The search for intelligence in the universe has been a hot topic for many years. The focus of many space craft launches since the 1970's has been to search for that life. You might recall seeing pictures of an image that was placed on one of the early Voyager craft which had a picture of a human male. It also had binary inscriptions as well as a gold device that resembles a record that will play greetings to any space brothers who find it in space.

Many other craft have been sent to our neighboring planets to in the guise of soil research and such, but their real focus has been to look for life, or traces of life, especially on the rocky neighboring planets. While much good information has come from those craft, their search for life has come up empty. As of recent years (since the middle 1990's) NASA has divulged that they are on a hot search for that life. This is something that they have always claimed as a secondary field of study and the public has believed it. We now know that NASA is now involved in the same vain search as others have been for years.

The real pioneers of the search for extraterrestrial life are those who are involved in what is called S.E.T.I., which is short for "search for extraterrestrial intelligence." There are other organizations around the world with the same intent, but S.E.T.I. here in the United States has been at the forefront. While they have many radio-telescopes around the nation, their main site was for a long time at Arecibo, in Puerto Rico. It is a very large dish that is built right into a mountain and for years has boasted its size above all others. But for all its size and its great cost, it has produced nothing where the search for E.T. is concerned.

On September 10, 2000 an article appeared in the London Times Mirror, which stated that the United Nations was making plans to build a large radio-telescope array. This will actually be a large number of dishes, scattered over thousands of miles that will be controlled by a very sophisticated computer system. They plan on having this completed by 2015.

That article proves that the madness for finding supposed other civilizations isn't just an American one. It will go down in history as just another way man wasted money and resources in a vain attempt to find space brothers. Here in America, we went through this in the 1960's and 1970's when we had the space race to the moon. Now, don't get me wrong, because I am proud that our nation could accomplish such a fete, but what was it for? It couldn't have been for moon colonization because that never happened. It couldn't have been in preparation to mine the moon for its resources because that hasn't happened either. So, basically, it had to be just for bragging rights to say that we did something.

Meanwhile, poverty and starvation still occurred in large numbers as it still does today. Again, it would be a different story if we were up there now taking the resources of the moon, but instead all we did is leave some equipment and a lot of waste there.

So, in my opinion, and I am sure in the opinion of many others, this SETI thing is just a waste of energy, time and money. And what if, by some wild imagination, these dreamers did get some sort of signal from the universe? What is to say that it is not something that we sent out there, that somehow was reflected back? This has happened before.

Now the people who want to build this thing are doing so to find space brothers. Don't they realize that if there were civilizations out there who wanted to contact us, and who were able to make the trip here, they would have done so? Perhaps we aren't worth the bother? Now let's pretend (a good word where this subject is concerned) that we could get a signal from a civilization that is perhaps equal to or just a bit great or lesser than our civilization? Real communion could never be established because of the time and distance factor. It would be like two people in wheelchairs on either side of the Grand Canyon yelling at one another. It would be a fruitless venture.

Now, let us look at another possibility. Let's say that they do find a message from another civilization and they first make themselves out to be friendly but later they reveal themselves to be malevolent. Since I believe that aliens are demonic, it could only turn out for the worse. Those who invite disaster do so out of ignorance.

The real reason for the SETI group and their search for space brothers is summarized in the last paragraph of the article. It states:

“Such a discovery will change our perception of our role in the cosmos. This telescope will be a great scientific instrument, but its effect on humanity could be profound.”

The above statement is a warning that many people will not pick up until it is too late. It is saying basically, that if they were to ever contact another civilization, it would null and void traditional religion. The two religions that would be immediately affected would be the three western religions; Christianity, Judaism. These religions all claim that man is a special creation in the universe, made in Gods image.

It would not surprise me, and as a matter of fact I expect that a false discovery will be made by these groups in order to usher in the final world government of man. The SETI discovery will coincide with the arrival of supposed extraterrestrials, which in fact will be the demons of hell that have been around us all along. When these evils transpire, it will be quite a test of faith for the two religions. I really do not know much about Judaism, but I suspect that there will be quite a few who call themselves Christians now, who will leave the faith to believe in the dealings of darkness.

Don't you remember that when I was with you I used to tell you these things? 6 And now you know what is holding him back, so that he may be revealed at the proper time. 7 For the secret power of lawlessness is already at work; but the one who now holds it back will continue to do so till he is taken out of the way. 8 And then the lawless one will be revealed, whom the Lord Jesus will overthrow with the breath of his mouth and destroy by the splendor of his coming. 9 The coming of the lawless one will be in accordance with the work of Satan displayed in all kinds of counterfeit miracles, signs and wonders, 10 and in every sort of evil that deceives those who are perishing. They perish because they refused to love the truth and so be saved. 11 For this reason God sends them a powerful delusion so that they will believe the lie 12 and so that all will be condemned who have not believed the truth but have delighted in wickedness. 2 Thessalonians 2:5-12

The Spirit clearly says that in later times some will abandon the faith and follow deceiving spirits and things taught by demons. 2 Such teachings come through hypocritical liars, whose consciences have been seared as with a hot iron. 1 Timothy 4:1-2

Society has gone through almost five decades of conditioning to accept this great lie that will soon be perpetuated on mankind. In the 1940's and 1950's society was conditioned to believe that there could be life in outer space. There were many science fiction films that brought that possibility to us. The aliens that Hollywood presented to us at that time were malevolent and frightful, but they were still aliens. Then in the 1960 the tide turned and Hollywood introduced us to aliens that were sometimes good and sometimes evil. Toward the end of the decade we were treated to “2001 – A Space Odyssey” which gave us our first “New Age” flair to the whole alien agenda. Star Trek introduced us to wonders and endless possibilities where human ingenuity are concerned.

Star Trek and other things both at the movies and on television got us used to the idea that there were many different races in the cosmos, or that at least the possibility was there. This was also perpetuated by movies and series like “Star Wars,” and “Battlestar Galactica.” Then, we were treated to other movies like “E.T.” and “Close Encounters of The First Kind,” where aliens were presented as kind hearted creatures who only had our best interests in mind. By the time that the 70’s ended, our brains were washed into believing that there are extraterrestrials, and for the most part they were benevolent to mankind.

Through the 80’s and 90’s those notions were constantly presented to us to keep the illusion alive. New things began to come to light during those times, namely “alien abduction,” and the psychic connection between those involved in the occult and the information they were receiving from those beings who have hid behind an extraterrestrial facade. The demonic realm knew that mankind would never take the kidnapping of its citizens kindly, and that is why the “Close Encounters...” movie was so important. It trivialized the crime that they perpetrate and caused society to look at it like the victims are really special people who are taken on a galactic amusement ride. Did you know that if you have a satellite television set up you can find that movie on some channel at least twice a month? The conditioning must be kept alive.

In the 80’s and 90’s occult practices really started to come out of the closet. We see Madame Cleo and the psychic hotline commercials on television all of the time to the point of nausea. Well, there are many psychics that are channelers. That is, they have other beings speak through them. Many of these people channel beings who claim to be extraterrestrials who have a message for mankind. That message is to change our ways or our “mother nature” will change our ways for us. Again, they are playing big brother and claim to have our best interest at heart.

What you don’t hear about their messages is that they are violently set against anything having to do with the Judeo-Christian ethic. And to top it off, they go out of their way to claim that Jesus Christ is not divine and that “Godly” ways are obsolete. They say that Jesus, Buddha, Mohammad, and the founders of other religions were really the same person who came into the world at different lifetimes to guide mankind in the right direction. It is interesting that they don't really go into the fact that the message of Jesus differs from all those other religions, and that only Jesus claims divinity.

So, why have I said all of this? Well, I have proven that for the last 50 or so years we have been conditioned by the media, and by people in science who we have thought we could trust. They have filled our minds with thoughts of aliens to the point where a majority of Americans polled believe that there is intelligent life elsewhere in the universe. Our minds have been so filled with muck and mire that we can't think for ourselves anymore. It's very dangerous when we let others do our thinking for us. Adolph Hitler once said that if you tell a lie long enough you can get people to believe it. And look at where that got Germany and the rest of the world; 50 million dead and a world in shambles. He only had twenty years to tell his lie and the S.E.T.I. people, along with Hollywood and the rest of science has had over fifty years. The great delusion is real and more people fall for it every day.

You see, the whole deal is a battle for the minds and souls of men. No matter how extravagant the New Age makes it look, or no matter what lies come from the channelers, it is a battle for mankind. The Apostle Paul reminds us of this when he writes in Ephesians:

For we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places Ephesians 6:12

Be self-controlled and alert. Your enemy the devil prowls around like a roaring lion looking for someone to devour. 1 Peter 5:8

And it doesn't take a rocket scientist to figure out that if these beings go so far out of their way to discredit Jesus Christ and The Father, they must belong to the adversary of God, namely, Satan. So, those creatures who try to pass themselves off as extraterrestrials, are in fact the same demons who have been deceiving man from the beginning of time; nothing more and nothing less.

Do not be surprised if someday soon some scientist somewhere will stand up and say that they have found life on Mars, or perhaps that they have gotten a signal from the cosmos. And, don't be surprised if that is followed by a visitation by beings claiming to be from other worlds or galaxies. And surely don't be surprised if western culture discards Christianity like a worthless rag when all of this occurs. IF you are a Christian your faith will be challenged and I pray that you will have read what was on this page and will know the truth. Only those who are wholly and fully in Jesus Christ will not be duped into this grand delusion.

Now, there is only one thing that is holding back these things from coming into full fruition, namely the Holy Spirit of God:

For the secret power of lawlessness is already at work; but the one who now holds it back will continue to do so till he is taken out of the way. 8 And then the lawless one will be revealed, whom the Lord Jesus will overthrow with the breath of his mouth and destroy by the splendor of his coming. 9 The coming of the lawless one will be in accordance with the work of Satan displayed in all kinds of counterfeit miracles, signs and wonders, 10 and in every sort of evil that deceives those who are perishing. They perish because they refused to love the truth and so be saved. 11 For this reason God sends them a powerful delusion so that they will believe the lie 12 and so that all will be condemned who have not believed the truth but have delighted in wickedness.

2 Thessalonians 2: 7-12

So, this is a call to all Christians to get ready for what will happen in the future. Read your Bible and pray a lot so that you can be able to withstand the wiles of Satan which will soon befall the Earth and all who live here. My prayers are for you and yours.
