signs, and for seasons, and for days, and years: And let them be for lights in the firmament of the heaven to give light upon the earth: and it was so. And God made two great lights; the greater light to rule the day, and the lesser light to rule the night: he made the stars also. And God set them in the firmament of the heaven to give light upon the earth, And to rule over the day and over the night, and to divide the light from the darkness: and God saw that it was good. And the evening and the morning were the fourth day.

And God said, Let the waters bring forth abundantly the moving creature that hath life, and fowl that may fly above the earth in the open firmament of heaven. And God created great whales, and every living creature that moveth, which the waters brought forth abundantly, after their kind, and every winged fowl after his kind: and God saw that it was good. And God blessed them, saying, Be fruitful, and multiply, and fill the waters in the seas, and let fowl multiply in the earth. And the evening and the morning were the fifth day.

And God said, Let the earth bring forth the living creature after his kind, cattle, and creeping thing, and beast of the earth after his kind: and it was so. And God made the beast of the earth after his kind, and cattle after their kind, and every thing that creepeth upon the earth after his kind: and God saw that it was good. And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness: and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth. So God created man in his own image, in the image of God created he him; male and female created he them. And God blessed them, and God said unto them, Be fruitful, and multiply, and replenish the earth, and subdue it: and have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over every living thing that moveth upon the earth. And God said, Behold, I have given you every herb bearing seed, which is upon the face of all the earth, and every tree, in the which is the fruit of a tree yielding seed; to you it shall be for meat. And to every beast of the earth, and to every fowl of the air, and to every thing that creepeth upon the earth, wherein there is life, I have given every green herb for meat: and it was so. And God saw every thing that he had made, and, behold, it was very good. And the evening and the morning were the sixth day. Genesis 1:9-31

Another difference comes in the creation of plant life. Evolution says that the sun was created first and then after a long time enough space junk compiled together to make the planets. Genesis says that after God made the earth there was no sun or moon. God says that He created the plant life on Earth on the third day, and then created the sun, moon and stars on the fourth day. If you try to meld the two, which some foolishly try to do; then I have to wonder how the plants, that thrive making their food by way of photosynthesis from sunlight could have possibly have survived for millions of years without the sun. In addition to that, according to the Biblical account, the animals that would be the pollinators of the plants were created either on the fifth or sixth day.

Evolution thought tells us that birds evolved from reptiles. The Creation account has the birds being created the day before any of the land animals; that includes the reptiles. Whales are created on the fifth day along with the fish all other aquatic animals according to God's testimony whereas evolution says that whales supposedly came millions of years after where the Bible places them; namely, with the fish. And we also see that there is a time factor. Time is what evolution is built upon; without time as a factor, evolution crumbles into the dust from whence it came. The Creation Account doesn't have to rely on time because an all-powerful God can create anything He wants to in a very short amount of time. So, we can see that there is no parallel between the Creation Model and the evolutionary thought.

Some Unique Antediluvian Earth Features:

Ask any Bible scholar about the condition of the Earth before the flood of Noah and they'll tell you that things were very different on this planet. Let me clarify that a little. I meant that if you asked any Christian Bible Scholar. There are many people who study the Bible, both in the worldly setting and in a pseudo-Christian setting that will tell you differently. I refer to those who hold to the truth that the Bible is the inerrant Word of God; not those imposters who claim the name Christian, but who take scripture out of context or those who change the wording of the Bible to suit their agenda.

The Water or Ice Canopy:

In Genesis we find a very interesting scripture that, when studied in depth, lends a lot of explanation to some of the extraordinary claims made about the earth and it's inhabitants in antediluvian times. The following scripture is sort of odd and has been explained in different ways, but let's look at it and then examine it:

And God said, "Let there be an firmament in the midst of the waters, and let it separate the waters from the waters." And God made the firmament and separated the waters that were under the firmament from the waters that were above the firmament. And it was so. And God called the firmament Heaven. And there was evening and there was morning, the second day. And God said, "Let the waters under the heavens be gathered together into one place, and let the dry land appear." And it was so. God called the dry land Earth, and the waters that were gathered together he called Seas. And God saw that it was good. Genesis 1:6-9

In this scripture, we can see that God made three different (four if you count the dry land) parts of the outer world. The first one is the “firmament in the midst of the waters.” this firmament was made to separate the waters from the waters. This is not the dry land. That would be made later. There is now water under the firmament and water above the Firmament. The firmament is the atmosphere. For many years those who thought they knew better taught that the waters above the expanse were actually the clouds. There is no indication that clouds ever existed before the flood. We’ll look at that statement in a little while.

God’s Word is quite explicit, especially where God himself explains things. God specifically commanded that there be water above the firmament. He never commanded it to be “in” the firmament. He talks about the birds, commanding that they should fly “in” the firmament, but commands the waters to be only below it, and above it. Thus we have a water, or perhaps an ice canopy.

There would be certain advantages to having a water canopy above the earth’s atmosphere. First, it would shield the earth from Ultra Violet rays. It is well known that ultraviolet rays cause cancer in some individuals and they, along with other rays are responsible for the breakdown of things on earth. These rays burn your skin, they fade colors and their constant bombardment on your body cause you to age. Your body has to constantly work harder to replace the cells that UV and other rays destroy during the daylight hours. Because the effects of harmful rays would have been greatly minimized and perhaps eliminated altogether, people and animals would live much longer lives. This would explain the long life-spans we read about in Genesis. It would also explain the dinosaurs. It is a common fact that reptiles never stop growing. Given a garden atmosphere, constant warm temperatures and any lizard could grow to be a monster, or a dinosaur, especially if it lived a thousand or more years.

A water canopy above the earth would have made for a denser air pressure on earth. A higher air pressure would have many benefits. Among them would be that a person could have much more endurance because the higher pressure would enable the lungs to use oxygen much more efficiently. It could help in the healing process too. Studies have shown that people who have been placed in a barometric chamber after injuries have healed much faster than if they hadn't been put there. Barometric chambers have been used to treat people with gangrene, frostbite and other ailments that would have caused the loss of limbs had they not been treated with high pressure.

A water canopy would have created a greenhouse effect on earth. The temperature would have been the same all around the world, with perhaps a small temperature variance between the poles and the equator. Because of the greenhouse effect, there would have been no rain or snow storms or destructive winds. Storms are created by the heating and cooling of air masses, but with a constant temperature this would not have happened. Plants would have grown to enormous size because the higher pressure would have allowed the stoma of the plants to open much more allowing greater respiration and better photosynthesis. Insects would have grown much larger than they do today. Insects breath through their skin and their body size determines how much oxygen they can absorb through their exoskeleton. If the atmospheric pressure was higher all insects would naturally be larger because their surface body could increase with the increased pressure to enter their Biosystems. The fantastic thing is that the fossil record bears witness to the fact that animals were larger before the flood. This too works against evolutionary theory because according to their prophets, conditions on earth have always been the same, and if that were to be true, then the fossils that we should be finding would be similar in size to the plants and animals that are living on earth today.

No Actual Rain Before the Flood:

It is understood by most biblical scholars that it didn't rain before the flood of Noah, as we can see by one little scripture:

These are the generations of the heavens and of the earth when they were created, in the day that the LORD God made the earth and the heavens, And every plant of the field before it was in the earth, and every herb of the field before it grew: for the LORD God had not caused it to rain upon the earth, and there was not a man to till the ground. But there went up a mist from the earth, and watered the whole face of the ground. Genesis 2:4-6

Bearing this in mind, it is now easy to understand how Noah was ridiculed for building an ark on dry land. Aside from the belief that most hold, the land to sea ratio was reversed before the flood (lots of land and few seas) and Noah might have been hundreds of miles from any significant body of water; the ancients probably had never seen rain. Imagine trying to preach to people that God was going to destroy the whole earth with rain and flood when they had never seen either.

I always wondered how the mist would work and how it would know every day to go off. Did God have some sort of elaborate sprinkler system, or did He build into His creation something more complicated. Also, if there was more land than water before the flood, where did all of the seas come from? My answers came when I read about what is called the "Hydro-plate Theory." Put in simplest terms, the hydro-plate theory suggests that before the flood, the continent(s) of the earth rode upon a large reservoir of water. That is all well and good, but how does that explain how the mist came up to water the earth? Well, I believe the Lord has given me that answer. Anyone who has lived around the sea is familiar with what are called tides. The tides are affected by the sun and the moon. The gravitational attraction of both bodies pull on the oceans and seas to cause them to rise and fall. In any 24-hour period there are two high tides and two low tides.

Now, let's remember that if the hydro-plate theory is correct, and the crust of the earth was riding on underground water, then every time there would be a high tide, the crust of the earth would have been lifted ever so slightly by the gravitational force of the moon or sun. When the low tide arrived, that same crust would be let back down on the underground water source, forcing water to come up out of fissures in the earth. It was a natural pump. Depending on the amount of water under the crust and how fast or slow the crust was forced back down on that water, there could have been a spray that would have come up out of those fissures and it could have risen perhaps a thousand feet into the air, perhaps more. It would not really have time to condense into larger drops and it would settle on all of the surrounding landmass as a fine mist. Notice that the scripture says that the mist, "watered the whole face of the ground." That would suggest that there were many fissures around the globe and each one would work just like a super water sprinkler system. The ancients probably could time the watering cycles quite accurately, just like in modern days we can tell exactly when high and low tides will occur on our ocean coastlines.

And it came to pass after seven days, that the waters of the flood were upon the earth. In the six hundredth year of Noah's life, in the second month, the seventeenth day of the month, the same day were all the fountains of the great deep broken up, and the windows of heaven were opened. And the rain was upon the earth forty days and forty nights. In the selfsame day entered Noah, and Shem, and Ham, and Japheth, the sons of Noah, and

Noah's wife, and the three wives of his sons with them, into the ark; They, and every beast after his kind, and all the cattle after their kind, and every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth after his kind, and every fowl after his kind, every bird of every sort. And they went in unto Noah into the ark, two and two of all flesh, wherein is the breath of life. And they that went in, went in male and female of all flesh, as God had commanded him: and the LORD shut him in. And the flood was forty days upon the earth; and the waters increased, and bare up the ark, and it was lift up above the earth. And the waters prevailed, and were increased greatly upon the earth; and the ark went upon the face of the waters. And the waters prevailed exceedingly upon the earth; and all the high hills, that were under the whole heaven, were covered. Fifteen cubits upward did the waters prevail; and the mountains were covered. And all flesh died that moved upon the earth, both of fowl, and of cattle, and of beast, and of every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth, and every man: All in whose nostrils was the breath of life, of all that was in the dry land, died. And every living substance was destroyed which was upon the face of the ground, both man, and cattle, and the creeping things, and the fowl of the heaven; and they were destroyed from the earth: and Noah only remained alive, and they that were with him in the ark. And the waters prevailed upon the earth an hundred and fifty days. Genesis 7:10-24

The Hydro-Plate Theory:

Another interesting notion to think about where the hydro-plate theory is concerned, is how it played into the great flood itself. As we have seen in the scripture above, it didn't rain before the flood. It's also safe to assume that there were probably no clouds then either; at least not like we know clouds to be today. Therefore, when the rains came to flood the earth they didn't come from clouds. Where did they come from? Someone has suggested, and I think it to be quite valid, that something entered the atmosphere; probably a large comet or a small asteroid and it shattered the water/ice canopy which surrounded the earth. If the canopy were made of ice crystals the canopy could have shattered like a large piece of glass. The pieces of ice canopy would have melted from the friction of falling to the earth and turned to rain. When the object (comet or asteroid) finally reached the earth, it would have hit with such force that it would have put tremendous pressure on the crust that was floating on the subterranean water. The crust, being pushed down with such force would force the underground water through many fissures and the crust would have broken allowing great amounts of water to escape at very high velocity. No one can be certain how fast or far the water could have sprayed, but hundreds of thousands of feet in height would not be out of the realm of possibility. The earth would look like a broken egg shell with the water coming up through the fissures. Today we know those fissures to be the fault lines that make up the tectonic plate boundaries. The continent(s) would be covered in a very short period of time from the rains and the water coming from the fountains of the deep.

Where Did All of The Water Go?

So where did all of the flood water go? Well, it's right in the oceans, rivers and lakes. The crust no longer had water under it to hold it up so some of it collapsed to fill in the void that the water had left when it was ejected out from underneath. With no ice/water canopy to keep the earth one temperature, great fluctuations occurred in temperature. Glaciers and snow packs appeared within days at both poles, locking up a lot of the flood water. This is what is called the Ice Age, but it was very short and there was only one. As the years went on the ice slowly melted and separated the land masses that were once all joined together. It was once possible to walk all around the world and not get wet. There is an interesting scripture that we'll touch on and then we'll get back on track.

And unto Eber were born two sons: the name of one was Peleg; for in his days was the earth divided; and his brother's name was Joktan. Genesis 10:25

The name Peleg is a very interesting one. The name, when translated actually means "divided." The Hebrew word has two distinctive definitions of "divided." It can either mean divided, as one would divide a pie into pieces; or it can mean divided as in channeled by water. Venice Italy would be a good way to describe the second definition. It can also be used to mean both at the same time. It would be akin to describing a skiing trip as being "real cool." It could mean that it was a lot of fun (cool) or that it was actually cool in temperature, which would both be true.

Okay now, Noah had three sons; Ham, Shem and Japheth. Ham had a son named Cush and Cush had a son named Nimrod. Nimrod is the one responsible for building the tower of Babel. Just from a short glimpse of the genealogies it seems that the persons of importance mentioned (especially in the lineage of Messiah) all seemed to be born when their fathers were in their thirties. We don't know how old Ham was when his wife gave birth to Cush, but let's assume that Cush was born two years after the flood ended. Then let's assume that Cush was 30 years old when Nimrod was born. And we'll assume that Nimrod started his building of Babylon and it's tower when he was in his late twenties; we'll say 27 years old. So it's within the realm of possibility that Nimrod started building Babylon and its tower as soon as 59 years after Noah and his family exited the ark.

In Shem's line Arphaxad was probably third in line of birth because he is listed third in the genealogy. So, let's be fair and say that Arphaxad was born five years after Noah and his family exited the ark. He was 35 years old when his wife gave birth to Salah. Salah was 30 years old when his wife gave birth to Eber (which is where the name Hebrew comes from). Eber was 34 years old when Peleg was born to him. But we have to remember that names of children are usually given right after the child is born, so if Peleg means division then the division his name is referring to happened most likely when he was still in his mother's womb. So, doing the math, the division happened most likely 103 or so years after Noah's family left the ark. That means that Nimrod was had ample time (44 years or so) to build not only Babylon but to have the Tower of Babel well under way.

These figures work out well for several reasons. As mentioned, it gave mankind enough time to become degenerated yet again, to the point of totally rejecting the God who saved their ancestors from the world before. It gave them time to build the city and tower. The temperature of the earth was not yet in stasis, and the ice at the poles had not yet started to melt in any major way. So, by the time that Peleg was born, the confusion of tongues had occurred and probably the creation of the different families and colors too. Also, because of the actions of God, the dispersion of the different families around the world had occurred. The ancestors of the Native Americans had reached the western world; the ancestors of the mongoloid peoples had reached eastern Asia; the ancestors of the black African peoples had reached Africa and the descendants of the Caucasians had reached Eurasia and some had just stayed in the Middle East. Just before Peleg was born the ice caps and glaciers started to melt because earth's environment had reached stasis and the ocean basins finally started to fill up to where they are today. My personal thoughts are that this is when many of the great mountain ranges were formed. They were made to be natural barriers to separate peoples and tongues. Many will argue with that premise, saying that the geologic forces necessary to make such barriers would have caused events that would be recorded in history. But when you take into account that the human race is debating whether the holocaust ever happened just a scant sixty years ago, who's to say that such things as mountains raising in a week's time would be remembered or recorded.

GLOBAL WARMING IN THE MODERN ERA:

Let's face it, if you haven't heard about global warming they you're either ignorant or you've lived in some remote village in that has no access to any news. Myself, I tend to ignore the global warming scenario. There are just too many scientists running around with too many scenarios to believe that any one is true. On the flip side, we now have scientists running around shouting from the housetops that we are soon going to enter into a new ice age. Considering those things and taking into account that the same community that is feeding us all of these different plates of garbage are the same ones who are trying to tell us that all that lives had a common ancestor in some primordial goo pond several billions of years ago, I have to have my doubts.

The only thing I can trust is the word of Yeshua who said that when he returns, it will be as in the days of Noah. And I can't deny the fact that there was a greenhouse effect on earth before the flood because the Bible says that it was that way. So, on the words of Yeshua, and his written word, The Bible, I have to come to the conclusion that there will be some sort of global warming in these last days. As to the cause of this warming, I really can't pin down any one cause. Many in the environmental movements are bent on blaming the emission of pollutants from the burning of fossil fuels, and to some extent that may be correct. But I will also have to say that I suspect that the Earth goes through cycles from time to time. My guess is that what we are going through now is a natural effect, and one that has to happen for our planet to be like it was during the days of Noah. We have to ask however is, is mankind via science aiding in the process.

I would be remiss in not mentioning modern weather control. It is pretty well an established fact that mankind is trying to change weather here on earth, and like almost everything else, mankind seems to have attained the ability to control the weather in order to use it as a weapon. If you do not believe this, just look up into the sky on many a clear day and you will notice airplanes crisscrossing the sky leaving behind them what are known as chemtrails. Today as I write this paragraph I have noticed through my window the laying down of chemtrails and I have watched a blue sky turn a silver color from the dispersal of whatever it is that they release in those chemical trails.

If this planet does experience a global warming effect due to large amounts of carbon dioxide in the upper atmosphere, or if the process is aided by manipulating the atmosphere, the results will not be the same as they were before the flood. Temperature wise it will get warmer, but there will be no canopy of ice to stop the harmful rays from reaching the ground and effecting the people who walk on it, live on it and die on it. In addition to that, science tells us that we're slowly destroying the ozone layer that surrounds the earth, although there is some indication that the process is reversing itself. This layer also protects us from the sun's harmful rays. I find it interesting that two of the plagues found in the Book of Revelation have to do with heat and effects of the sun. The first one to mention is the plague of severe heat that will torment the people of earth. The second plague will be hideous boils and skin lesions on people who accept the mark of the beast. Could those lesions and sores really be cancer and burns from the sun's rays that will not be blocked anymore during this time? In addition, could it be that the metals that are being introduced into the atmosphere will cause cancerous boils? I find both to be plausible assumptions. What one has to find comforting is that the plagues that God will send upon the Earth will not affect anyone who has God's seal on them.

So, the premise of this study is to realize that there was a condition of global warmth that existed before the flood of Noah. Yeshua said that conditions upon his return will be just as they were in the days of Noah; that is, before the worldwide flood that killed all life and drastically changed the geography of this world. It's an established fact that some sort of global warming event is happening currently on Earth. Whether this warming is human induced, or some sort of cyclical event is anyone's guess; especially since various groups of scientists have many different views on the matter. In contrast to the paradise that existed before the flood, the current global warming event will lead to many woes; including sicknesses and a decimation of all life on this planet. The first globally warm event brought blessings to the planet whereas the second global warming event will be part of the judgment of God upon a perverse and wicked population. But those of us who trust in Yeshua and have invited him into our hearts will be protected from what is to come. If you haven't made such a decision, you might want to check out our "what must I do to be saved" link on the Delusion Resistance website.

CHAPTER SEVEN

PSYCHEDELIC DRUGS AND SPIRITUAL JOURNEYS

What Do the Ancient Texts Tell Us?

As we've mentioned before, the Biblical texts are pretty vague about the antediluvian world. There are hints here and there about conditions, but nothing quite clear; no history is really mentioned. There are some people, including myself who would like to know more about the times in which these things happened. There are some well-known books that talk a little about the history of these times, as that history has been passed down by tradition and in writings. A couple of these books are the writings of Josephus and also that of Philo; both historians of a high caliber. These two writers are accepted by both Jews and Christians alike and they are referred to in many works.

Another book that receives less recognition is the book of 1 Enoch. It was revered by the Jewish community, from about 400 BCE till about 400 CE, as being a historical book. When it was omitted from canon by the Council of Nicaea, its support waned and gradually its popularity fell by the wayside. The Book of Judah, found in the Brit Hadasha, chapter 1, verses 6-7, refers to Enoch. Judah account about the fallen angels of Genesis and how they are punished. Chapter 1:14-15 gives a direct quote from the book of Enoch. So if Judah, the brother of Yeshua thought Enoch worthy enough to quote from, perhaps we should see it worthy of some attention. Helping the Book of Enoch's cause is the fact that it has been found in the Dead Sea Scrolls. So in this author's opinion, I see it as worthwhile for one to use some of the extra-biblical books to enforce scripture. Again, this should be done only if two things occur with the use of those books. The books and their content MUST bear witness with what is written in scripture, and they must bear witness to the Ruach Ha Kodesh, and His ministry in the Body of Christ. The Book of Enoch, the Book of Jared, the Book of Jubilees and the Testament of The Patriarchs all seem to follow that course. As far as I can tell, the others (non-canonical books) are perversions of the truth, or at best just embellished stories.

Let's Look at Drugs:

It's an unfortunate and sad fact that drug use is interwoven throughout all aspects of our society. Drugs aren't just limited to the pharmacy realm of things, but are found everywhere. Many people have to have a cup of coffee in the morning so that they can function. In turn, many people drink a glass of wine at night to take the edge off of the day so that they can fall asleep easier. Some take analgesics daily for life's little aches and pains while others take fiber laden preparations to help their body to digest food and to make the elimination of waste products a bit easier. Some people take drugs to counteract the effects of the other drugs that they are taking. Yes, drugs play a major role in our individual lives and in society as a whole. That in itself is a bit of a problem, but it is just an omen, so to speak, of the real problem, illicit drug use.

Drugs in the United States fall into three categories. The first category is called the "controlled substance" category. The categories range from one to five; the lower the number, the greater potential for abuse and addiction. Schedule I drugs are the illegal drugs; things like heroin, LSD, many forms of cocaine, marijuana and others. Schedule II drugs are still highly addictive, but proved to be less addictive than the first schedule; drugs like morphine, methadone, Demerol and others. Schedule III drugs have less abuse potential; things like steroids, low dose codeine and others. Schedule IV drugs are less addictive and Schedule V drugs aren't very worrisome. The second category of drugs are the maintenance drugs; things which require a prescription and are used for acute conditions and long-term treatment of chronic ailments. This category includes heart medications, antibiotics and anything else that improve the quality of life or maintain it. The third category of drugs are called OTC, or Over the Counter drugs; things that can be purchased by the public without a prescription.

Medications haven't always been controlled by the government. This is evidenced by drug abuse in the late 19th century and the early 20th century. Opium dens were popular in many parts of the U.S. until they were made illegal. Morphine made many people into addicts until it was put under restrictions. Cocaine was an ingredient of Coca Cola for the first few years it was produced. But as doctors and law makers saw how these agents effected our society they moved quickly to restrict them to prescribed use only. Our forefathers knew that drug abuse was slavery to the drug, that it was akin to idol worship and that those who are addicted will commit crimes when they're not able to afford their addiction.

Are Drugs Really Innocuous?

The answer to that question is pretty easy to state. I can say that because there were many of us who experimented with illicit drugs many years ago when we were young. Some of us learned the hard way about drugs. Some of us had friends that died way too young as a result of car wrecks, overdoses or violence brought about by the use of drugs. Some of us (praise YHVH) finally realized, either through bad experiences, or hearing the voice of the Ruach Ha Kodesh, that we were ruining our lives and we stopped taking drugs. A scant few still have not figured it out and are stuck in a culture that only leads to destruction or death if YHVH doesn't intervene.

But the interesting thing that must be looked at is the meaning of the word “Pharmacy.” But before we look at that word, let me preface my saying that there are a lot of things in this world that can be used moderately, and in that instance, those things can be useful. On the flip side of the coin, those same things, if taken to excess, or taken out of their originally intended purpose, can be malevolent to a person. With that said, let’s look at the word “pharmacy;” its meanings and their implications:

pharmakeia – Strongs G5331

1) the use or the administering of drugs

2) poisoning

3) sorcery, magical arts, often found in connection with idolatry and fostered by it

4) metaph. the deceptions and seductions of idolatry

In the Brit Hadasha (New Covenant) the word translates out to be sorcery and witchcraft. In the Greek language, it also meant “drug administration,” or “poisoning.” So the word has four meanings, but only one is used in the Brit Hadasha. I want to point out that the word has four meanings simply because it is sometimes misconstrued that since the word could mean sorcery or witchcraft, that is not always the meaning to the word. So, if you go to a pharmacy to pick up something that the doctor has ordered for you, keep in mind that the pharmacist probably is not a witch or a sorcerer. Many pharmacists are God fearing people and they love Yeshua Ha Mashiach. A simple way to remember it is this: if you’re taking legal drugs legally, then you’re involved in definition number one. However, if you’re taking illicit drugs then you’re probably practicing sorcery; and if you can’t live without the drug, then it’s probably an idol in your life.

A good definition of the malevolent form of pharmakeia was found on a Baptist website that talks about the last days:

The Bible clearly declares that the occultism of the last days will be related to the use of drugs. "Pharmakeia" is a Greek word which means "enchantment with drugs". It is translated as witchcraft in Gal. 5:20 and as sorceries in Rev. 9:21 and 18:23. A slightly different form of the word is translated sorcerers in Rev. 21:8 and 22:15. These scriptures in the prophetic portion of Revelation definitely show that this will be widespread in the last days. "Pharmakeia" is the root word from which we derive our word pharmacy. This should be warning enough, to cause everyone to avoid the use of illicit drugs. Source: [http://www.tbaptist.com/aab/theoccult.htm]

Building upon the text from our Baptist brothers, I think that it is important to look at the definition of the word enchantment. The word "enchant" is used in our contemporary society in a variety of situational aspects; many times to describe captivation by the opposite sex. A word study however shows that while the contemporary use of the word does have some truth, the true meaning of the word holds more sinister aspects:

Main Entry: en·chant - Pronunciation: in-'chant, en-

Function: transitive verb

Etymology: Middle English, from Anglo-French enchanter, from Latin incantare, from in- + cantare to sing.

1: to influence by or as if by charms and incantation: BEWITCH

And if we want to be clear concerning the meaning of incantation:

Main Entry: in-can-ta-tion - Pronunciation: "in-"kan-'tA-sh&n

Function: noun

Etymology: Middle English incantacioun, from Middle French incantation, from Late Latin incantation-, incantatio, from Latin incantare to enchant

: a use of spells or verbal charms spoken or sung as a part of a ritual of magic; also : a written or recited formula of words designed to produce a particular effect

And we also have to know what “charms” means:

Main Entry: charm

Pronunciation: 'chärm

Function: noun

Etymology: Middle English charme, from Anglo-French, from Latin carmen song, from canere to sing

1 a: the chanting or reciting of a magic spell : INCANTATION b : a practice or expression believed to have magic power

2: something worn about the person to ward off evil or ensure good fortune : AMULET

Now we can put it all together. If “pharmakeia” is associated with sorcery and witchcraft; and if its meaning is “enchantment with drugs,” then what can we make of this? If the meaning of enchant is to influence by incantation or charms, it means that the person taking the illicit drugs is trying to influence something or someone. We really can’t associate the taking of drugs with any verbal charm or incantation, can we? Well, no, not a verbal enchantment; but the act of taking the drug is an invitation; a sort of nonverbal way of saying, "I relinquish my control of my faculties to anyone who wants to take control of them." Many things can be said without words actually coming out of a person's mouth. If I was a police officer, standing in the middle of an intersection I could say a lot without talking. I could make one motion and the cars can start moving or I could make another motion and the cars would all stop and so on. If I was a signalman on a naval ship I could say all kinds of things without talking. I could move hand flags around in such a way that the person trained to read it could interpret my signals. I could flash the signal lights to another ship and communicate quite effectively. In the same way, snorting a line of coke, or sticking a needle in a vein or putting a dot of LSD under the tongue sends a signal to forces unseen that the user wants to escape from reality. I think the point is proven.

Hallucinogenic and The Spiritual Realm:

It's no secret that there are many different types of hallucinogenic drugs available today. Things like psilocybin mushrooms, peyote (mescaline) cactus and a variety of other plants grow out in the wild and have been used for millennia by shaman's, witchdoctors and other tribal spiritualists to see into the spiritual world and in an attempt to get advice and guidance from beings in that realm. What immediately follows is a short description of hallucinogenic drugs as they are used by primitive cultures around the world:

What are Hallucinogenic Plants?

In his search for food, early man tried all kinds of plants. Some nourished him, some, he found, cured his ills, and some killed him. A few, to his surprise, had strange effects on his mind and body, seeming to carry him into other worlds. We call these plants hallucinogens, because they distort the senses and usually produce hallucinations – experiences that depart from reality. Although most hallucinations are visual, they may also involve the senses of hearing, touch, smell, or taste – and occasionally several senses simultaneously are involved.

The actual causes of such hallucinations are chemical substances in the plants. These substances are true narcotics. Contrary to popular opinion, not all narcotics are dangerous and addictive. Strictly and etymologically speaking, a narcotic is any substance that has a depressive effect, whether slight or great, on the central nervous system.

Narcotics that induce hallucinations are variously called hallucinogens (hallucination generators), psychotomimetics (psychosis mimickers), psychotaxics (mind disturbers), and psychedelics (mind manifesters). No one term fully satisfies scientists, but hallucinogens come closest. Psychedelic is most widely used in the United States, but it combines two Greek roots incorrectly, is biologically unsound, and has acquired popular meanings beyond the drugs or their effects.

In the history of mankind, hallucinogens have probably been the most important of all the narcotics. Their fantastic effects made them sacred to primitive man and may even have been responsible for suggesting to him the idea of deity.

HALLUCINOGENS IN PRIMITIVE SOCIETIES

Makuna Indian medicine man under influence of caapi (ayahuasca or yaje) prepared from bark of Banisteriopsis caapi.

Hallucinogens permeate nearly every aspect of life in primitive societies. They play roles in health and sickness, peace and war, home life and travel, hunting and agriculture; they affect relations among individuals, villages, and tribes. They are believed to influence life before birth and after death.

MEDICAL AND RELIGIOUS USES of hallucinogenic plants are particularly important in primitive societies. Aboriginal people attribute sickness and health to the working of spirit forces. Consequently, any "medicine" that can transport man to the spirit world is considered by many aborigines to be better than one with purely physical effects.

Psychic powers have also been attributed to hallucinogens and have become an integral part of primitive religions. All over the world hallucinogenic plants are used as mediators between man and his gods. The prophecies of the oracle of Delphi, for example, are thought to have been induced through hallucinogens.

OTHER ABORIGINAL USES of hallucinogens vary from one primitive culture to another. Many hallucinogenic plants are basic to the initiation rituals of adolescents. The Algonquin Indians gave an intoxicating medicine, wysoccan, to their young men, who then became violently deranged for 20 days. During this period, they lost all memory, starting manhood by forgetting they had been boys. The iboga root in Gabon and caapi in the Amazon are also used in such rituals.

In South America, many tribes take ayahuasca to foresee the future, settle disputes, decipher enemy plans, cast or remove spells, or insure the fidelity of their women. Sensations of death and separation of body and soul are sometimes experienced during a dreamlike trance.

The hallucinogenic properties of Datura have been thoroughly exploited, particularly in the New World. In Mexico and in the Southwest, Datura is used in divination, prophecy, and ritualistic curing.

Modern Mexican Indians value certain mushrooms as sacraments and use morning glories and the peyote cactus to predict the future, diagnose and cure disease, and placate good and evil spirits.

The Mixtecs of Mexico eat puffballs to hear voices from heaven that answer their questions. The Waikás of Brazil and Venezuela snuff the powdered resin of a jungle tree to ritualize death, induce a trance for diagnosing disease, and thank the spirits for victory in war. The Witotos of Colombia eat the same powerful resin to “talk with the little people.” Peruvian medicine men drink cimora to make themselves owners of another’s identity. Indians of eastern Brazil drink jurema to have glorious visions of the spirit world before going into battle with their enemies. Source:

Hallucinogens – “There is nothing new under the sun”

I can remember the 1970’s quite clearly; that in itself being a miracle seeing that I wasn’t very lucid during that time, nor was I inclined toward YHVH. It was pretty easy to get any drug that you wanted, including LSD and mescaline. We were well acquainted with Timothy Leary’s phrase; “Turn on, Tune in, Drop Out.” We thought we were the enlightened ones; a generation that was really getting back to nature and ultimately the gods of nature. Had we done some study we would have realized that what we were doing had been practiced for years, centuries and millennia; a practice as old as time itself.

The thing that hath been, it is that which shall be; and that which is done is that which shall be done: and there is no new thing under the sun. Ecclesiastes 1:9

We were rebelling against our parents, our society and against YHVH; but we were only hurting ourselves, separating ourselves from the maker of the universe. I think that what we were doing is we were showing YHVH that we were tired of not seeing him, tired of not having our shallow prayers answered, and tired of waiting for Yeshua's return. We found that by taking hallucinogenic drugs, we could enter the spiritual world and demand an audience with YHVH; but the entities that many of my contemporaries found were not YHVH; but his adversaries, his sworn enemies who posed as wise ones, as enlightened beings, but were really liars, frauds and malcontents.

These so-called malcontents; those who rebelled against YHVH at the beginning have thought of many ways to deceive mankind. We've touched on many of those ways in other articles. Remember, that Yeshua himself said that:

And as it was in the days of Noe, so shall it be also in the days of the Son of man. Luke 17:26

So, it doesn't take someone educated in rocket science to figure out that what He was saying is that when His return is imminent, society will be just like it was in the days of Noah. Well, in one of our articles we looked at how men used to make a drink that they made their women drink so that they would remain barren and retain their figures. That was a definite abuse of a drug. But there were those who used hallucinogenic compounds before the flood, and it was taught to them by the fallen angels. Let's take a look at the proof as seen in the Book of Enoch:

1. And all the others together with them took unto themselves wives, and each chose for himself one, and they began to go in unto them and to defile themselves with them, and they taught them charms

2. and enchantments, and the cutting of roots, and made them acquainted with plants.

Enoch 7:1-2

And also:

1 And Azazel taught men to make swords, and knives, and shields, and breastplates, and made known to them the metals of the earth and the art of working them, and bracelets, and ornaments, and the use of antimony, and the beautifying of the eyelids, and all kinds of costly stones, and all

2 colouring tinctures. And there arose much godlessness, and they committed fornication, and they

3 were led astray, and became corrupt in all their ways. Semjaza taught enchantments, and root-cuttings, 'Armaros the resolving of enchantments, Baraqijal (taught) astrology, Kokabel the constellations, Ezeqeel the knowledge of the clouds, Araquel the signs of the earth, Shamsiel the signs of the sun, and Sariel the course of the moon. And as men perished, they cried, and their cry went up to heaven . . . Enoch 8:1-3

So, what the first passage is saying is that the angels taught their wives (and probably other women) chanting magical spells, and how to influence others by chanting magical spells, and they taught them how cut roots and how to use plants. We understand well enough about casting spells and most of us know that there are those who in contemporary times use spells in an attempt to influence others. Today that is known as witchcraft, or if you're really in the know, you call it Wicca.

But one has to ask something about that passage. Why would the angels have to teach antediluvian society about plants? I mean after all, although there was probably a highly technological society before the flood, their society was based on agriculture. Adam, the father of us all, was a gardener, and later a farmer. I'm sure that he knew everything that there was to know about plants and all of their wonderful uses. His son Cain tilled the ground and when he was sent away and dwelt in the land of Nod he brought his knowledge with him and I'm sure that he taught his children the art of farming. Adam and his descendants which are listed in the Bible lived well into the antediluvian period, so the knowledge was not lost due to the death of a key holder of that knowledge. So, why would the angels come down and teach the daughters of men all of these things? Well bear in mind, that it says that they taught the daughters, not the sons. The sons of men were already farmers and knew all about the land. It has to mean that the women were taught special use of plants; uses that were out of the ordinary.

We then skip on down to Enoch, the 8th chapter and see that the angels weren't happy with teaching women about enchantments and extraordinary use of plants; they taught the men also. The text says that only did the angels teach the men about enchantments, but they taught men how to "resolve" enchantments. The word "resolve" is very interesting. A quick search of the Webster's On-Line Dictionary yielded the follow result:

Main Entry: re·solve - Pronunciation: ri-'zäv, -'zolv also -'zäv or -'zov

Function: verb

Inflected Form(s): re·solved; re·solv·ing

Etymology: Middle English, from Latin resolvere to unloose, dissolve, from re- + solvere to loosen, release — more at SOLVE

transitive verb

1 obsolete: DISSOLVE, MELT

2 a: BREAK UP, SEPARATE <the prism resolved the light into a play of color>; also : to change by disintegration b : to reduce by analysis <resolve the problem into simple elements> c : to distinguish between or make independently visible adjacent parts of d : to separate (a racemic compound or mixture) into the two components

3: to cause resolution of (a pathological state)

4 a: to deal with successfully : clear up <resolve doubts> <resolve a dispute> b : to find an answer to c : to make clear or understandable d : to find a mathematical solution of e : to split up (as a vector) into two or more components especially in assigned directions

The definition of this word presents us with two possible scenarios for the passage in Enoch, Chapter Eight. If we were to use the obsolete definition of “resolve” we could assume that while the first angel taught men how to cast spells, the second angel taught them how to dispel the enchantments. In modern terms, it could be explained as one witch casting a spell on a person, and that person going to another witch and having them cast a spell that negates the first spell. This sort of thing is becoming more and plainer as our society spirals down from rationalism into the black hole of superstition.

The second definition is possible too and could coexist with the first one. In this scenario, each incantation would be broken down into its constituent properties, analyzed and then refined.

Many people, including myself, do this when doing Greek and Hebrew word studies of the Bible. We see a scripture that isn't clear and we study each word. If a word is not clear, we study it and find that it has maybe three or more related meanings. We take the three meanings and compare them with the scriptures before our study scripture and the scriptures behind it. The word that best works in context with the rest of the scripture is the one we tend to adhere to.

Where a spell is concerned, the person involved in the occult can take maybe five spells and tailor make a spell that would work for their purpose. They would break down each spell and resolve it, meaning that they would break them down into parts and pieces. Then, just like taking ingredients from a spice rack during cooking, they would take what they wanted to make a designer spell. A good analogy that we men can understand is one of a wrecking yard for cars. Now, I can go there and get the chassis of a Toyota truck, and a Chevy 350 engine for its power plant and then a racing transmission from another car and a high speed rear end for the back wheels. The result would be a hybrid truck that I would probably wrap around some telephone pole later that afternoon. Just kidding folks. You get the idea; all of those cars were broken down (resolved) into their basic constituents and I designed what I wanted from those parts. Well, maybe you folks living outside of California can understand anyway. They don't let us tweak cars here anymore.

I have to admit that I was sort of puzzled about the root cuttings which are mentioned in both passages. If you do a search of the internet and look for root cuttings you'll come to all sorts of agricultural sites that talk about propagation of plants using the cuttings of roots from a parent plant. That seems fairly innocuous, doesn't it? And again, why would the angels have to teach farmers about propagation by root cuttings, something that some antediluvian farmer would have figured out anyway, or that perhaps Adam would have known already. He was not born some ignorant country bumpkin, but with great knowledge and highly intelligent. What is going on here???

For an adequate answer we have to use the skill of word study that we looked at just above. We have to take a word and place it in context with the surrounding words. In both passages from Enoch, the words root cuttings are associated with enchantments, and in the first passage it is equated with charms too. So one has to come the conclusion that the cutting of roots in antediluvian society is something different than asexual propagation of plant life; it has to have some sort of occult significance. Interestingly enough, there is a psychedelic root, that of the African Iboga plant, used by shaman's in West Africa.

Implications for the Western World?

Goodness, where do I begin in answering that question? It seems that every year the world leaves the realm of rationalism and wanders haphazardly into the world of the superstitious, or the occult supernatural. Society in general has been conditioned to believe in the supernatural through written media, television and Hollywood. Knowledge of the unseen world is not in itself a bad thing, but those who have written the secret agenda for this world have mentored the masses in the dark side of the supernatural, making evil seem like goodness, thus turning the Kingdom of God, Aveinu, Yeshua and the Ruach Ha Kodesh into some sort of evil entity in the eyes of an unsuspecting public. One of the many facets of the New Age realm is to get people acquainted with the gods of the New Age. These gods (spelled with a small 'g' on purpose) are nothing but the fallen angels of old, and their offspring, the spirits of the Nephilim, also known as demons. One way that the New Age advocates the introduction of mankind to these entities is by the use of hallucinogenic drugs. Remember, that the New Age believes that the old ways of the shaman and witch doctor are really the true ways to enlightenment. So, if those individuals are using natural hallucinogenic drugs to meet with these supposed “ascended masters,” “spirit guides,” or whatever name that they ascribe to these fallen angels and demons, then they will endorse them (the drugs) wholeheartedly.

It would probably not be a surprise to anyone that I pick up and read UFO Magazine when it hits the newsstands. In the May 2007 issue there was a very interesting article which I will pull excerpts from. I’m going to pull the information from the article for a reason that really clicks with this article about modern society mimicking the Days of Noah. The article is titled, “There’s a Door in Your Head, Part II: Meetings with Ancient Teachers of Mankind.” The authors are; Dr. Bob and Zohara Hieronimus. In the article they talk extensively about a book titled: “Supernatural Meetings with Ancient Teachers of Mankind,” authored by Graham Hancock; (The Disinformation Company, 2006). The excerpts of the book that we will note deal with Mr. Hancock’s ingestion of a compound called by DMT by researchers, but known to the indigenous people of the Amazon as “ayahuasca,” he talks extensively about ingesting the compound and creatures that he sees during those times of altered states.

There is a sense of being plunged into a completely convincing parallel world. Initially you see swirling geometric patterns, very regularly repeated, and then you have a sense of breaking through into an absolute other reality where you meet beings. Sometimes these beings look like fairies or elves or grays as we call them today. Very often they are part animal/part human in form.

“For example, I saw a creature that had the head of a crocodile and the body of a human being. I saw a creature that was part jaguar and part human. Everybody in the world who drinks ayahuasca – and doesn't matter where they are – they can be in a western city or they can be in the heart of the Amazon, they are going to see serpents. And these serpents are not just like ordinary everyday serpents.”

“They are often gigantic, absolutely huge, and they communicate with you. I know how nuts this sounds, but I am simply reporting the experience: that there is a sense of communication, of dealing with an intelligent entity, that has something to teach you. Fortunately, a lot of good scientific work has been done on this.”

“Dr. Benny Shanon, who is the professor of psychiatry at the Hebrew University in Jerusalem, has personally drunk ayahuasca more than 300 times himself. I have only drunk it 18 times so far. He has compared the experiences of hundreds and hundreds of people from all over the world who have drunk ayahuasca.” “All of them meet these serpents, and, in fact, they meet a particular entity who takes the form of a serpent. She is thought of as the ayahuasca spirit. She projects deep concern with the state of the environment into the minds of those who drink ayahuasca, and a feeling of love and concern for humanity as a whole.”

Fairies, Elves and ETs

It could be the discovery of psychoactive plants that enables these encounters with the “ancient teachers of mankind” that was the catalyst for the great leap forward in human evolution that took place about 35,000 years ago. The spirit entities that appear in the vision-induced cave art as well as in the ayahuasca visions very frequently appear in a form that is part animal and part human.

The technical term for such creatures is therianthropes, from the Greek therion, which means wild beast and anthropos which means man. Although this is the most common form in which spirits are encountered by shamans, less well known is the fact that it was an extremely common form in which fairies were encountered in the Middle Ages: part animal and part human.

“This brings us to the case of UFO abductees,” explains Hancock. “Very often the being who later shape-shifts or transforms into a Gray first appears in animal form or in part animal/part human form.” Another connection between the three different categories of beings: spirits, fairies and elves, and aliens is that all of them abduct human beings.

“Everybody knows that this is a keynote of the alien-abduction experience, but again if we go back to the Middle Ages we find that that’s what fairies and elves did all the time.

“They would abduct people, and when those people came back they had missing time.

Spirits continuously abduct shamans, and very typically the shamans’ first encounter with the spirit world takes the form of a forcible abduction.”

“Third, interbreeding between these entities and humans is very commonly reported amongst the alien abductees. Again, this happened repeatedly with the beings that were called fairies and elves in the Middle Ages and that happens repeatedly with shamans and the spirit beings that they encounter. Many shamans I know believe that they have a lover in the spirit world and they even have hybrid children in the spirit world who are part human and part spirit. That experience is shared by UFO abductees today.....

DMT = ET?

Also added into the mix is the work of psychiatrist Rick Strassman, MD, the first scientist in the United States for more than twenty years to be given permission by the federal government to work with human volunteers and hallucinogens. He gave DMT (dimethyltryptamine) to a large number of volunteers over a period of eight or nine years during the 1990's. When given by injection, DMT plunges you almost instantly into a deeply altered state of consciousness.

Typically, the person who has taken DMT falls silent. They don't seem to be registering the everyday world very closely, and that's because their consciousness has gone on an extraordinary journey. "What was really amazing," continues Hancock, "was that Rick Strassman's volunteers all began to report encounters and teaching and experiences with beings and entities during their altered states of consciousness. These beings and entities were recognizably the same across the whole range of volunteers."

Strassman theorized that the receiver wavelength of his volunteers' brains was being returned by DMT and they were gaining genuine access to other dimensions of reality and to the beings that inhabit those dimensions. "Because those dimensions are real," repeats Hancock, "although not normally accessible to us or our instruments."....

Why did I include the text of the article in UFO Magazine?? I did it simply to show that people are currently taking hallucinogenic drugs to purposefully communicate with malevolent entities, but they cannot discern the evil. The title of the article in UFO Magazine is "There's a Door in Your Head," and it couldn't have been more aptly titled. We saw earlier how people can talk without actually saying anything. We can talk by our actions. The fallen angels and demons that inhabit the unseen world are all interlopers; hoping and praying that they will be able to enter the life of someone; hoping that it will happen by any means. When a person takes mind altering drugs they pretty well put up a sign above them that announces, "vacancy" to all the malevolent entities that want a home, or at the very least, a life to attach themselves to.

Why do such a thing on purpose? Well, perhaps at first it is out of curiosity. Everyone has some need to know the unknown. But that is just what happens in the next step. Curiosity turns into the need to know the unknown because a person who knows what others do not know get a sense of power. The spirit of “power” is a very high principality. Power is just about the highest rung on the lust ladder. If a person had all the money in the world they would not be satisfied. Rich people always seem to lose their love for money after a while, and they then lust for power, and after they get power, they lust for absolute power. They’d never admit it, but their ultimate goal is a sort of godhood because power and ultimate power demand respect from all that are under them. In essence, pride is the sum of the equation in these matters. It is a weakness of the flesh that we live in. It is doled out by Satan who himself is the quintessential king of pride.

It was no different before the great deluge in Genesis. The fallen angels knew that if they gave mankind a way to enter the spiritual realm through drugs, mankind would aspire to gain back on its own what it had lost because of the fall of Adam and Chava. In the Garden of Eden, Chava fell for the lie of Satan who told her that if she ate the fruit, she would be like Elohim because she would then know good from evil. She ate so that she could be like Elohim and so that she could gain knowledge. The fallen angels went to the antediluvian women first because the thirst for knowledge and power still appealed to women of that day. Then, just like in the Garden, the men followed suit.

Summary

So, we see that the words, or should I say the prophecy of Yeshua is ringing true yet again. We are in the last days and we can see that, simply by looking at how our society parallels the society on earth before the flood of Noah's time. The search for forbidden knowledge is just too hard a temptation for mankind to pass up. Individuals, and even governments, in an attempt to gain that power will do incredibly stupid things to obtain that power. But people forget that nothing of temporal value is given out for free; everything has a price. The price for opening up oneself to fallen angels and demons is possession by demons and the loss of one's free will. Making deals with the devil ALWAYS leads to slavery, destruction and death.

Yes, that's right folks, there is nothing new under the sun. Mankind is hopelessly stupid and he's going to repeat history yet again. It's not that mankind can't learn from his mistakes; he refuses to learn. In each vain attempt to do things his way, mankind acts like it can pull some imaginary trump card on YHVH; sort of like a child that thinks he or she has found a new way to outwit their parent. YHVH promised that he would never again destroy the world with a flood of water. This time he'll let mankind come close to destroying itself. The things that YHVH brings upon the world during the Tribulation Period, I feel won't be necessarily be snap judgments by YHVH, but instead, He'll just be letting go of what He's been holding back all of these years. Scripture clearly says that the wages of sin is death. YHVH has been gracious for thousands of years, holding back the penalty of mankind's rebellion, but that will soon change.

Now, I wouldn't bring you up to this point in this article without offering some hope. That hope is that you can come out of the stupidity of mankind. You can become a new creation through Yeshua Ha Mashiach (Jesus the Messiah). You can make sure that you won't have to make deals with Satan, who's only a created being. You can stop your endless thoughts of worry, thinking that you might not be in a good place for eternity. Simply by asking Yeshua into your heart and to become Lord of your life you can have peace and bliss, yes, even during that time of Revelation when men are begging YHVH to kill them, you'll have peace and contentment.

Having a relationship with YHVH through Yeshua assures that. It's free too; Yeshua paid the price for you; such a deal!! Go to our page that describes how to get a free and eternal life. I hope that this article has been educational and thought provoking and I pray that YHVH will bless everyone who reads it with peace and contentment through Yeshua.

CHAPTER EIGHT

THE REBELLION OF MANKIND AGAINST YHVH

What Do The Ancient Texts Tell Us?

As we've mentioned before, the Biblical texts are pretty vague about the antediluvian world. There are hints here and there about conditions, but nothing quite clear; no history is really mentioned. There are some people, including myself who would like to know more about the times in which these things happened. There are some well-known books that talk a little about the history of these times, as that history has been passed down by tradition and in writings. A couple of these books are the writings of Josephus and also that of Philo; both historians of a high caliber. These two writers are accepted by both Jews and Christians alike and they are referred to in many works.

As we have seen, another book that receives less recognition is the book of Enoch. It was revered by the Jewish community, from about 400 BCE till about 400 CE, as being a historical book. When it was omitted from canon by the Council of Nicaea its support waned and gradually its popularity fell by the wayside. The Book of Judah, found in the BritHadasha, chapter 1, verses 6-7, refers to Enoch. Judah account about the fallen angels of Genesis and how they are punished. Chapter 1:14-15 gives a direct quote from the book of Enoch. So, if Judah, the brother of Yeshua thought Enoch worthy enough to quote from, perhaps we should see it worthy of some attention. Helping the Book of Enoch's cause is the fact that it has been found in the Dead Sea Scrolls. So in this author's opinion, I see it as worthwhile for one to use some of the extra-biblical books to enforce scripture. Again, this should be done only if two things occur with the use of those books. The books and their content MUST bear witness with what is written in scripture, and they must bear witness to the Ruach Ha Kodesh, and His ministry in the Body of Christ. The Book of Enoch, the Book of Jared, the Book of Jubilees and the Testament of The Patriarchs all seem to follow that course. As far as I can tell, the others (non-canonical books) are perversions of the truth, or at best just embellished stories.

What Is Rebellion Anyway?

Since this part of the “In the Days of Noah” series is about rebellion in the antediluvian world and its reemergence in the of human history that we are living now, it seems proper that we look at the word “rebellion” in its Biblical definition and then in a present day definition. It is very important to know what we are talking about and how it is defined in the time that the Bible was written and today too. We cannot know of the ills of the pre-flood world if we don’t know that they are ills to begin with. YHVH hates rebellion with a white hot anger. He hates sin too, but sin is a result of rebellion. If you want to know how YHVH feels about rebellion just look at a passage in Isaiah chapter 13:

Howl! for the Day of YHVH is at hand, destruction coming from Shaddai. This is why every arm will hang limp and everyone’s courage melt away. They will be gripped by panic, seized with pain and agony, writhing like a woman in labor, looking aghast at each other, faces aflame. Here comes the Day of YHVH, full of cruelty, rage and hot fury to desolate the earth and destroy the sinners in it. For the stars, the constellations in the sky, will no longer give their light; the sun will be dark when it rises; and the moon will no longer shine.

I will punish the world for its evil and the wicked for their iniquity. I will end the arrogance of the proud and humble the insolence of tyrants. I will make humans rarer than gold, scarcer than Ofir's pure gold. This is why I will make the heavens tremble, and the earth will be shaken from its place at the wrath of YHVH Tzva 'ot [LORD of Hosts] Isaiah 13:6-13

We know that YHVH hates sin and rebellion mainly because he is contrary to those things. When Adam and Chava sinned, they were kicked out of the Garden of Eden and all of mankind fell. We read YHVH's thoughts about rebelliousness in a passage of scripture in 1 Samuel:

For rebellion is like the sin of spirit of divination [witchcraft], Defiance, like the iniquity of teraphim [Idols consulted for oracles]. Because you have rejected the LORD's command He has rejected you as king. 1 Samuel 15:23

These words were spoken by the prophet Samuel to King Saul after he had conquered a city but didn't obey YHVH's commands of what to do with the spoils of the city. YHVH told Saul that nothing was to be taken out of the city after it was conquered, but the Israelite army looted the city and walked away with the spoils. Because of this Saul lost his anointing that day and the anointing was given to David. Wanting to know the actual meaning of the word for "rebellion" in the passage in 1 Samuel I looked up the word and yielded the following result:

Rebellion: (Strong's 4784) mēriy

1) rebellion a) rebellion b) rebellious (in construct)

Knowing that rebellion actually means rebellion might sound like a trivial thing to accomplish, but we must know the correct context of the scripture. There are times when words that have been translated into English from Hebrew in the scripture have different or accentuated meanings when they are researched. With this knowledge in place, I made the decision to look up the word “rebellion” in the online Merriam Webster dictionary. The following results were obtained:

Main Entry: re·bel·lion - Pronunciation: \ri-bel-yən

Function: noun

Date: 14th century

1: opposition to one in authority or dominance 2 a: open, armed, and usually unsuccessful defiance of or resistance to an established government b: an instance of such defiance or resistance

Now that we have an expanded definition or “rebellion” we can understand a little better what rebellion toward YHVH really mean. The act of sin is rebellion toward YHVH. It just isn’t a minor infraction, like running a stop sign is compared to premeditated murder is under the law of the land. All sin is rebellion, an opposition to YHVH, whether we intended to sin or not. Picture a very large magnet with the positive side pointing down. Now picture a tiny magnet with the positive side pointing up. The little magnet thinks that it’s positive side is powerful, but in comparison to the large magnet its power is insignificant. As it tries to assert its authority against the large magnet it is repelled away. Sin acts in a very similar manner. It is the pride of mankind that tries to assert itself against the holiness and majesty of YHVH and as definition two of “rebellion” states, a usually unsuccessful defiance or or resistance, toward YHVH.

Ever since I was a young child I had been close to my cousin, the son of my dad's brother. Through the years our rebellion toward YHVH brought us even closer to each other. We fished together, hung out together and abused drugs together. In 1979 YHVH finally got through my hard heart and after a series of events that showed me how much of a scumbag I was Finally, I listened to my friend Arthur and came to faith in Yeshua. My cousin didn't know what to think of this big change and he would ask me questions constantly about my new faith. I answered the best that I could all of his questions. One of the questions that he asked me was about sin. He asked me about the degrees of sin and I explained to him that it really didn't work that way. I told him that in YHVH's eyes a shoplifter was just as guilty as a serial murderer.

What I tried to convey to my cousin is that when we break a human law we are told that we don't have the best of character because we broke THE law. In this, it is conveyed that of the whole scope of the law, we broke one aspect; but what we did by breaking even a little law is that we broke THE law. Humanity breaks laws down in the manner that it finds crimes detestable. Stealing a pen isn't as serious as burglary which isn't as serious as murder according to our way of reckoning things. But, we still broke the law because the law is seen to be an entity with many parts, sort of like a body.

If we take things a step further, we will want to see what the definition of witchcraft is because it will clarify some of what this article is trying to convey. According to The Occult Dictionary, witchcraft is defined:

Witchcraft: The practice of spells and magick, often involving the worship of many deities or a supreme god and/or goddess.

What is the practice of spells and magick? Well, in modern terms it is certain incantations and practices that the witch believes will summon the forces of nature so as to to the bidding of the witch. Witches in conventional times try to break up the practice or witchcraft into two or more subsets; the major ones being white witches and black witches. According to them, white witches are good witches because they try to cast spells to bring love and such while black witches do the same to bring about malevolence against the person that they cast the spells and magick against. In either case, they ignore what YHVH said because he told Israel:

You shall not let live a sorceress. Torah Exodus 22:18 JPS

We have seen how in the Mosaic covenant rebellion is described and YHVH tells us what His will is about sin, iniquity and rebellion. His feelings are also enforced in the Messianic Covenant as echoed by Paul the Apostle:

And it is perfectly evident what the old nature does. It expresses itself in sexual immorality, impurity and indecency; involvement with the occult and with drugs; in feuding, fighting, becoming jealous and getting angry; in selfish ambition, factionalism, intrigue and envy; in drunkenness, orgies and things like these. I warn you you now as I have warned you before : those who do such things will have no share in the Kingdom of God!

But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, humility, self control. Nothing in the Torah stands against such things. Moreover, those who belong to the Messiah Yeshua have put their old nature to death on the stake, along with its passions and desires. Since it is through the Spirit that we have Life, let it also be through the Spirit that we order our lives day by day. Galatians 5:19-23 JNTP

We see here that Paul expands the sin of rebellion a lot more than the scripture in 1 Samuel. All of the things that are explained above have their roots in rebellion and are manifestations of rebellion. This is summed up by John in one of his epistles:

Because all the things of the world – the desires of the old nature, the desires of the eyes, and the pretensions of life – are not from the Father but from the world. 1 John 2:16

Okay, so we are asserting that if the words of Yeshua are true, then we should see a correlation between the conditions before the flood and our modern-day world. But we need to take a little closer look at our modern world before we look at the world before the flood, or specifically the root of rebellion before the flood. Not a day goes by when we fail to see at least three or four indications of rebellion as they are described in Galatians. Sexual immorality abounds, and the sad thing is that it has been around for so long that people today really don't recognize it anymore. It has become the norm for society. Hardly anyone is pure or decent anymore and as a matter of fact it seems that people go out of their way to be impure and indecent. Whether it be on television, on the radio or television or just in daily life it seems like everyone is dirty and stained with sin. More and more people are reaching out to the occult; some to its seemingly minor aspects like horoscopes and fortune cookies, through the medium aspects like Ouija Boards and séances and the hardcore stuff like consulting mediums and even outright worship of nature or the gods of nature.

In case you haven't noticed, drug abuse is pandemic in our society and this society has changed things around a little, labeling drug experimenting and addiction as a sickness instead of a sin. The airwaves of television are littered with programs about crime. It seems like feuding and fighting are laughed at and looked at with intrigue everywhere you go and everywhere you look. Jealousy is rampant, and it isn't just relational jealousy anymore, but it is jealousy of just about anything that someone else has. Anger permeates our society resulting in personal crimes over even the stupidest of things that a generation ago would not have angered anyone. Selfishness abounds like never before and if anyone does good they do it for self-image, not because it is the right thing to do. People are breaking into factions religiously, racially and politically and these things are sitting on a powder keg that could explode at any minute. All of these things are indicators of the age that we live in.

However, a good argument could be made that these things have existed in one form or another all throughout history. This is a valid argument. Our human nature is a sin nature and sin is what sinners do the best. So how in the world would rebellion, which seems to be natural in our sin nature differentiate our age from any other age when it comes to comparing our present time to The Days of Noah? There is one element that has been left out of the equation so far, that when we examine it, we will know that our age is equal to the age when the antediluvian fathers roamed the earth. That element is the element of willful sin and willful rebellion.

So how does willful rebellion differ from our inherited sinful nature? The simple answer to that question is that a person or group of persons knows the requirements of YHVH and the restrictions or limits that He has set for mankind; and that person or persons strive to reject or offend the simple rules and regulations that He has set forth to make life on earth pleasant and palatable. A simple illustration would be owing money to the Internal Revenue Service. A person who has a lot of cares in this life could possibly forget to pay the IRS the money that they own and that was an honest mistake. In like manner, getting cut off by some moron on the freeway could cause a response to come from your lips that you didn't mean to say; that is sin but not willful rebellion. Now, let's say that a person is rebellious and they own the IRS for taxes and they make a conscious decision not to pay. They argue within themselves that they're tired of paying taxes and that they're so fed up that they will never pay taxes again. Or, what about the driver that cuts you off in traffic. You could let it slide and the matter would be forgotten, or you could follow him to his destination and get into a word argument which will turn into a physical altercation; this is a willful act; or as the law calls it, premeditated.

Willful Rebellion Before the Flood and During Noah's Time:

Willful rebellion has been around since the very beginning; starting with Adam and Chava. At the beginning however, Adam and Chava didn't have a sin nature; they were as the Bible says, beguiled:

And the LORD God said unto the woman, What is this that thou hast done? And the woman said, The serpent beguiled me, and I did eat. Genesis 3:13

The Hebrew word in this passage that is used for beguiled is Nasha' and it means to be "deceived." But was Chava really deceived, or was it willful rebellion? We must read the whole passage to see the whole story:

Now the serpent was more subtil than any beast of the field which the LORD God had made. And he said unto the woman, Yea, hath God said, Ye shall not eat of every tree of the garden? And the woman said unto the serpent, We may eat of the fruit of the trees of the garden: But of the fruit of the tree which is in the midst of the garden, God hath said, Ye shall not eat of it, neither shall ye touch it, lest ye die. And the serpent said unto the woman, Ye shall not surely die: For God doth know that in the day ye eat thereof, then your eyes shall be opened, and ye shall be as gods, knowing good and evil. And when the woman saw that the tree was good for food, and that it was pleasant to the eyes, and a tree to be desired to make one wise, she took of the fruit thereof, and did eat, and gave also unto her husband with her; and he did eat. And the eyes of them both were opened, and they knew that they were naked; and they sewed fig leaves together, and made themselves aprons. Genesis 3:1-7

At this point in the history of all things Lucifer was a fallen being. In essence, he was the father of sin. YHVH was clean in His instructions to both Adam and Chava telling them that their lives would change forever in a negative fashion if they ate of the fruit. Notice too that Chava had already gotten YHVH's message wrong because YHVH never told them that they would die if they merely touched the tree. Lucifer knew that Chava already had perverted YHVH's instructions which made her an easy mark. Just a few suggestions to her caused her to doubt YHVH's instructions and she was enticed to eat of the fruit of the tree.

Nobody really knows that went through Adam's mind before he ate the fruit. Many people speculate a variety of different scenarios. Some think that he knew that Chava was doomed and he loved her so much that he sacrificed eternity to be with her and her misery. That is a lovely speculation and perhaps it is true. But perhaps he surmised that Chava had eaten the fruit and she was still standing there, not dead and he blew off YHVH's warning and ate of that fruit. In either case they both realized that they were naked, and they knew that being naked was wrong, so they tried to hide their nakedness. This proves quite clearly that even without YHVH's Laws spelled out, that there is some sort of base instinct built within all of us that knows basic right from wrong; leaving us without excuse.

The next story has more than one example of willful disobedience told in its text:

And in process of time it came to pass, that Cain brought of the fruit of the ground an offering unto the LORD. And Abel, he also brought of the firstlings of his flock and of the fat thereof. And the LORD had respect unto Abel and to his offering: But unto Cain and to his offering he had not respect. And Cain was very wroth, and his countenance fell. And the LORD said unto Cain, Why art thou wroth? and why is thy countenance fallen? If thou doest well, shalt thou not be accepted? and if thou doest not well, sin lieth at the door. And unto thee shall be his desire, and thou shalt rule over him. And Cain talked with Abel his brother: and it came to pass, when they were in the field, that Cain rose up against Abel his brother, and slew him. And the LORD said unto Cain, Where is Abel thy brother? And he said, I know not: Am I my brother's keeper? And he said, What hast thou done? the voice of thy brother's blood crieth unto me from the ground. Genesis 4:3-10

It is interesting that both Cain and Abel thought to present a sacrifice to YHVH. This has to mean that at some point YHVH instructed Adam and his descendants that sacrifice was necessary in order to please Elohim. We do not know if YHVH sat them down, much like He did to Moshe to give them covenant instructions; but they somehow knew about sacrifice. Sacrifice is denoted by giving up or away something that is dear to you. To a herdsman it would be a prize sheep, which is what Abel offered to YHVH.

Cain on the other hand offered fruit of the ground. Notice that it came from the ground; not a tree, but the ground. Remember also that the ground was cursed by YHVH. If there had been instruction about correct sacrifice, which there probably was, then YHVH would have told what was acceptable and what was not. If, like in the Torah, instruction was given to bring to sacrifice a lamb without spot or wrinkle then, if Cain was going to honor YHVH, he could have asked his brother for a lamb or could have bartered for one. Instead, he offered a cursed crop from a cursed land as a sacrifice to El Elyon. It would be equivalent to someone offering a pig for sacrifice in the Temple of YHVH.

Cain did not stop there however. After YHVH rejected his offering, he got mad at YHVH and ultimately, his anger caused a jealous anger and that caused him to murder his brother. Willful disobedience always leads to destruction.

Looking at Biblical history, it would seem that rebellion was not a widespread problem. We read of personal accounts, like the one with Cain but we don't see it mentioned concerning the other sons and daughters of Adam and Chava. Perhaps this is because the others were not main players in the story. Adam and Chava had another son which they named Seth and Seth had a son that he named Enosh. Something very interesting happens during the time of Enosh as we read below:

And to Seth, to him also there was born a son; and he called his name Enos: then began men to call upon the name of the LORD. Genesis 4:26

At first glance it appears that this is akin to a revival because the text says that men began to call upon the name of YHVH. However, a simple word study reveals that the opposite was true.

The first word that we come to is the word "Began" which in Hebrews is:

BEGAN: chalal חלל Strong's H2490

1) to profane, defile, pollute, desecrate, begin

a) (Niphal)

1) to profane oneself, defile oneself, pollute oneself

a) ritually

b) sexually

2) to be polluted, be defiled

b) (Piel)

1) to profane, make common, defile, pollute

2) to violate the honour of, dishonour

3) to violate (a covenant)

4) to treat as common

c) (Pual)

1) to profane (name of God)

It's pretty clear to see that the translators of the King James Version of the Bible didn't get this word right when they translated the Bible into English. There were revivals before the flood, but what the writer of Genesis is telling us is that profanity started during the days of Enosh. This translation works better because the first few chapters of Genesis relate to a fallen condition of mankind, not a return to YHVH.

But what about the Hebrew word for "call?" What does that really mean?

CALL: Qara; קרא Strong's H7121

1) to call, call out, recite, read, cry out, proclaim

a) (Qal)

1) to call, cry, utter a loud sound

2) to call unto, cry (for help), call (with name of God)

3) to proclaim

4) to read aloud, read (to oneself), read

5) to summon, invite, call for, call and commission, appoint, call and endow

6) to call, name, give name to, call by

b) (Niphal)

1) to call oneself

2) to be called, be proclaimed, be read aloud, be summoned, be named

c) (Pual)

1) to be called, be named, be called out, be chosen

So we see that this word means to call, cry out, call oneself or proclaim; pretty simple huh? However, the next word helps us to understand clearly not only what the scripture is telling us, but the condition of mankind at this time in history.

Time should be taken to stress that the term “upon the name” is not quite correct. In this scripture there is no word for “upon the” mentioned. Hence, the scripture should read:

Chalal Qara Shem which reads in English “profane call name.”

We’re starting to see a freaky thing developing before the flood, “In the Days of Noah.” Let’s look at some of the ways that these words could be put together to see the condition of humankind before the flood:

Then Men profanely called the name of the Lord

Then men called as common the name of the Lord (used in cursing as explicative)

Then men desecrated calling name of the Lord

Then men profanely called themselves the name of the Lord

Of course, we have to look at the meaning of the word “profane” to get the full impact of what happened during the days of Enosh. The Merriam Webster dictionary defines “profane” in the following manner:

pro·fane

verb \prō-fān, prə-\ transitive verb

1: to treat (something sacred) with abuse, irreverence, or contempt: desecrate

2: to debase by a wrong, unworthy, or vulgar use

We see all of these things today; people using the name of Yeshua or YHVH to curse people, to stress importance by using YHVH’s name in vain or of using His name as a common way of taking an oath that they don’t really mean.

From time to time I like to use some extra-biblical books as historical references; much like pastors and theologians use the works of Josephus and Philo for historical clarity. There are four historical books that were revered by the Jewish theologians of Yeshua's time that I like to cite from: Enoch 1; The Book of Jubilees; The Testament of the Patriarchs and The Book of Jared.

The Book of Jared examines in more detail the people of Enosh's time; their ways and how YHVH tried to deal with their rebellion:

And Seth lived one hundred and five years, and he begat a son; and Seth called the name of his son Enosh, saying, Because in that time the sons of men began to multiply, and to afflict their souls and hearts by transgressing and rebelling against God. And it was in the days of Enosh that the sons of men continued to rebel and transgress against God, to increase the anger of the Lord against the sons of men. And the sons of men went and they served other gods, and they forgot the Lord who had created them in the earth: and in those days the sons of men made images of brass and iron, wood and stone, and they bowed down and served them. And every man made his god and they bowed down to them, and the sons of men forsook the Lord all the days of Enosh and his children; and the anger of the Lord was kindled on account of their works and abominations which they did in the earth. And the Lord caused the waters of the river Gihon to overwhelm them, and he destroyed and consumed them, and he destroyed the third part of the earth, and notwithstanding this, the sons of men did not turn from their evil ways, and their hands were yet extended to do evil in the sight of the Lord. Jared 2:2-6

Jared pretty well sums up how mankind in the days of Enosh rebelled against YHVH. Not only did they profane His name with their words, but with all of their actions and every intent of their hearts.

I have heard people say that these things happened many years before “the Days of Noah,” because Noah was last in the line of the antediluvian patriarchs. A careful study of birthdates and death dates shows however that Noah was alive during the days of Enosh and vice versa. Enosh was born circa the year 235 and he died in the year 1140. Noah was born in the year 1056 so he had 84 years to get to know Enosh. Summing it up, 84 years of Enosh’s life were in “The Days of Noah.”

In the days of Jared angels known as Watchers came down to earth. Some came to help mankind so that mankind could walk in righteousness before YHVH but for the most part they were ignored. The antithesis to the good watchers was the fallen watchers; the beings that Genesis chapter six calls “the sons of God.” We know them to be fallen angels. We discussed these beings, and their offspring, the Nephilim in the first article of this series.

One of the deeds that the “sons of God” did was that they brought forbidden knowledge and introduced it to mankind. There were various types of “technology” that they introduced, ranging from beauty enhancements for women, to the study and practice of magic and also the implements of warfare.

In our current day we see the same sort of thing. I don’t think it was by accident that sudden burst of technological wonders that we have seen in the past seventy years “just happened,” but was introduced again by fallen angel’s intent on debasing mankind and drawing away many souls by appealing to “the lust of the flesh, the lust of the eyes and the boastful pride of life.” All of these things add to the rebellion of humankind against YHVH and allow Satan inroads into the lives of everyone who forsakes YHVH for the pleasures of this life.

In another chapter of this series we studied how in the years before the flood mankind was actually involved in genetic manipulation of species and between species. The odd creatures mentioned in Greek and Roman mythology, in my estimation, are not the inventions of some imaginative Greek philosophers, but are probably embedded memories of events before Noah’s flood.

Seeing Parallels Through Scripture:

We can see that history is again repeating itself and we find ourselves hearing the words of Solomon who stated in Ecclesiastes:

The thing that hath been, it is that which shall be; and that which is done is that which shall be done: and there is no new thing under the sun. Is there any thing whereof it may be said, See, this is new? it hath been already of old time, which was before us. There is no remembrance of former things; neither shall there be any remembrance of things that are to come with those that shall come after. Ecclesiastes 1:9-11

Mankind is in rebellion toward YHVH and as each day comes it seems like the rebellion grows larger; willful rebellion with intent that is hell-bent on perverting each and everything that YHVH gave to mankind. The Apostles talked about these things in their writings. Before we cite some of their prophecies, let me state one thing. If we can read the words that YHVH gave to us in the way of commandments and life’s lessons of what not to do, we can pretty well assume that the things that he warns us not to do were committed in the antediluvian world and if so, then when Yeshua told us that at His return the world would resemble the days just before the flood we can get a good picture of the days to come, and even our current day:

This know also, that in the last days perilous times shall come. For men shall be lovers of their own selves, covetous, boasters, proud, blasphemers, disobedient to parents, unthankful, unholy, Without natural affection, trucebreakers, false accusers, incontinent, fierce, despisers of those that are good, Traitors, heady, high-minded, lovers of pleasures more than lovers of God; Having a form of godliness, but denying the power thereof: from such turn away. For of this sort are they which creep into houses, and lead captive silly women laden with sins, led away with divers lusts, Ever learning, and never able to come to the knowledge of the truth. Now as Jannes and Jambres withstood Moses, so do these also resist the truth: men of corrupt minds, reprobate concerning the faith. But they shall proceed no further: for their folly shall be manifest unto all men, as their's also was. 2 Timothy 3:1-9

And of course, Romans chapter one talks about rebellion. Read it, remembering that there is nothing new under the sun; and all things that are done were done before:

For the wrath of God is revealed from heaven against all ungodliness and unrighteousness of men, who hold the truth in unrighteousness; Because that which may be known of God is manifest in them; for God hath shewed it unto them. For the invisible things of him from the creation of the world are clearly seen, being understood by the things that are made, even his eternal power and Godhead; so that they are without excuse: Because that, when they knew God, they glorified him not as God, neither were thankful; but became vain in their imaginations, and their foolish heart was darkened.

Professing themselves to be wise, they became fools, And changed the glory of the uncorruptible God into an image made like to corruptible man, and to birds, and fourfooted beasts, and creeping things. Wherefore God also gave them up to uncleanness through the lusts of their own hearts, to dishonour their own bodies between themselves: Who changed the truth of God into a lie, and worshipped and served the creature more than the Creator, who is blessed for ever. Amen. For this cause God gave them up unto vile affections: for even their women did change the natural use into that which is against nature: And likewise also the men, leaving the natural use of the woman, burned in their lust one toward another; men with men working that which is unseemly, and receiving in themselves that recompence of their error which was meet. And even as they did not like to retain God in their knowledge, God gave them over to a reprobate mind, to do those things which are not convenient; Being filled with all unrighteousness, fornication, wickedness, covetousness, maliciousness; full of envy, murder, debate, deceit, malignity; whisperers, Backbiters, haters of God, despiteful, proud, boasters, inventors of evil things, disobedient to parents, Without understanding, covenant breakers, without natural affection, implacable, unmerciful: Who knowing the judgment of God, that they which commit such things are worthy of death, not only do the same, but have pleasure in them that do them. Romans 1:18-32

The last verse of Romans says something interesting and so truthful when it comes to rebellion. It states that those who are rebellions know that there is a penalty, yet they mock YHVH by continuing to sin and they even have pleasure when other people rebel in like manner. This was the society before the flood, in Noah's time and it the state of our society today.

Preaching and Revival in Both Epoch's:

YHVH is always faithful to never leave us hanging without help or hope of redemption. In every society, in every city, every nation and all around the world; wherever there is oppressive darkness there is an individual, or a group of people who shed light in that darkness. Today we see that in so many ways. Churches are alive in all nations on earth. Even when we're not able to gather lawfully, believers in Yeshua meet to uphold each other and pray for YHVH's will to be accomplished. There is always one voice crying out in the wilderness; whether it be in a prison, on a street corner or on the television or radio.

Many people are surprised to find out that there was an evangelist that preached during the antediluvian times. This man was Noah's great-grandfather, Enoch. Here is an account from the Book of Jubilees that talks about the ministry of Enoch:

And Adam knew Eve his wife and she bare yet nine sons.

And in the fifth week of the fifth jubilee [225-31 A.M.] Seth took Azûrâ his sister to be his wife, and in the fourth (year of the sixth week) [235 A.M.] she bare him Enos.

He began to call on the name of the Lord on the earth. (profane the name of the Lord)

And in the seventh jubilee in the third week [309-15 A.M.] Enos took Nôâm his sister to be his wife, and she bare him a son in the third year of the fifth week, and he called his name Kenan.

And at the close of the eighth jubilee [325, 386-3992 A.M.] Kenan took Mûalêlêth his sister to be his wife, and she bare him a son in the ninth jubilee, in the first week in the third year of this week, [395 A.M.] and he called his name Mahalalel.

And in the second week of the tenth jubilee [449-55 A.M.] Mahalalel took unto him to wife Dinah, the daughter of Barakiel the daughter of his father's brother, and she bare him a son in the third week in the sixth year, [461 A.M.] and he called his name Jared, for in his days the angels of the Lord descended on the earth, those who are named the Watchers, that they should instruct the children of men, and that they should do judgment and uprightness on the earth.

And in the eleventh jubilee [512-18 A.M.] Jared took to himself a wife, and her name was Baraka, the daughter of Râsûjâl, a daughter of his father's brother, in the fourth week of this jubilee, [522 A.M.] and she bare him a son in the fifth week, in the fourth year of the jubilee, and he called his name Enoch.

And he was the first among men that are born on earth who learnt writing and knowledge and wisdom and who wrote down the signs of heaven according to the order of their months in a book, that men might know the seasons of the years according to the order of their separate months.

And he was the first to write a testimony and he testified to the sons of men among the generations of the earth, and recounted the weeks of the jubilees, and made known to them the days of the years, and set in order the months and recounted the Sabbaths of the years as we made (them), known to him.

And what was and what will be he saw in a vision of his sleep, as it will happen to the children of men throughout their generations until the day of judgment; he saw and understood everything, and wrote his testimony, and placed the testimony on earth for all the children of men and for their generations.

And in the twelfth jubilee, [582-88] in the seventh week thereof, he took to himself a wife, and her name was Edna, the daughter of Danel, the daughter of his father's brother, and in the sixth year in this week [587 A.M.] she bare him a son and he called his name Methuselah.

And he was moreover with the angels of God these six jubilees of years, and they showed him everything which is on earth and in the heavens, the rule of the sun, and he wrote down everything.

And he testified to the Watchers, who had sinned with the daughters of men; for these had begun to unite themselves, so as to be defiled, with the daughters of men, and Enoch testified against (them) all. Jubilees 4:1-13

A good read of the book Enoch 1 shows that Enoch was responsible for at least two revivals upon the earth during his ministry years. At one point the book states that he won over almost all of the people (humans) on earth for YHVH; however, they would soon lapse back into sin and rebellion. Enoch was so popular, and he had such a wonderful relationship with YHVH that the fallen angels asked him to intercede for them before YHVH. YHVH's answer was not favorable in their behalf and he condemned them to Tartarus.

Summary:

We have seen that when Yeshua told us in his discourse in Matthew 24; that when He will return, the state of affairs on earth will be just like in The Days of Noah. We have seen in other chapters how this applies to things like the Return of The Nephilim; Gene manipulation; same sex marriage and homosexuality; planned parenthood; global warming and drug abuse. In this article we have seen how rebellion toward YHVH ran rampant before the Flood of Noah's Time and how it is reigning now, and it will get much worse before it gets better.

Yeshua told us these things so that we could see the signs of the times. While the events and the condition of society are not easily knowable through study of Biblical Canon, they are quite understandable if we use the extra-biblical books that the Jews revered during the time of Yeshua. While they are extra-biblical now there is good evidence to believe that they were held to be scripture during the time of Yeshua. They have all been found to some degree in the Dead Sea Scrolls; so if the Essenes thought it worthwhile to study them then perhaps we should use them to fill in some of the gaps where Biblical knowledge is concerned.

The understanding of Scripture can only be accomplished with the aid of the Ruach Ha Kodesh (Holy Spirit) and I want to thank Him with all of my heart for giving me knowledge and understanding and allowing me to be able to put these things into a written format for many to understand. To El Elyon be the Glory!

CHAPTER NINE

CONCLUSIONS

I started out this book by stating the fact that Yeshua said that upon his return the world would be much in the state that it was at the time when Noah roamed the earth. In each chapter I have made parallels between the antediluvian world and our current time. I have shown many indicators that prove that our current world society is in much the same condition that existed during the pre-flood era.

I've been alive for a scant sixty years (well very close to that figure) and I have read my fair share of apocalyptic literature that has set dates for the end of the world as we know it and for the return of Yeshua. One religion, the Jehovah's Witnesses have set the date of return for Yeshua several times and they have failed miserably predicting the date. I wish so that Yeshua, when he said that we would not know the day or hour, would have also included the words month or year in that statement. He didn't however do that, and we have to put up with people that listen to fallen entities and the people who follow the false prophets.

In the years 66 - 70 AD, during the Jewish Rebellion toward Rome the Essene sect of Judaism proclaimed that their rebellion would bring about the end-time battle that would bring about the appearance of Mashiach. They believed it so much so that they minted coins to declare the redemption of Israel. From that day on people have set months, days and/or years for the return of Mashiach Ben Joseph or the coming of Mashiach Ben David.

I think that we can agree that since the time of Yeshua's death and resurrection there have been those who have seen a couple of the signs that point to the coming of Mashiach, but just boiling water doesn't make spaghetti. In order to make anything work correctly takes all of the ingredients and all of the time required accomplish all things.

A good book to read is titled "Cavern's Cauldron's and Concealed Creatures, by J. Michael Mott. In the pages of his book he illustrates how all throughout history, especially since the advent of Mashiach Yeshua some two thousand years ago, there have been stories about abductions of humans by creatures known in those times as nymphs, fairies, elves, ogres and a variety of other-worldly creatures that seem to inhabit the caves and crevasses of the earth. There have been stories of babies being abducted only to be returned as changelings, named that because although they resembled the original child there was some sort of change in their appearance and/or behavior. There have been stories handed down about women who were abducted by these same creatures who when they were taken were pregnant but when returned no longer carried a child and other stories tell about women who were abducted by these creatures who were returned and were pregnant upon their return.

It seems that the focus of the evil entities has always been to corrupt mankind's seed in order to create a seed of their own. For the purposes of this book, I ascribe that the purpose is to create a satanic seed or further a satanic seed that already exists. It cannot be denied, either by the furtherance of the "sons of Seth" theory or just plain denial, that something happened in Genesis chapter six and was recorded in quite a few other books revered by the ancient Hebrews. In the research community there is an argument about the Nephilim and the Days of Noah. There are some that believe that the DNA of the Nephilim came across on the Ark, in a belief that either Noah's wife Naamah, or Shem's wife Sedeqetelebab, Ham's wife Ne'elatamauk or Japheth's wife Adataneses. I choose not to believe this simply because YHVH destroyed the Earth, picking Noah whose DNA was wholly human. To state that YHVH would destroy a whole society full of people with corrupted DNA only to start genetically perverted civilization all over again makes YHVH out to be someone that uses mankind in a sick and demented way, causing problems that He can only fix. In other words, this theory turns YHVH into a psychopath rather than a loving and caring God that wants to redeem mankind.

What many people fail to remember is that, as we saw earlier on in the book, Noah lived some 400 years beyond the flood. Noah was old enough to have met Abraham as a young man. The only explanation for Nephilim after the flood is a second incursion of other fallen angels. We examined this in Chapter Two.

We looked at other things as well in our study. We saw that the fallen angels had shown men how to manipulate DNA to create hideous creatures. Is this where the dinosaurs came from? Maybe it is. The Greeks were a highly evolved civilization, but they had monsters like the minotaur, the centaur, Medusa, the Sirens, the Cyclops in additions to many other oddities that a civilized culture probably would not believe in because they had a working knowledge of science and nature. My belief is that these creatures are memories from before the deluge of perversions of DNA, the mixing of animal kinds with other kinds that made monsters. In our current time we use devices that our recent ancestors would have thought to be impossible. If I could have spoken to my grandfather about a device called a computer that would allow me to access almost all the knowledge available to mankind and to do so in a matter of seconds he would have thought me to be insane, but today it is real. Now reverse that notion in regard to the Greeks and they mythology, not that they created the monsters, but had knowledge that such things existed.

And what about the Greek Titans and their resemblance to the Nephilim? Put that one in your pipe and smoke on it for a while.

We saw that homosexuality and same sex marriage were rampant in the antediluvian world. Yeshua himself testified to that and we used His own words to show that point. Even more still we saw how much of an abomination YHVH ascribes homosexuality to be because Yeshua in the same allegory talks about how YHVH had to destroy the Cities of The Plain (Sodom, Gomorrah et.al) because of that sin. It's a sin by the way, not a lifestyle.

We looked at another sexual sin, that being birth control. Now don't get me wrong, my belief is that if a woman's egg can be dispatched or not created it isn't necessarily a sin because a woman's menses does the same thing. However, when a fertilized egg is destroyed and/or a fetus is poisoned with salt and/or cut up alive within the womb it is an abomination, and one that our nation will have to answer for. We saw how antediluvian society developed a drink that would render a woman barren so that she could retain her figure, at the insistence of her husband. Isn't that what we see today, single and married women aborting their children because the man insists, or they are not able to financially raise a child, or a child would just complicate their lives. Yes, abortion is a murder, but murder is a result of pride, anger and lust, just to name a few things.

We also saw how YHVH had created a world that had natural global warming. We talked about the water or ice canopy around the planet and how it prevented harmful radiation from reaching the surface of the planet thus benefiting life all around the globe. Today mankind, in an attempt to create global warming (that is their aim), along with his lust to control the weather are spraying aluminum, barium and other harmful material and biologics into the atmosphere. Their plans are multifaceted in nature. They want to control the weather, create global warming and they also want to reduce the population of Earth. They are in effect doing the bidding of their spiritual leader, namely Satan, who hates mankind to begin with and would love to recreate the Earth to suit his own needs by taking mankind hostage for purposes that are grotesque in nature.

Modern society has a problem with drug abuse, but according to sources that were displayed, so did the antediluvian world. Extra-Biblical books like Jasher, 1 Enoch and Jubilees all talk about the use of roots and herbs that were used to control the behavior of men. We saw how the art of Pharmakeia was taught to the wives of the fallen angels who no doubt handed them down to their children who in turn taught these ways to common humans. Aside from the drug problem in our society we hear that the governments of this world are lacing the water with lithium, a common relaxant used in bipolar patients for their mania. They put fluoride in the water too, a compound that is toxic to the human body and that also acts on the neuro-electrical function of the human body. Back in the last century they experimented with spraying unsuspecting people with LSD to see what the effects would be. Yet another parallel between the days of old and today.

Finally, we looked at the most common aspect of the antediluvian world, the rebellion of mankind against YHVH. The Bible tells us that it was during the time of Enosh that men started to “call on the name of the Lord.” Chuck Missler poses an interesting thesis on this scripture:

Seth’s son was called Enosh, which means “mortal, frail, or miserable”. It is from the root anash, “to be incurable”, used of a wound, grief, woe, sickness, or wickedness.

It was in the days of Enosh that men began to defile the name of the Living God.

Missler offers an explanation from the study of ancient Jewish writers that wrote about this subject:

Genesis 4:26 is often mistranslated. Targum of Onkelos: ...desisted from praying in the name; Targum of Jonathan: surnamed their idols in the name... ; Kimchi, Rashi, and other ancient Jewish commentators agree. Jerome indicated that this was the opinion of many Jews of his day. Maimonides, Commentary on the Mishna (a constituent part of the Talmud), a.d. 1168, ascribes the origin of idolatry to the days of Enosh.

This is a common thing to see in our modern society in so many ways. Take for example that if you work in a secular workplace you will often hear the word God attached to a word Dammit. Really that word is “Damn it.” Any way that you look at it people are using YHVH’s name in vain because either they are demanding that YHVH damn someone or something or they are reflecting anger toward YHVH as if to say, damn you God, for letting that thing happen. Another appellation that is wrongly used is Jesus Christ. People often use the name of Salvation to curse others and again it is an affront, blaming Yeshua for what has happened.

Humanity is one great big hypocrisy. We want the blessings that a benevolent creator God can give us, but we fling his name around to curse everything and everyone, even the person we want the blessings from. A good example is American society. One of the ultimate hypocritical actions was kicking YHVH out of the public-school system but then asking where he was when a student shoots up a school. Answer; well moron, you told Him to take a hike and yet you expected to Him to stay around?

We are rapidly approaching a point of no return. A time is coming soon when you and I will have to make a choice. Unfortunately, the rapture will not occur before all hell breaks loose and we're going to have to go through a roughly 3.5-year period where we will be persecuted. Many believers in this world are going through persecution as I write this book and they have not been bailed out by any rapture. The true Church of Yeshua needs a good bathing because the bride has become soiled with the things of this world. The Church is always made pure through persecution much in the same way as gold has to be refined. If any church needs to be refined it is the church of the western world much of which has become an abomination before YHVH. You've probably noticed over the past several years that the tares have been plucked from around the wheat and the goats are in the process of being revealed while the sheep are being made pure. This will continue now and through persecution.

All I can say is that if you think now has been hard, just wait because the ride gets a lot wilder henceforth. Soon there will be Nephilim in charge of city, county and state governments as well as in Federal Government positions. That's not to say that they are not there now. The Millennial Generation is coming of age and it is for the most part is a lost generation that have just about every bad attribute of the three preceding generations. YHVH told us in Genesis that He visits the iniquity to the fourth generation of those who hate him. Imagine what the world will be like when the children of the Millennial's come of age.

I think it important to say that we realize when we are turned into the authorities, when our doors are knocked down and we are dragged out in the middle of the night, when we have to live on the run, under bridges or in the wilderness, these are all things that have to happen for all to be accomplished in YHVH's plan, and that the promises are prized and given out to those who suffer for our faith.

It isn't all gloom and doom however. YHWH Yeshua promised that a great revival will occur either in our time or in the near future. There are special promises to those who endure to the end of this time, or the end of their life during this time. We must keep our eyes on the prize at the end, and run the race to win.
