

THE NATIONAL CANCER OF AMERICA

I sat in shock as Yahweh was giving me the prophetic word that precedes this blog entry. I was at home during election day, November 06, 2012 and even in the morning I felt an uneasiness about our nation and our future. Having married again and having the responsibilities of being blessed with children, son's in-law and grandchildren through my union with my new wife I have great concern. I've never been anxious about what the future held because I know that our God is a God of eternity and He knows the end from the beginning and our current state is history to him, so to speak; however, I had an uneasiness. I was also aware through other words that Yahweh had given to me that Obama would win a second term, simply because our nation is being judged by Yahweh for our turning away from Him (Yahweh), and that Obama is a tool of Yahweh's correction of this nation and his actions might possibly lead to a national repentance.

I finished writing what Yahweh had me write, posted it and settled in for what I knew was going to happen. You see, I know about the shadow government, and I know also that although they think that they are accomplishing their own will, and the will of their master Satan, I also know that Yahweh allows these things to happen to accomplish His ultimate goal. It's a game of cosmic chess where the pieces think that they are moving themselves around however they do not realize that Yahweh is the one moving the pieces and in the end, He will checkmate them with the return of Yeshua in the second advent. It is a lot easier and more soothing to realize this; it really helps me to understand and accept all that is going on; especially the things that I know I cannot change.

At the same time, that doesn't mean that accepting one thing or another is an easy thing to do. I stood at my station at work all day on the 7th of November pondering what happened. I thought that surely the American people were smart enough to see what four years of Obama had gotten them; but the words of judgment echoed in the background. I was truly sad yet understanding at the same time; two emotions that don't work well in the human mind. My mind was fighting my heart. I remember thinking "goodness Yahweh, why does this have to happen in my lifetime?" It was right then that the proverbial bells rang and the light bulb lit up above my head; Yahweh was giving me a revelation and it finally clicked.

I remember stealing a few seconds and writing down a few points at my work station so that I would not forget, which seems to happen more as I get older. Right about then the rock station that they play at work started to play post-election Obama speeches and I left the room as the left had their moment of adulation over the airwaves. I came back into the room mumbling something like, "is it over yet." A woman that I worked with said "you mean, my man?" I said yes and turned back to work. The woman is a lesbian and being mature, about my age we know our differences and have agreed to disagree on some things so we get along pretty good. Again, it hit me, the words "I" and "Me" resounded within my being and things began to click again.

As I stood there, other memories came back to recall. I remembered a commercial with an African American woman praising Obama because she possessed a cell phone because of him. I remembered Muslims praising him because they believe that Obama would champion their cause. Then I remembered women praising Obama because he was a supposed advocate for woman's rights. Then there were the union workers, all having Obama bumper stickers on their cars and how they championed Obama on television and in the news. The list went on and on and again the words, "I" and "me" echoed in the background. And finally, those words came back to me; "Yahweh, how can you allow this to happen while I'm alive, while my generation lives. You see, although our generation is pretty messed up there are many of us who work hard and eek out a living for ourselves and our families. We pay our fair share of taxes to our states and the federal government and basically, we shoulder the burden for all of the social programs that support those who either can't or won't take on the burden of supporting society. However, on the other hand, we're also one of the most self-centered generations that ever existed, only exceeded in pride and arrogance by those generations that have followed us.

In Hebrew Scripture we are told that the Church is like a body, and that all members are of one body and that the body needs all of the members to survive and that if a certain body part refuses to work with the other then it is useless because they do the body no real good although it is sustained by the rest of the body. For instance, if you're right handed and your right-hand stops working you cannot write with it, you cannot eat with it and you cannot do all of the things that you depended on your right hand to do. Since your right hand is so important (if you are right handed of course) this malady will affect the whole body in a very detrimental way.

In your body your nervous system has two different parts, one called the autonomic, the system that controls things automatically like blinking of your eyes or the functions of most organs. You don't have to think for these things to happen. The other system is the sympathetic nervous system. I want a glass of water because I'm thirsty so I think about getting up and walking into the kitchen for the drink. I will myself to get up out of the seat and I will my legs to move toward the kitchen and so on.

When all things in a body are working correctly then we are said to be healthy. There are times however when some cells in a body, for some reason decide that they want to act differently and have things their own way. They realize that they can have their own way and they have convinced the body that there is nothing wrong by them acting this way. They continue to rebel against the natural order of the body and grow rapidly. The body realizes that these cells or the cell mass needs more to grow and deprives some of the obedient cells of the nutrients that they need. In many cases the disobedient cells break off and settle in other parts of the body and they start to think that they are special and more deserving than the other normal cells. The condition above is commonly called cancer and the cells that move to other places are called metastasis. The condition will, in time consume the body, making it weak and the body will die because the cancer literally consumed the body. The cancer cell is the “I” and the “me” of the body.

As I mentioned above, in the Hebrew Scriptures, the Apostle Paul tells us constantly about being one body and that we’re all supposed to act as we’re one body part and work in unison with the rest of the body, the head being Mashiach Yeshua. We’re also taught that “pride” is a sin and that humility and contriteness are virtues. The intentions of the founding fathers of our nation was that all people are created equals, the same as what the scriptures tell us. Their intent was that under constitutional law every person would be allowed to flourish and that every person would contribute to the good of the nation. Every person was part of one body. They knew perfectly well that:

Pride goes before destruction, And a haughty spirit before a fall. Proverbs 16:18

As time progressed in our Republic, we began to see that certain members of the body were not treated equally, some were held as slaves and a great war occurred, for many reasons, one of them being that slavery would end. Later women demanded the right to vote and be equal citizens and American society again experienced upheaval until woman were afforded equal rights with men. Later on other things would surface and corrections were made. The main crux of this was that equality was longed for; again, equality and not special recognition.

The Sixties saw many changes in societal revolution. People demanded to be special groups and to be treated and/or esteemed above others. It was no longer about equality, but about special endowments because of what they saw as unfair treatment. In the 50’s and 60’s people who lived in America were Americans, they had no subset to speak of. However, in the late 60’s people started to segregate into separate groups with the word “American” as a suffix to their identity. Then homosexuals who had been silent for years began to demand special treatment, defining themselves as an abused group of people. About this same time immigrants started to arrive from all over the world bringing with them their own cultures, religions and ways. Whereas before people would immigrate to America to be assimilated, to forget their past and to become Americans, they now kept their identity, refused to assimilate, and became separate entities within America. It was if the words of John F. Kennedy were never heard when he said forcefully in a speech:

“Ask not what your country can do for you, ask what you can do for your country.”

It seems as though that whole phrase has been turned around to say:

“Ask not what you can do for your country, ask what your country can do for you.”

Perhaps Kennedy was privy to information of what the Illuminati had for our nation and tried to turn things around before they happened, but we'll never know.

So, one will probably think that I am calling African Americans, women and immigrants a cancer on our society. That is so far from the truth. What I am saying is that when people demand special attention, time and time again, and when they refuse to be part of the body, and demand to be recognized as their own entities within a larger entity then those actions are a cancer in a society. When one body part demands that they have more rights than other parts of the body then the body tends to succor the needs of their demands; but getting free things from government is never enough because when a person realizes that they can get something for free they will surely try to get something else for free and soon society is struggling to meet the needs of a few instead of the many. When one person or group succeeds at this then other groups tend to try the same thing and this continues until the body cannot sustain itself because the rebel cells have consumed all of the nutrients that the body needs. The body dies.

America once claimed that it was “one nation under God,” and it was when America revered Yahweh and recognized him as our Sovereign. In subsequent years the nation has told Yahweh to go away, that they have no need for Him. Being a gentleman, He walks away. With him the body would have had immeasurable nutrients and he could have sustained us no matter what came against us; he strengthened our immune system. Without him, a cancer has been allowed to spread, and the cancer has petitioned to a man to cure its ills; a man that could care less if the body lived; a doctor who says that he is a specialist in healing, but cannot cure. This doctor, instead of curing the patient will nourish the spreading cancer by supplying it with the nourishment of overspending and even more promises that he cannot keep, nor does he intend to. He wants to fundamentally transform the once healthy body so that the whole body becomes one large vessel of cancer.

But wait one moment, we cannot blame the doctor. We (speaking of American society) spurned the one who kept us alive, the one who could save. A majority of the body went to this doctor because they believed his credentials and believed that he could cure our ills. In the Book of 1 Samuel we hear of another such doctor, or shall I call him a king.

So Samuel told all the words of the Lord to the people who asked him for a king. And he said, "This will be the behavior of the king who will reign over you: He will take your sons and appoint them for his own chariots and to be his horsemen, and some will run before his chariots. He will appoint captains over his thousands and captains over his fifties, will set some to plow his ground and reap his harvest, and some to make his weapons of war and equipment for his chariots. He will take your daughters to be perfumers, cooks, and bakers. And he will take the best of your fields, your vineyards, and your olive groves, and give them to his servants. He will take a tenth of your grain and your vintage, and give it to his officers and servants. And he will take your male servants, your female servants, your finest young men, and your donkeys, and put them to his work. He will take a tenth of your sheep. And you will be his servants. And you will cry out in that day because of your king whom you have chosen for yourselves, and the Lord will not hear you in that day." 1 Samuel 8:1-18

America has gotten the King that she has asked for. We never listened to the phrase, "be careful what you ask for, you might get it." Yahweh has given us what we deserve, his tool of correction, and the silly thing is that most people asked for this king; most expect him to be a deliverer however, one day in the future, when we sit in retrospection we will see that in want of something new, we have gotten something that we never expected or wanted, the new slavery. Because of a national insanity, people have falsely come to a conclusion that they can get something (or everything) for nothing; exactly what a cancer does. Yahweh has been told to leave, to go away and He did; but when he did, he left a large vacuum, a void that others will fill. These others will be enslavers, wicked taskmasters because when they have enticed people in, they are hopelessly trapped.

Today there are many people on social assistance. These are people of all walks of life, all races and all tongues. Many have subsisted off of the government for generations. Publicly they might be elated about sucking off the government tit, but deep down they know that they are in a new form of slavery. It is a slavery where the slave does not even notice that he or she is a slave, not until the lender calls in the loan, so to speak. Hebrew Scriptures talk about this:

The rich rules over the poor, And the borrower is servant to the lender. Proverbs 22:7

There was a day when jobs were more plentiful and people could walk out of this new slavery, they could decide not to “borrow” from the government and they knew that nothing was really “free.” Today however this mentality has changed and many jobs have been shipped overseas so that employment is hard to find, even for those who seek it. The slave auction tightens its hold now on all Americans, not just those who sought free nourishment. Within four years the Republic will be dead and will be totally replaced by the socialist slave state and America will join with all of the other cancer bodies around the globe. And why did this happen? Well, the root cause is that in our freedom we became too free. We grew up in a sense and wanted to move out of our Father’s house to be entities of our own. We did just what the Prodigal Son did; we took our inheritance from Father Elohim and spent it on riotous living. Can America come back? Can the cancer be cured; perhaps. The thing is that America, and the American Church need to realize that they are riddled with cancer and they will need to realize that the cure isn’t socialized medicine, nor can it come from any man; it can only come from the giver of life and the creator of all things. His name is Yeshua Ha Mashiach (Jesus Christ), whom when He healed the sick and infirm during His first advent many times followed the healing with the words, “go and sin no more.” Is America willing to follow that prescription? Time will only tell, I guess.

The healing will only start when Yahweh’s Church repents of its sins. Scripture is quite clear that:

For the time has come for judgment to begin at the house of God; and if it begins with us first, what will be the end of those who do not obey the gospel of God? 1 Peter 4:17

Yeshua’s Church, the Spiritual Israel must first come to grips that it has sinned, that it is sick with cancer and that it can be healed. Even Yeshua might find it hard to issue forth a call for America or any other nation to come to grips with its condition when His own Body is in need of a repentance and healing. He does promise however that:

If My people who are called by My name will humble themselves, and pray and seek My face, and turn from their wicked ways, then I will hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin and heal their land. 2 Chronicles 7:14

And until the Church realizes that it is full of idolatry (and I'm not referring to the Catholic Church only) then the following will continue to occur:

And the Lord said to me, "Next, take for yourself the implements of a foolish shepherd. For indeed I will raise up a shepherd in the land who will not care for those who are cut off, nor seek the young, nor heal those that are broken, nor feed those that still stand. But he will eat the flesh of the fat and tear their hooves in pieces. Zechariah 11:15

I hope that you know Yeshua and if you don't know him you will come to know Him. He's the only true deliverer. In closing, reflect on the following scripture and I hope it causes many to realize that each person's pride and arrogance has gotten us what we had and still have.

But know this, that in the last days perilous times will come: For men will be lovers of themselves, lovers of money, boasters, proud, blasphemers, disobedient to parents, unthankful, unholy, unloving, unforgiving, slanderers, without self-control, brutal, despisers of good, traitors, headstrong, haughty, lovers of pleasure rather than lovers of God, having a form of godliness but denying its power. And from such people turn away! For of this sort are those who creep into households and make captives of gullible women loaded down with sins, led away by various lusts, always learning and never able to come to the knowledge of the truth. Now as Jannes and Jambres resisted Moses, so do these also resist the truth: men of corrupt minds, disapproved concerning the faith; but they will progress no further, for their folly will be manifest to all, as theirs also was. 2 Timothy 3:1-9
