

IS IT SIN OR ABOMINATION?

Over the past few months we've watched in ad nausea as the media has built up Bruce Jenner as a symbol of liberty and freedom of choice where his transsexual escapades are concerned. Truthfully, there are many things that don't affect me the way that this whole charade has. Perhaps it's because of my age and the many things that I've seen during my scant 56 years of life that I'm able to stomach as much as I do, but to be frank, the whole Bruce Jenner thing has caused me to actually become nauseated and it has caused me to turn my head away in disgust. Let me state right off the bat that I refuse to call him by his new adopted name because it is a qualifier of his sin and wanton regard for anything is holy, and I'm not going to play into his little abomination.

For the better part of 37 years I lived just outside of the Bay Area of San Francisco, and anyone who knows anything knows that it is probably the equivalent of what Sodom once was. I've met many people, queers, lesbians, and just about everything under the sun. I've been impressed by the outward decency of some and sickened by the outright depravity of others. It is not uncommon to be repulsed by sin, and especially by abomination.

We know that Yahweh hates all sin; in fact, some was so grievous to him that he destroyed a whole world with a flood and whole cities over some sins. When one reads the Tanakh and reads how Yahweh ordered the Israelite's to destroy whole cities, including women, children and animals, and not to take any spoils from that town, we have to assume that the sin of those people was egregious. One has to surmise that perhaps there were other things that factored into His decision to cause the destruction of whole peoples. One has to wonder if it wasn't only the sin of those people that was the deciding factor, but maybe, aside from their spiritual flaws, they had physical flaws too.

It isn't hard to come to the conclusion of the truth that some sort of perversion of the human race occurred before the Deluge that destroyed all but 8 human beings and a boatload of animals. Scripture points to the fact that all mankind had become corrupt, and also the animals. How could all of mankind and the animals become corrupted? The only way could be if their genetic structure had become altered. Scripture tells us that Noah was perfect in his generations.

These are the generations of Noah: Noah was a just man and perfect in his generations, and Noah walked with God. Genesis 6:9

- Just: יָדָיִק – Strongs H6662 – righteous (as justified and vindicated by God)
- Perfect: תָּמִיִם – tamiym – Strongs H8549 – complete, whole, entire, sound
- Generations: דּוֹר – dour – generation (characterised by quality, condition, class of men)

We can see that Noah was a righteous man; who was complete, whole, entire and sound; in his quality and condition, or in His class of men. That suggests that the others were not that way; that they were unholy, that they were not complete, not whole, not entirely human and not sound in their makeup.

We read that during the time before the Flood the Beni Elohim were having relations with human women and producing something called Nephilim (Giants and/or Fallen Ones). It is highly conceivable that their genetic corruption tainted the whole of mankind by the time that Noah was born; and the scripture backs that up. We can also read extra-biblical texts that seem to augment this account, and also explaining further that the animals of the earth were genetically manipulated from their original kinds:

And their judges and rulers went to the daughters of men and took their wives by force from their husbands according to their choice, and the sons of men in those days took from the cattle of the earth, the beasts of the field and the fowls of the air, and taught the mixture of animals of one species with the other, in order therewith to provoke the Lord; and God saw the whole earth and it was corrupt, for all flesh had corrupted its ways upon earth, all men and all animals. And the Lord said, I will blot out man that I created from the face of the earth, yea from man to the birds of the air, together with cattle and beasts that are in the field for I repent that I made them. Jasher 4:18-19

It would seem that there are some things that Yahweh sees as particularly offensive; things that anger Him so much that it causes Him to want to blot out a person or group of people. The whole Nephilim thing falls into that category, as do things like homosexuality. Practices like these are called Abominations; things that anger Yahweh; not like common sin that caused Yahweh to make provisions in Ancient Israel to provide forgiveness through sacrifice and later through the shed blood of Mashiach Yeshua. What exactly is an Abomination? I have included the transliteration and definition from the Hebrew below:

ABOMINATION: תּוֹעֵבָה tow`ebah – Strongs H8441 – Feminine Noun

A disgusting thing, abomination, abominable; in ritual sense (of unclean food, idols, mixed marriages); in ethical sense (of wickedness etc)

(Source: <http://www.blueletterbible.org/lang/lexicon/lexicon.cfm?Strongs=H8441&t=KJV>)

And in addition to that, I included the definition from Webster's 1828 edition of the dictionary. So many word meanings have changed or been corrupted in the last 150 years that it is better to look at old definitions to get the clear picture of the translators:

ABOMINATION, noun

1. Extreme hatred; detestation.
2. The object of detestation, a common signification in scripture.

The way of the wicked is an abomination to the Lord. Proverbs 15:8.

3. Hence, defilement, pollution, in a physical sense, or evil doctrines and practices, which are moral defilements, idols and idolatry, are called abominations. The Jews were an abomination to the Egyptians; and the sacred animals of the Egyptians were an abomination to the Jews. The Roman army is called the abomination of desolation. Matthew 24:15. In short, whatever is an object of extreme hatred, is called an abomination

(Source: <http://webstersdictionary1828.com/>)

We can see that abominations are the way of the wicked person. The word "wicked" is another word that has been corrupted; it is a word that in our present day is a word of acclaim; a word used to describe something that is awesome if applied in the vain of societal norms. However, the word "wicked" is much better defined in the 1828 Webster's Dictionary:

WICKED, adjective [The primary sense is to wind and turn, or to depart, to fall away.]

1. Evil in principle or practice; deviating from the divine law; addicted to vice; sinful; immoral. This is a word of comprehensive signification, extending to every thing that is contrary to the moral law, and both to persons and actions. We say, a wicked man, a wicked deed, wicked ways, wicked lives, a wicked heart, wicked designs, wicked works.

No man was ever wicked without secret discontent.

2. A word of slight blame; as the wicked urchin.

3. Cursed; baneful; pernicious; as wicked words, words pernicious in their efforts.

[This last signification may throw some light on the word witch.]

The wicked in Scripture, persons who live in sin; transgressors of the divine law; all who are unreconciled to God, unsanctified or impenitent.

From the definition above we can ascertain that when something or someone is “wicked,” it is far worse than ignorant sin or actions of poor humans who are born with a “sin nature,” and can be redeemed by the blood of Yeshua. It would seem, from the definition that wicked people are an abomination to Yahweh and abominations are committed by wicked people.

All of this seems to lean us toward the fact that there are two types of people in this world; those who are indeed redeemable, and those who are born to perdition. For instance, we know from Genesis that Yahweh states that there are two seeds of people:

And the Lord God said unto the serpent, Because thou hast done this, thou art cursed above all cattle, and above every beast of the field; upon thy belly shalt thou go, and dust shalt thou eat all the days of thy life: And I will put enmity between thee and the woman, and between thy seed and her seed; it shall bruise thy head, and thou shalt bruise his heel. Genesis 3:14-15

There are some who demonize the fact that there are two seeds. This is illustrated by the seemingly endless battle between the Calvinist and Arminist camps. However, the words above are quite clear, stating that there is a Satanist Seed and a Messianic Seed. Are there any other proofs that there are people just born to be bad? Well yes, there are a few, and to put to rest that this is an “Old Testament” idea, these scriptures are all found in the Brit Hadasha (New Testament). The word used in the Brit Hadasha is “perdition.” What does that word mean in the Greek texts?

Perdition: apōleia – ἀπώλεια – Strongs G684 – 1. destroying, utter destruction of vessels; 2. a perishing, ruin, destruction, of money, the destruction which consists of eternal misery in hell.

So, what let’s list some of the scriptures that mention perdition, and what their context is:

While I was with them in the world, I kept them in thy name: those that thou gavest me I have kept, and none of them is lost, but the son of perdition; that the scripture might be fulfilled. John 17:12

And

And in nothing terrified by your adversaries: which is to them an evident token of perdition, but to you of salvation, and that of God. Philippians 1:28

And

Let no man deceive you by any means: for that day shall not come, except there come a falling away first, and that man of sin be revealed, the son of perdition 2 Thessalonians 2:3

And

But they that will be rich fall into temptation and a snare, and into many foolish and hurtful lusts, which drown men in destruction and perdition. 1 Timothy 6:9

And

Now the just shall live by faith: but if any man draw back, my soul shall have no pleasure in him. But we are not of them who draw back unto perdition; but of them that believe to the saving of the soul. Hebrews 10:38-39

And

Whereby the world that then was, being overflowed with water, perished: But the heavens and the earth, which are now, by the same word are kept in store, reserved unto fire against the day of judgment and perdition of ungodly men. 2 Peter 3:6-7

We can see that it is quite clear that there are those who are born to perdition, or born toward destruction. It is as though they were born to evil and wickedness and that their progenitor seed is that of the Serpent Seed.

We also see from the scripture in Hebrews, that there are those who “appear” to come to faith and who are later taken back into the fold of the wicked. If they were born to perdition, and/or born of the “other” seed, then they were probably never saved to begin with. They were either deceived into thinking that they were part of Yahweh’s flock, or they came into the flock to cause problems and then later leave. Note that the following scripture doesn’t have to do with those who slide back a little in their faith, but those who taste of the faith and reject it outright, or fall away.

For it is impossible for those who were once enlightened, and have tasted of the heavenly gift, and were made partakers of the Holy Ghost, And have tasted the good word of God, and the powers of the world to come, If they shall fall away, to renew them again unto repentance; seeing they crucify to themselves the Son of God afresh, and put him to an open shame. For the earth which drinketh in the rain that cometh oft upon it, and bringeth forth herbs meet for them by whom it is dressed, receiveth blessing from God: But that which beareth thorns and briers is rejected, and is nigh unto cursing; whose end is to be burned. Hebrews 6:4-8

There are other Hebrew words that equate to or nearly equate to Abomination. They are:

ra': רע – Strongs H7451 – wicked, injurious; from its root, which indicates its nature as breaking up all that is good or desirable; injurious to all others; in Greek poneros – evil, or kakos – bad. Hence especially of moral depravity and corruption, and lewdness; English “good-for-nothing” (1 Samuel 17:28), naughty (2 Kings 2:19; Proverbs 20:14; Jeremiah 24:2).

rasha': רשע – Strongs H5763 – wickedness, in the sense of the restless activity of fallen nature (Job 3:17; Isaiah 53:9, 57:20,21) where it refers to the activity of the impious and ungodly, or robbers.

*zimmah: זמך – Strongs H2154 – meditated wickedness, plotted, planned, and designed; wicked, or lewd purpose, especially of sins of unchastity.

When we see other words for sin in the Tanakh, we see that these things are either done unwittingly or they are done through the natural course of acting via the sin nature that we are all born with. In other words, abominations are done by wicked people; they are calculated and premeditated and done for the ill of those who are not abominable. Interestingly enough, there are many scriptures where the following words are followed with a promise that Yahweh will heal or forgive those who exhibit or possess these traits of sin. Also note that the following are sin, and not abomination:

chat'a: חטא – Strongs H2398 to sin; to miss the mark (as in Judges 20:16). Also of the feet, to stumble and fall (Proverbs 19:2, hence, morally a coming short, blameworthiness – not necessarily willful. An act of thought, word, or deed, not a condition. Usually (but by no means always) rendered sin, and other words also so rendered.

*'asham: אשם – Strongs H817 –trespass, to sin through error or ignorance. Compare Leviticus 4:13; Leviticus 5:2,3; Numbers 5:6,7; Judges 21:22; 1 Chronicles 21:3; 2 Chronicles 19:10; 2 Chronicles 28:10,13. 'Asham is a breach of commandment, done in ignorance, but, when the guilt is proved, requiring atonement.

'avon: עֲוֹן – Strongs 5771 – iniquity, specially connected with idolatry; used because an idol is nothing and vanity (compare Hosea 4:15, 5:8, 10:5,8; Amos 5:5, marg.); hence, 'avon comes to mean vanity (compare Job 15:35; Psalm 10:7; Proverbs 22:8, etc.). The word has many renderings, which are pointed out in the passages when it occurs. 'Avon is rather a course of bad conduct flowing from the evil desires of fallen nature than breaches of the law as such.

'avah: אָוַח – Strongs H5753 – perverseness, from the root to be bent or crooked; English wrung, that is to say, wrung out of course; expresses it (compare 1 Samuel 20:30; 2 Samuel 19:19; 1 Kings 8:47; Job 33:37, etc.). 5. 'amal: trouble, labour, toil; sin viewed in the light of the trouble it causes, and of its burden and its grievousness (Isaiah 10:1; Habakkuk 1:3); often rendered perverseness (Numbers 23:21), also mischief (Job 15:35).

'aval: אָוֵל – Strongs H5764 – unjust, unfairness, sin in its nature as deceitful, dishonesty, that which is not equal and right, unfairness in dealings. Rendered unjust (Psalm 43:1, 82:2; Proverbs 29:27; Isaiah 26:10), unrighteous (Leviticus 19:15,35).

'abar: עָבַר – Strongs H5674 – to pass beyond, transgress; hence, transgression (Psalm 17:3; Hosea 6:7, 8:1).

pash'a: פָּשַׁע – Strongs H6586 – revolt, rebellion; sin against lawful authority; often rendered transgression (Psalm 51:13; Proverbs 28:21; Isaiah 43:27). In Proverbs 10:12 the action of love or mercy shown stands in strong contrast to this character of the sin.

shagah: שָׁגָה – Strongs 7686 – erring from imprudence, rashness, being deceived, not willfully; And shagah, erring willfully through passion or wine, hence, to go astray. As sin, it is to be distinguished from presumptuous or high-handed sin. Compare e.g. Leviticus 4:13; Numbers 15:22 with Numbers 15:30; Psalm 119:21.

chasad: חַסֵּד – Strongs H2154 – shameful. A homonym (1) meaning here and Job 37:13 (where it is rendered “mercy” in authorized version and revised version). But “lightning” is not “mercy”, rather chastisement; (2) the other meaning is mercy, lovingkindness, or grace. See note on Leviticus 20:14. Also rendered “reproach or shame.”

Is It Sin or Abomination?

Over the years of research and counseling that we have conducted we have run into people who have a certain fear. You see, there are people running around telling people who might have been born polydactyl or who might have blood relatives who have been born that way; or people who have been told that they are in the process of transhumanism; that they are not entirely human or they have Nephilim genes within them. Because of this, and the fact that real and full Nephilim shall not receive the promise of salvation has played into these poor individuals believing that they will not inherit salvation. We've had people tell us that they are very discouraged and some have even cried out of mourning, thinking that this promise is true. However, the fact that they have worried about it and been mournful is proof that they are not in danger. True Nephilim are reprobate; they are hell bent set against the things of Yahweh. Even if they could deceive people to believe that they (the real Nephilim that is) are human, they would somehow prove themselves to be liars and they would be exposed; especially if, as believers we "test all spirits."

Abomination is a trait and a condition that is not forgiven by Yahweh and it is caused by people who cannot be regenerated; who are predestinated to be born to perdition. Many sociopaths and all psychopaths fall into this category; that is why they are so adept when it comes to political endeavors or any profession that promotes self-importance, where a narcissistic mindset is paramount. They are also endowed with the ability to "have a form of godliness, but deny the power thereof." In Christian circles, they are always drawn to power, so, especially in the NAR circles, they are the ones who aspire to be apostles and prophets.

We're told in scripture that Judas Iscariot was a man born to perdition. We're told that he was stealing money from the fund and we know that he sold Yeshua for 30 pieces of silver. We're also told that he went out and hanged himself. Some might say that he was remorseful over what he had done, but that is only an inference and not a fact. We can assume that he realized that he had been born to perdition because he realized how prophecy mentioned him as the betrayer of Mashiach. Imagine seeing this and realizing that you were born to perdition? Taking yourself out would be what one would naturally do in such a position; not so much because of conscience, but because he didn't want to be used anymore in a manipulated way to accomplish Yahweh's purposes.

I started writing this blog because of all of the hubbub going around about Bruce Jenner's transsexual decision and his subsequent surgery to look effeminate. Many believers are echoing the world's view that he is a poor deceived man who isn't in control of his "destiny," and because of that, we should cater to Bruce and accept his choice and all of the other choices that he is making because of his first choice.

First of all, Bruce was born a man, with all the working parts of a men. To qualify this, he has produced children throughout his life. I watched his interview on television where he revealed all (supposedly) about his take on his nature and I found it to be a shamble of lies and I see a man who has given into his abomination. He mentioned that from his earliest life he wondered about his sexuality. Well, there is a big problem there. Bruce never mentioned that he was abused or that people made him feel like a female. What is strange is that when a child is growing up and hasn't approached the age of puberty, they could care less about who's a girl or boy. Yes, young boys and girls don't like each other much and they think that it's gross that someday they will be a mother or father, but they don't dwell on their sexuality. For a young boy (prepubescent) to start wondering about his sexuality, one could only surmise that (aside from the prodding by adults) is quite odd. Now, could it be that he's born to perdition and the enemy knew it and harassed him to cause him to think about his sexuality, that is a strong possibility.

When I was a young child, we never heard about people being queer, or a lesbian, or transsexual or any of the scads of perversions that are so prevalent today. I grew up in an urban environment, so if anyone was going to hear about it, I would have. Since we never heard about those things, we never thought about them or even pondered them. Bruce Jenner (I refuse to use his new name) is roughly nine years older than I am, so it was even less likely that he would have been around or heard about any of the perversions that we hear about today. Queers for the most part stayed in the closet back in the time when we were young; me and none of our friends knew that they even existed. So, to say that someone human influenced Bruce is highly unlikely. We also have the witness of his family, his mother and siblings who, as far as I've seen, have ever said that there was some sort of negative influence when Bruce was growing up. Yes, he had a dad that was tough on him, but didn't we all? All indications are that Bruce Jenner grew up in a normal family (normal for that time, not in apostate America) and that they were just common everyday American family.

Furthermore, I've heard quite a few Christians saying (also with the world) that people can be born with the opposite inclinations where sexual identity is concerned. Some have said that he was tempted in some sort of way and this is what caused him to change his mind about his identity. Well, heck, we're all tempted in many things, but we make the decision when we're young that our bad choices could hurt us, our parents, our teachers, our elders and a host of other people. We decide that there is a right and wrong and we choose to side on the side of what is right. I was tempted to steal when I was young. I was caught shoplifting at a department store upon which time my mother was called. She took me home and beat the living crap out of me and I never shoplifted again. I used to like to drink alcohol when I was around twelve years old. I made the decision that stealing and drinking liquor was wrong, that I didn't want to spend time in juvenile hall, plus I didn't like the feeling of vomiting up wine, so I stopped it. When I was a child I thought that cursing was fun and I remember thinking that I couldn't wait until I was an adult so that I could use profanity. I felt bad when I did it as a child, and getting caught cured me of that desire. What I'm trying to say is that we all face temptations in our young lives, and even every day of our present lives, yet we make decisions that our actions could cause problems with ourselves as well as others, so we walk the other way. That is called "repenting." Yeshua's comment most of the time after a healing or deliverance was, "go and sin no more."

Bruce said that he felt like a woman all of his life, but fought against it by being macho. Well, that's not fighting, that's denial. Fighting would have been seeking counseling or the help of some good clergy in the matter. Bruce was trying to fight a spiritual battle with physical tools, and he was bound to fail. In effect, Bruce was a one-legged man in a butt kicking contest; guaranteed to lose.

As most of you know, Jim Wilhelmsen and I counsel people who have been harassed by fallen angels in the guise of extraterrestrials. I've personally met people who have been harassed from adolescence (sometimes earlier) until they were in their forties, fifties and even older. They have pressed on, throughout their whole life looking for answers and trying to find people who could help them. Some of them have tried foil hats, electronic helmets, incantations and a variety of other things, both physical and spiritual but to no avail. The thing that they have over Bruce Jenner is that most of them don't stop and give in. Granted, some do give in, but for the most part people who want help keep seeking it until they find help or until they die. There is no look quite like the one that a harassed person gets when they realize that Yeshua is the answer, and that His Name can stop abduction, and that a relationship with Him can end the abductions altogether. They finally find that Psalm 23 experience of being led into the green pastures and beside the still waters and having a shepherd that takes care of them and protects them. So for Bruce to say that he couldn't find the answers I have to say poppycock because the answer is out there. In our generation, Yeshua was everywhere, and to say that Bruce never heard of the saving power of Jesus is highly doubtful. There were always people proclaiming Yeshua; we called them Bible Thumpers, Jesus Freaks and Religious Fanatics; they were everywhere.

In my life I've had the pleasure to meet three homosexual men who found freedom through Yeshua. All of them were stuck in a lifestyle that they felt trapped in and could not escape. All of them had to admit that the lifestyle that they had chosen was wrong and they all needed to want to be saved. They cried out to Yeshua and He was faithful to answer. One brother decided to become celibate and the other two married and had children, and they are still married today to the fine women who had compassion for them and decided to help them become stable human beings. So, for Bruce Jenner to say that there was no way out, again is poppycock.

We have to admit that only Yahweh knows the heart and only Yahweh knows if a person is Serpent Seed or if they are the Woman's Seed. Also, he is the only one who knows if a person is abominable or if they are plain old sinners. There are some clear indications that a person is "probably" born to perdition. For instance, people like Adolph Hitler, Joseph Stalin, Idi Amin, Jim Jones, Mohammed and yes, even Barack Obama are people born to perdition. Their actions are so heinous, so grievous and they are so puffed up with pride and hatred toward Jews and Christians that their character speaks for itself and their actions condemn them.

Abominable people can be used by Yahweh to bring people to repentance and yes, to salvation. For instance, King Cyrus the Persian King was used by Yahweh to release the Jewish captives from Babylon, not only that, but He funded and administered the rebuilding of Yerushalayim and the Beit Ha Mikdash. Yahweh used the stiff-necked rebellion of Pharaoh toward Him to bring glory to Himself. He used centuries of persecution against real Believers in Yeshua by the Vatican to cause some to lead the Protestant Reformation. In the last century he used the incredible evil of Idi Amin to bring about a national revival in Uganda. In addition, during that time he used the oppression of Communism in Russian and China to bring about salvation to countless souls; that same revival continues today to the point where there are more True Believers in Yeshua in China than there are people in the United States. In our current time, He is using the unspeakable evil and debauchery of Islam to cause many adherents of Islam to convert to Christianity. This brings a clearer meaning to the scripture:

Moreover the law entered, that the offence might abound. But where sin abounded, grace did much more abound: Romans 5:20

Abominable people who call themselves Christians can be used to further the Kingdom of Yahweh by bringing people to Yahweh, or setting Believers on the proper course.

Let me illustrate by telling my own story. Back in the 1980's I attended an Assemblies of God church. The pastor drew great crowds because he was preaching a lively message in a town where churches at that time were dull with no charisma. I was one of the people who attended that church because of the message and because the Ruach Ha Kodesh seemed to be working there. This pastor seemed to preach great messages, and I do believe that some of his preaching was given by Yahweh, using a faulty vessel. After a couple of years, I started to notice that the messages were all geared toward giving (Tithing) and that there inconsistencies between what the pastor preached and how he lived. There were just some things that didn't seem right and it bothered me. So, I prayed that Yahweh would bring clarity and tell me what was going on. Afterward, my prayer was answered and I could hear the messages in clarity, and they were not good. At one point, the pastor was trying to say that Yahweh is omnipotent, but he clearly used the word "impotent." I polled all of the people that I knew, and aside from myself, only two others heard what he really said. This was a wake-up call for me.

As time progressed, I started to question the pastor about things that he preached about. This made me a rebel in the eyes of many at the church. I ran into people who were seeing the same thing that I was seeing, some having already left the church. I prayed and prayed to be allowed to leave the church, asking for a sign. That sign came one day when the pastor was preaching and the message was totally out of line with scripture, upon which time I became nauseated. I knew that I had to leave. The pastor left the church a couple of years after I did, having a better opportunity in Southern California. Well, 25 years elapsed and I started to get emails from people from another town in California. They had read my story about what happened two and a half decades past and they were seeing the same thing in their church, BY THE SAME PASTOR. I told them to just put it in Yahweh's hands and let Him take care of it. About a year later I received an email with an attachment from one of those people. The attachment was from their local newspaper, announcing that this pastor was under investigation for embezzling money out of church members. About a month after that I received another letter with another attachment. This attachment was a newspaper clipping, stating that this same pastor, facing criminal prosecution, decided to put a bullet in his brain instead of face the consequences. Was this man an abomination? Well, judging by his actions, my answer would be yes, probably.

Those who delve into scientific answers for spiritual questions often will mimic what is said by Yahweh in His Word. For instance, it's always been said that if a person grows up in a house with alcoholics and/or drug abusers (and yes, I recognize alcohol as a drug), they have a greater chance of becoming addicted themselves. Scientists have noticed this too; here is one quote:

"Alcohol dependence and dependence on other drugs frequently co-occur, and strong evidence suggests that both disorders are, at least in part, influenced by genetic factors. In recent years, researchers have identified numerous genes as affecting risk for dependence on alcohol and drugs. These include genes involved in alcohol metabolism as well as in the transmission of nerve cell signals and modulation of nerve cell activity."

From “The Genetics of Alcohol and Other Drug Dependence,” by Danielle M. Dick, Ph.D., and Arpana Agrawal, Ph.D.

Okay, so we now know that bad traits can be passed along genetically. What does the Bible have to say about this; I mean, what does the maker of the human mind have to say in this matter?

And the Lord passed by before him, and proclaimed, The Lord, The Lord God, merciful and gracious, longsuffering, and abundant in goodness and truth, Keeping mercy for thousands, forgiving iniquity and transgression and sin, and that will by no means clear the guilty; visiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children, and upon the children's children, unto the third and to the fourth generation. Genesis 34:6-7

The proclamation made above by Yahweh was made in the year 1446 BC, roughly 3500 years ago. Now wouldn't it have been much easier to affirm that bad things get passes along by reading scripture, where Yahweh told it to us three and a half millennia ago? Well, any sane person would agree.

Sociopath, Psychopath, Abominable:

The secular world is governed mostly by psychology. The definition of psychology, and those who practice it, “psychologists,” is:

Psychology is the study of the mind and behavior. The discipline embraces all aspects of the human experience — from the functions of the brain to the actions of nations, from child development to care for the aged. In every conceivable setting from scientific research centers to mental healthcare services, “the understanding of behavior” is the enterprise of psychologists. [Source: American Psychological Association]

My definition of psychology is the human attempt of explaining the spiritual condition of mankind (mostly unregenerate mankind) and of how spiritual forces influence the physical human.

Personality disorders are quite numerous. According to psychology, three basic divisions of personality disorders are:

- Narcissist
- Sociopath
- Psychopath

Narcissists and sociopaths are very similar in nature but differ in that narcissists are many times unaware that they have a disorder whereas the sociopath is aware of their disorder (although they don't consider it a disorder) and they use it to their advantage. It is basically ignorance vs. deliberate. Where the spiritual definitions of such people are concerned, the narcissist is many times a sinner whereas the sociopath is an abomination. The basic difference between a sociopath and a psychopath is that the sociopath tries to have dominion socially, by playing with the mind but the psychopath, while embodying the same, also adds the component of causing physical harm or death. In my opinion, and from what I've seen, narcissists are redeemable because for the most part they act out of ignorance however sociopaths and psychopaths are probably serpent seed. Of course, only Yahweh knows who will or will not be saved, but I know that sinners can be saved but abominations cannot.

I think that everyone reading this journal entry has encountered sociopaths and some might have encountered a psychopath or two. But how do we recognize sociopaths; the abominable person? The following list will help you to recognize the traits of such people:

10 signs for spotting a sociopath

#1) Sociopaths are charming. Sociopaths have high charisma and tend to attract a following just because people want to be around them. They have a "glow" about them that attracts people who typically seek guidance or direction. They often appear to be sexy or have a strong sexual attraction. Not all sexy people are sociopaths, obviously, but watch out for over-the-top sexual appetites and weird fetishes.

#2) Sociopaths are more spontaneous and intense than other people. They tend to do bizarre, sometimes erratic things that most regular people wouldn't do. They are unbound by normal social contracts. Their behavior often seems irrational or extremely risky.

#3) Sociopaths are incapable of feeling shame, guilt or remorse. Their brains simply lack the circuitry to process such emotions. This allows them to betray people, threaten people or harm people without giving it a second thought. They pursue any action that serves their own self interest even if it seriously harms others. This is why you will find many very "successful" sociopaths in high levels of government, in any nation.

#4) Sociopaths invent outrageous lies about their experiences. They wildly exaggerate things to the point of absurdity, but when they describe it to you in a storytelling format, for some reason it sounds believable at the time.

#5) Sociopaths seek to dominate others and “win” at all costs. They hate to lose any argument or fight and will viciously defend their web of lies, even to the point of logical absurdity.

#6) Sociopaths tend to be highly intelligent, but they use their brainpower to deceive others rather than empower them. Their high IQs often makes them dangerous. This is why many of the best-known serial killers who successfully evaded law enforcement were sociopaths.

#7) Sociopaths are incapable of love and are entirely self-serving. They may feign love or compassion in order to get what they want, but they don’t actually FEEL love in the way that you or I do.

#8) Sociopaths speak poetically. They are master wordsmiths, able to deliver a running “stream of consciousness” monologue that is both intriguing and hypnotic. They are expert storytellers and even poets. As a great example of this in action, watch this interview of Charles Manson on YouTube.

#9) Sociopaths never apologize. They are never wrong. They never feel guilt. They can never apologize. Even if shown proof that they were wrong, they will refuse to apologize and instead go on the attack.

#10) Sociopaths are delusional and literally believe that what they say becomes truth merely because they say it! Charles Manson, the sociopathic murderer, is famous for saying, “I’ve never killed anyone! I don’t need to kill anyone! I THINK it! I have it HERE! (Pointing to his temple.) I don’t need to live in this physical realm...”

Just for a point of clarity, I’ve included a chart that shows compares and contrasts the differences between sociopaths and psychopaths.

Comparison chart: Psychopath vs. Sociopath

	PSYCHOPATH	SOCIOPATH
Suffers from	Antisocial personality disorder (ASPD); lack of empathy or conscience, delusional.	Antisocial personality disorder (ASPD).

Origin of illness	Psychologists generally use the term psychopathy to imply an innate condition of the individual. It's derived from the nature part of the nature vs. nurture debate.	The term sociopathy generally implies that environmental factors, such as upbringing, have played a role in the development of the ASPD.
Predisposition to Violence	High	Varied
Impulsivity	Varies; generally low	High
Behavior	Controlled	Erratic
Criminal behavior	Tendency to participate in schemes and take calculated risks to minimize evidence or exposure.	Tendency to leave clues and act on impulse.
Criminal Predispositions	Tendency for premeditated crimes with controllable risks, criminal opportunism, fraud, calculated or opportunistic violence.	Tendency for impulsive or opportunistic criminal behavior, excessive risk taking, impulsive or opportunistic violence.
Social relationships	Unable to maintain normal relationships. Values relationships that benefit themselves. May hurt family and friends without feeling guilty.	Tendency to appear superficially normal in social relationships, often social predators. Can empathize with close friends or family; will feel guilty if they hurt people close to them.

There are some Biblical words for abomination that differentiate between normal sinners and deliberate and abominable Serpent Seed:

scriptural definitions match those of worldly classifications of a sociopath and/or psychopath

ra': רע – Strongs H7451 – wicked, injurious; from its root, which indicates its nature as breaking up all that is good or desirable; injurious to all others; in Greek poneros – evil, or kakos – bad. Hence especially of moral depravity and corruption, and lewdness;

English “good-for-nothing” (1 Samuel 17:28), naughty (2 Kings 2:19; Proverbs 20:14; Jeremiah 24:2).

rasha’: רָשָׁע – Strong’s H5763 – wickedness, in the sense of the restless activity of fallen nature (Job 3:17; Isaiah 53:9, 57:20,21) where it refers to the activity of the impious and ungodly, or robbers.

zimmah: זִמָּה – Strong’s H2154 – meditated wickedness, plotted, planned, and designed; wicked, or lewd purpose, especially of sins of unchastity.

When it comes to Bruce Jenner and others like him, what is the synopsis? From what I’ve heard him say, he is self-serving. While he claims to care about his family, that care didn’t supersede his catering to his “own needs” and having the surgery that made him appear to be a woman. He says that he asked his kids what they thought, and that they all gave him their blessing. Well, if he cared about his kids, he would have never asked them to give their “blessing.” Imagine the castigation that any of his children would have received from the media and most of secular society had they protested? They pretty well had to give their blessing or be thought of as “homophobic,” or some such title.

We know from his interview that Bruce’s change has been long premeditated. One doesn’t just go in one day and have such a surgery, or even entertain such thoughts without thinking about it day in and day out. Bruce called it a struggle, but was it really a struggle? People who struggle are the type of people who struggle to overcome, not to throw up their hands and give in to the desires of the flesh.

Bruce had to know that his actions would give him notoriety and that he would be in the spotlight. This proves that there is no shame, no struggle with conscience that would denote that he was redeemable. Once the change was complete, Bruce flaunted his new sexuality before the whole world and became an instant hit with everyone in the deviate LGBT community. There is no shame, no remorse, nothing that could show that he could someday repent. Bruce likes his sinful state and seems intent on chugging right along, probably to become more and more deviate until the day that he dies in his abomination.

Now for all of those who think that I’m uncaring and mean; for those who think of me as homophobic or whatever, let me state something. If Bruce Jenner showed up on my doorstep, I would invite him into my home. I would feed him a meal and treat him just like any other visitor. I would however not expose any of my children or grandchildren to his perverted visage or message. I would also preach the Gospel of Yeshua to Bruce. If Bruce would sit and listen (which I seriously doubt) I would show him how Yahweh feels about his new “lifestyle” and how he could, if he wished to, repent and come to faith in Yeshua, the only person who can free him from what he has willingly done.

While I do believe in predestination, I do not pretend to know for sure who and who is not redeemable. That is Yahweh’s business, even though I am quite solid in my conviction in this matter. Yahweh is a God of miracles and His ways are not our ways, that is certain. Whether Bruce could be the one Abomination that He chose to save is His business.

Am I saying that all homosexuals are abominations? Heck no, and I gave three instances where homosexuals became believers in Yeshua. Many people choose the homosexual lifestyle because of ignorance or out of confusion, and those things are not willful sins. I’ve met homosexual males and females who are ashamed of the actions of the radical homosexual community. Therefore, my conjecture is that the militant homosexuals are probably the Abominations that cannot be saved whereas the homosexual that has a conviction of their state of being, or a conscious that knows right from wrong can most probably be brought to salvation. The three people that I mentioned earlier all came to the conclusion that what they were doing was wrong, and when presented with the truth, they repented and sought out help, and Yeshua was faithful to deliver them from that lifestyle.

These are my thoughts when it comes to such matters. I don’t expect everyone to believe what I’ve said, but it is my conviction that it is true, based on Scripture and unction by the Ruach Ha Kodesh.
