

I LIKE THE TRUMP CARD

I don't usually post "politics" proper on this blog, but what has been happening lately has me greatly amused.

I have been watching with baited breath as this whole thing with Donald Trump has been playing out. They say that there is nothing more dangerous than a man with nothing to lose. We see it all the time in Hollywood movies, where the hero in the movie is the man or woman that has lost everything and they are a winner either by living or dying. You know, the war movie where the soldier realizes that he's outnumbered so he just goes for the gusto. Sometimes this figure dies, other times he lives to be awarded for his valor.

However, an even more dangerous man is one who has every resource at hand and doesn't need the help of others, and who doesn't worry about what others think about what he says or does. These attributes are found in Donald Trump. Either way that he turns, he's a winner simply because he's doing what he wants to do and he's enjoying it. If Donald runs for office and he loses, well no big deal because he's stirred up the hornet's nest so much that he's exposed all of the corruption and misdeeds of those not only of the rival party, but especially his own political party. It's funny how all of the political Republican whores ran to him for money every election, yet they revile him when he speaks his mind about people and issues. If Donald does win then he can attempt to try to correct some of the many wrongs that have been perpetrated by the Communists in government and perhaps (I pray anyway) he can even order that charges of treason be brought up on those who have tried to ruin our lives and our governmental structure. We can only hope.

In many ways Trump and I are alike. One of my favorite phrases is (and I'll clean it up a bit), "Opinions are like anus', everyone has one and they all stink." Just like Trump has been "suggested" to leave the Republican ticket, I have been asked to leave churches because of my opinions about churches, church boards, and the way that they corrupt things; as well as individual so called "Christians," who like to corrupt scripture and Biblical doctrine. I admire a man who speaks his mind, and I detest people who lie and spread gossip in the shadows.

Simply put, if Trump does get elected to the office of President of The United States, there will be certain outcomes. If he does get elected and he is not assassinated, it will be because the shadow elites want to use him to play their game. If he goes against what the elites want, he will not survive his first term and he'll be eliminated. In essence, Trump appears to be a political messiah to many in our nation. If Yahweh allows him to be elected for His purposes, Trump will be allowed to thrive and accomplish his plans and the shadow elites will not be able to stop him. This could happen if enough people have prayed for Yahweh to heal our land, but I don't see that being the case. Revivals always start with individuals first and they go to small groups and later go regional and/or national. I don't see or hear of much personal revival going on. I still see Christianity stuck in the quagmire of trying to serve Yeshua while wanting to appease the world, or worse, taking on the world's ways.

All that being said, I do believe that America is at a pivotal place in its history. Since Yahweh is the ultimate puppeteer of humanity then anything that is done will ultimately lead to His glory and the revelation of His majesty. We must always keep that in mind when looking at current events and speculating on future events. If you're a Believer in Yeshua, are filled with the Ruach Ha Kodesh and have read the Bible in its entirety then you know that basically all that happens is humongous play that comes to an end when Yahweh calls the curtain and it ends just like He has scripted it. From His point of view the play is already over and He's seen the outcome since the beginning line was uttered. The very moment that Genesis chapter one occurred; Revelation chapter 22 was occurring in Yahweh's perspective. That's why it is very important not to place Yahweh in the box of space/time; He lives outside of space/time and is free from its encumbrances.

So it amuses me when Donald freely labels Republicans and Democrats alike as liars, traitors, thieves, snakes and anything else that he pulls out of his pocket.

This know also, that in the last days perilous times shall come. For men shall be lovers of their own selves, covetous, boasters, proud, blasphemers, disobedient to parents, unthankful, unholy, Without natural affection, trucebreakers, false accusers, incontinent, fierce, despisers of those that are good, Traitors, heady, highminded, lovers of pleasures more than lovers of God; Having a form of godliness, but denying the power thereof: from such turn away. For of this sort are they which creep into houses, and lead captive silly women laden with sins, led away with divers lusts, Ever learning, and never able to come to the knowledge of the truth. Now as Jannes and Jambres withstood Moses, so do these also resist the truth: men of corrupt minds, reprobate concerning the faith. But they shall proceed no further: for their folly shall be manifest unto all men, as their's also was. 2 Timothy 3:1-9

The preceding scripture describes the sort of people that govern people in the United States. Look at every word listed in the script and you can think of one or two or even groups of people that sit in our government that fall under each classification. I'm not saying that Trump is holy by any sense of the word, but Yahweh has used worldly and unholy people all throughout history to shed light on the deeds of darkness. Look at the last sentence in the aforementioned scripture. Their folly shall be manifest unto all men, just as the folly of Jannes and Jambres was. That is what is happening in Washington DC and all over the country. Yahweh is using a humongous spotlight to show the darkness that infests the halls of every governmental institution in Washington and all over. Trump is that spotlight.

When I see what Trump is doing, I am reminded of shooting rats with my dad when I was a young boy. We would go to the dump near the town where we lived and we would turn over mattresses, couches and other things which rats would live under. When their nest was disturbed by the introduction of light the rats would scurry and run for cover. Trump is turning over the mattresses and the rats are highly agitated by him doing exposing them to the light.

I don't know if Trump is in this race for the sake of possibly winning the election and actually doing what he says he's going to do if he's elected. But even if he isn't serious, and he's just in the race to be a stirring pot that's okay with me. It's high time that someone who has the means and has nothing to lose gets out there and takes the masks of humanity off of politicians and exposes them for the swine that they are. I pray for Donald Trump, for protection and success. If this country is indeed circling the drain, it would be nice if the libtards, communists and other freaks of nature could actually see the vermin for what they are and perhaps feel a little remorse for being duped and electing the scum that is trying to ruin America. Oh, and for those who might want to get on my case and argue that we're supposed to pray for our leaders I declare that I do; Psalm 109 works perfect and I pray it every chance that I get.
