

BARACK OBAMA AND THE COMING CIVIL WAR

Preface: The evil Obama left office in January of 2017 and he was replaced by Donald Trump. While many of the things that I have written were written while Obama was in office, it may seem to some that he is no longer a factor. The fact is that Obama is still very much in the scope of American and World politics, acting much like a deposed despot that is trying to thwart the efforts of Donald Trump so that anarchy can continue to reign on our streets and in our communities. With that in mind, please read on.

I have not been quiet about what I feel is going to happen in the days to come. Way back in 2007/2008 when Barack Obama made the proclamation that he was going to “fundamentally transform” the United States it appeared to me that we were on the road to destruction. I explained long ago that this was an omen of things to come. We live in a nation of intellectually deficient people who could not process what that actually meant. To many it sounded like a good thing. It sounded like Obama was going to take everything bad in American and make it good. But when we look at word definitions, we find out that his plans would be insidious.

Fundamental is defined as: forming a necessary base or core; of central importance.”

The definition of transform is: “make a thorough or dramatic change in the form, appearance, or character of.

So, what seeing that fundamental means the base, or foundation of central importance and to transform means to make a dramatic change in the form, appearance or character of that foundation, Obama was saying that he was going to turn the United States upside down. He was going to follow and enhance the planks of communism in order to finish off the work that had begun as early as back in the 1930’s then Roosevelt brought socialism into our nation. Roosevelt was the cancer that appeared and Obama would be the metastasis that would finish the cancer victim off. In his speech, Obama was saying that he would change, rearrange or destroy the very foundation that the United States was founded on. We’ve witnessed him doing that for the past six years and he doesn’t show any signs of stopping anytime soon.

My dad was not a very educated man, but he was wise and had great discernment. He always told me that as time advanced, the USSR would become more like the USA and the USA would become more like the USSR and that someday one would not be able to tell the difference. Since the fundamentals of America have always been religion, liberty and an incredible history of great thinkers, these were the things that the communist left would have to destroy, or water down slowly over the period of three or four generations. This is exactly what we have seen. The elite know that the majority of people would rather not think and would allow others to think for them. Over the past century this is exactly what has happened; a watering down and a dumbing down of the populace. Yes, there were and are people like many of you, my dad and myself that can see the evil that is advancing, we have been for the most part ignored and ascribed the title of conspiracy theorists. Communists are quick to disqualify the testimony of intelligent people. When the communist in any society become greater in number, they always search out the intelligencia for prison and extermination. They fire generals that they see as threats and they water down and then indoctrinate the lower military grades to accept change. They make a mockery out of people like Joseph McCarthy who tried to expose communists in the government back in the 50's and once they have gelded men like McCarthy, they ascribe his name to anyone that questions if there is a plot within the government.

Don't get me wrong, Obama isn't the only fiend in this bad drama. He is the worse character so far, but he is not alone on stage. Many conservatives revere George W. Bush and some still naively believe that he is a believer in Yeshua. However, they forget that Bush pushed through the "Patriot Act," which would later be turned around to make Americans the criminals and allow the terrorists freedom to roam wherever they please, even to the office of president. Bush is the one that put an end to Posse Comitatus, a law that stemmed from the Civil War era which stated that Government troops would never be able to enforce law here in America. Because of Bush, the military can be brought in to quell insurrections and revolts. Don't believe it, just wait and see.

There has always been controversy over executive orders that presidents are permitted to use in times of war and natural disaster. The problem is that Obama has used the use of executive order whenever he believes that Congress will not abide by his will. This is an abuse of power that basically negates the two houses of Congress and makes it so Obama seems to be ruling by fiat. One recent and current example is Obama threatening that he will use executive orders to nationalize millions of illegal aliens that have migrated to the United States. Many have been brought in recently, the result that Obama has emasculated border control agents. In essence, Obama has taken down the border and flooded the country with undocumented (illegal) aliens. Now, Obama wants to give them amnesty and allow them all to become American citizens. And why not in Obama's eyes. He has lost the trust of both parties and his numbers in the polls show that all of America (except for the ardent communists that still have his stickers on their cars) want him out of office; many calling for impeachment.

I've compared Obama to a wounded and cornered animal. This type of creature is dangerous and they will do anything that they can to gain their freedom again. A wounded animal will attack anything that is in its way in order to get past them. Obama knows that he's not popular and there has never been a sociopathic/psychotic individual that can accept defeat. So what will Obama do? There is no question that he plans on using executive privilege to give amnesty to the millions of illegal aliens who in return will give Obama their undying devotion. Even now there is great speculation that he might require them to serve in the military. Imagine, millions of illegal aliens flooding the armed forces, all hating Americans and armed with the latest in military gear. Posse Comitatus is no longer in effect to keep them from killing the general population. Obama said at the beginning of his first term that he would like to have a Civilian Core of military service that would be used as police to keep the peace here in America. Obama has also fired many generals and high-ranking military, probably because he found out that they would oppose him during any insurrection by the American people.

Years ago, the military conducted a poll asking their people if they would ever fire on American citizens. The result of the first poll was almost everyone polled saying that they would never fire on American citizenry. As time has progressed many of those people have lost their lives in war or and others have retired or just discharged out of the military. Their positions have been filled by a younger generation that see life as a surreal video game, especially in a military sort of way. As the same poll has been taken over the years the percentage of those who have stated that they would never fire on American citizenry has fallen. I recently had occasion to be around a young lady who is in the National Guard. One day I screwed up the courage to ask her if she was ever given a poll that asked her if she would fire on American Citizens. She said that she never took such a poll. I then asked her if she thought that it would ever be possible that she would fire upon her own countrymen. She thought about it for a moment and then answered, "well, if they were breaking the law, I guess I would." Her answer was a revelation as to what the future holds. You see, she said she would if someone was breaking the law. So, let's say that Obama says that it is illegal to protest in the streets, or that it is illegal to be a Christian or practicing Jew. Technically, if a person did protest in the street, or was found to be a practicing Christian or Jew, they would be breaking the law and people like the young lady that I polled would feel obligated to fire upon us. She and other like her would not consider that she might be killing her own family members or friends, but she was just upholding the law. I truly believe that my young lady friend has a conscience so she personally would not fire on Americans, but other would. And, what about all of those former illegal aliens that are in the military soon, and who hate Americans, they would not hesitate to fire on Americans, or should I say “always legal Americans.”

I mentioned that Obama is a cornered and wounded animal, so to speak. He knows that he can't legally run for a third term and still has more to do to destroy America. Let's look at a hypothetical situation. It is November of 2016 and the people are so fed up that they elect a Republican by a wide margin. Obama's plans for destruction will be in jeopardy. In this case, either the election will be questioned as being rigged and that, along with all of the now legal, illegal aliens has the American people in an uproar. There are reports of insurrection in the streets and the word “revolution” has been circulating. Obama sees the writing on the wall and writes an executive order declaring martial law throughout the United States. He declared himself President Indefinite. He then suspends the Constitution for what he will claim “a short period until things settle down.” Things don't settle down and Obama calls on the National Guard to bring about peace. Half of them defect and the other half go on a murderous rampage. The people fight back and start to win. Then Obama calls on the hundreds if not thousands of foreign troops that are based in our nation and they join in the fight against Americans. They too are having a hard time. Next, Obama calls for the UN to come to his aid, and they comply. At the same time, all of the sleeper cells of terrorists come out of their holes and start to murder Americans in great numbers. If you think that the tragedy in Syria has been horrible, get ready, because it is coming here.

Who will win the civil war is only something that Yahweh knows? It sure seems to be that this scenario, or something like it will occur in the immediate future. I would encourage everyone reading this to get ready. By that, I mean get right with Yahweh. Whether you fight or not is up to you and I am of the opinion that Yahweh will honor anyone who will fight to protect his or her family, loved ones and neighbors. “Greater love hath any man, that he lay down his life for his friends.” If you're led not to fight, but to pray and lead people spiritually then that is sanctioned too. The basic thing to remember is that while we have been legal citizens of the United States, Paul was a citizen of Rome. He knew however that his true allegiance was to the Kingdom of Yahweh first and foremost. I can't tell you what to do. Just pray and ask Yahweh for directions and ask Him to guide you in all ways. That is reasonable and proper. Let's keep all believers in prayer. Whether you're sealed up in a city, or you're moved to a FEMA Camp or you somehow survive out in a rural area, we all need to keep ALL believers in Yeshua and Jews in prayer. The second Holocaust is upon us, so let's act like responsible people of Yahweh, drop all of the differences in doctrine and show the world that we are Believers in Yeshua by the love that we show for each other.