

YOU REAP WHAT YOU SOW

In our current age, with the influence of Hinduism and Buddhism there are a lot of people who have labeled what we once called “payback” as Karma. I’ve never liked this term, especially when used by believers in Yeshua because it is a mixing of faiths and a term that replaces what is known as Yahweh’s Law of Reciprocity. Yes, bad things do happen to people who do bad and good things do happen to people who do good, that is universal law, but it is not Karma.

Karma: the force created by a person’s actions that is believed in Hinduism and Buddhism to determine what that person’s next life will be like. [Source: Merriam Webster Online Dictionary]

Notice that the term in its correct context and proper definition is, according to eastern religions, a force that determines what occurs in a person’s next life depending on how they are in their current life. Of course, this concept is totally anti-biblical:

And as it is appointed unto men once to die, but after this the judgment: Hebrews 9:27

But there is a law of reciprocity that exists in Yahweh’s Kingdom. For those who do good they will receive good, sometimes in this life but it’s promised in the eternal realm. Those who sow in tears will reap in gladness, that is another promise. But what about the evil, what will they sow?

Even as I have seen, they that plow iniquity, and sow wickedness, reap the same. Job 4:8

He that soweth iniquity shall reap vanity: and the rod of his anger shall fail. Proverbs 22:8

Be not deceived; God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap. For he that soweth to his flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption; but he that soweth to the Spirit shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting. Galatians 6:7-8

But this I say, He which soweth sparingly shall reap also sparingly; and he which soweth bountifully shall reap also bountifully. 2 Corinthians 9:6

Can you see the difference between Karma and Biblical Truth? Reincarnation can never be proven to be true because it is not true and there is no test to show it to be true. However, Yahweh's Law of Reciprocity is a valid principle because we see it every day. The good and bad that happens in our lives happen because of what we do, or what our enemy Satan does to try to make us stumble or curse Yahweh. Yahweh can use these things for our good and the good of His Kingdom. Everything happens for a reason that we many times cannot understand, but always works out one way or another. Unfortunate for many, they do not realize this until later in life, when they can look back in retrospect.

I used to work with a woman that would always say, "I tend to lean toward Karma when people treat me badly." However, when things would happen to her that she didn't like, she would get angry. Another woman that I knew claimed to be a believer and bore some fruit that proved her claim. She was a former witch and had tried many different paths before she got on the only path toward Yahweh, that path being Yeshua. When I told her about the first woman's statement, she became angry and said, "that's [bovine scatology] because if she really believed in Karma she would patiently accept the bad things that happen in her life because she would be aware that if reincarnation was true she would have a better life her next time around." There was so much truth in that statement that I always use her quote when people try to ascribe things or conditions to Karma.

Like I said earlier, most of the bad things that happen to us occur because of bad judgments that we make. Some things are direct attacks by the enemy. I've been working in the healthcare field for quite a few years and have had the occasion to hear many things blamed on Yahweh. However, if we look back truthfully, we have to come to the conclusion that we're responsible for what happens to us. If you smoke cigarettes all your life it is your fault that you got a cancer in your body. If you are a homosexual and you get HIV/AIDS that was your fault. This is the Law of Reciprocity, and it applies to just about every aspect of our physical and spiritual lives, and if you look back at things, I'd bet that 9 out of 10 things that have happened have occurred because of this Law.

Good things happen too due to the Law of Reciprocity; some of them illustrated in the scriptures presented above. There are promises for good to people who practice good. The Reciprocity Law transcends into both good and bad practices and it also doesn't matter whether you are an ardent believer in Yeshua or you are the most vile man alive. Yes, there are many times that bad people prosper and that seems to be their lot in life, but like Yeshua said:

For what is a man profited, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul? or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul? Matthew 16:26

There will come a day when judgment will come to such people. I have never been a person of wealth. I've always had to scrimp and save just to get by and I'll be the first to admit that I get a bit jealous when I see the wicked prosper. I've been reviled for my faith and persecuted for my heritage(s) and been treated ill by the wicked quite a few times. Again, it doesn't make me happy when these things happen. What rewards do I have? Well, one reward is that when all hell breaks loose and the "well to do" lose their riches they will not be able to survive, they will perish. Having to scrimp, save and undergo all sorts of revilement will help me to survive during such times. I've told my wife many times, and she concurs, that we've become quite inventive when it comes to making a lot out of a little and, we have seen Yahweh multiply the little that we had to make what seemed like an abundance at the time. In addition, we have the promise that those who have a difficult life in this world will have plenty when Yahweh's Kingdom comes into fruition someday soon in our future. The wicked will be sent away in shame in to utter darkness where there is weeping and gnashing of teeth.

So, Where Are We Going with All of This?

Yahweh established a covenant with Abraham at the beginning. He made certain promises to Abraham, Yitzak and Ya'acov. There were many promises given, but the one that I'm focusing on today is that Yahweh has never written off the descendants of Israel. As a matter of fact, Yahweh made one specific promise

For thus saith the Lord of hosts; After the glory hath he sent me unto the nations which spoiled you: for he that toucheth you toucheth the apple of his eye. Zechariah 2:8

In our current era we have witnessed an upswing in Islamic Extremism and the flood of Islamic immigration into the civilized nations of the Western World. I do not see this as accidental. First, it is the policy of Islam to take over the world for Islam, and they proudly proclaim it. Second, I believe it to be part of a prophetic theme because I believe that Islam will play a major part in, or could be the actual Beast System talked about in Revelation. Third, I do believe that the reason why Islam is allowed to run rampant throughout the Western World is a continuing judgment of nations due to the actions taken against the Jewish people, called the Holocaust, and the inaction of some nations to accept Jewish refugees that were fleeing Nazi Persecution and ultimately, death.

If anyone does a simple historical study of Europe and its relationship with its Jewish population it is easy to see that many times the Jews of Europe were reviled and hated. Just about every ill that has ever visited Europe has been blamed somehow on the Jews. For instance, plagues were often blamed on Jews poisoning the wells of Gentiles. If children went missing it was often blamed on Jews; it was said that they used the blood of Gentile children to make Matzo bread. Jews were often tolerated in a nation or society when they brought great contributions to that nation or society but often when one of those nations felt that they as a nation were prospering, the Jews were purged or exiled from that nation. Many of these crimes against the Jews were perpetrated by Popes and other entities of the Vatican. The Roman Catholic Church has a lot of blood on their hands, that's for sure. The sad thing is that the Vatican did these things under the guise of being "Christians," and real believers in Yeshua have been lumped into the leavened dough that is Catholicism. The infection of hatred toward Jews came along for the ride when the reformation occurred. Martin Luther, heralded as a hero by many because of his opposition toward the Vatican wrote many works showing his hatred of Jews, showing the venom of hatred toward Jews runs deep within the DNA of many people. His writing of hatred was heralded as great words by Hitler who mentions Luther and his writings in Mein Kamph. Below is an example of Luther's writings in his short book titled, "The Jews and Their Lies," written in 1543.

What shall we Christians do with this rejected and condemned people, the Jews? Since they live among us, we dare not tolerate their conduct, now that we are aware of their lying and reviling and blaspheming. If we do, we become sharers in their lies, cursing and blasphemy. Thus we cannot extinguish the unquenchable fire of divine wrath, of which the prophets speak, nor can we convert the Jews. With prayer and the fear of God we must practice a sharp mercy to see whether we might save at least a few from the glowing flames. We dare not avenge ourselves. Vengeance a thousand times worse than we could wish them already has them by the throat. I shall give you my sincere advice:

First to set fire to their synagogues or schools and to bury and cover with dirt whatever will not burn, so that no man will ever again see a stone or cinder of them. This is to be done in honor of our Lord and of Christendom, so that God might see that we are Christians, and do not condone or knowingly tolerate such public lying, cursing, and blaspheming of his Son and of his Christians. For whatever we tolerated in the past unknowingly and I myself was unaware of it will be pardoned by God. But if we, now that we are informed, were to protect and shield such a house for the Jews, existing right before our very nose, in which they lie about, blaspheme, curse, vilify, and defame Christ and us (as was heard above), it would be the same as if we were doing all this and even worse ourselves, as we very well know.

Second, I advise that their houses also be razed and destroyed. For they pursue in them the same aims as in their synagogues. Instead they might be lodged under a roof or in a barn, like the gypsies. This will bring home to them that they are not masters in our country, as they boast, but that they are living in exile and in captivity, as they incessantly wail and lament about us before God.

Third, I advise that all their prayer books and Talmudic writings, in which such idolatry, lies, cursing and blasphemy are taught, be taken from them. (remainder omitted)

Fourth, I advise that their rabbis be forbidden to teach henceforth on pain of loss of life and limb. For they have justly forfeited the right to such an office by holding the poor Jews captive with the saying of Moses (Deuteronomy 17 [:10 ff.]) in which he commands them to obey their teachers on penalty of death, although Moses clearly adds: "what they teach you in accord with the law of the Lord." Those villains ignore that. They wantonly employ the poor people's obedience contrary to the law of the Lord and infuse them with this poison, cursing, and blasphemy. In the same way the pope also held us captive with the declaration in Matthew 16 [:18], "You are Peter," etc, inducing us to believe all the lies and deceptions that issued from his devilish mind. He did not teach in accord with the word of God, and therefore he forfeited the right to teach.

Fifth, I advise that safeconduct on the highways be abolished completely for the Jews. For they have no business in the countryside, since they are not lords, officials, tradesmen, or the like. Let them stay at home. (...remainder omitted).

Sixth, I advise that usury be prohibited to them, and that all cash and treasure of silver and gold be taken from them and put aside for safekeeping. The reason for such a measure is that, as said above, they have no other means of earning a livelihood than usury, and by it they have stolen and robbed from us all they possess. Such money should now be used in no other way than the following: Whenever a Jew is sincerely converted, he should be handed one hundred, two hundred, or three hundred florins, as personal circumstances may suggest. With this he could set himself up in some occupation for the support of his poor wife and children, and the maintenance of the old or feeble. For such evil gains are cursed if they are not put to use with God's blessing in a good and worthy cause.

Seventh, I commend putting a flail, an ax, a hoe, a spade, a distaff, or a spindle into the hands of young, strong Jews and Jewesses and letting them earn their bread in the sweat of their brow, as was imposed on the children of Adam (Gen 3[:19]). For it is not fitting that they should let us accursed Goyim toil in the sweat of our faces while they, the holy people, idle away their time behind the stove, feasting and farting, and on top of all, boasting blasphemously of their lordship over the Christians by means of our sweat. No, one should toss out these lazy rogues by the seat of their pants.

Is it any wonder why the everyday German would blindly follow Hitler when it came to turning in their Jewish neighbors and associates? Most Lutherans in Germany in the 20th Century were just like most Christians today. They sat in their pews and listened to the Reverend preach. They never checked their Bibles for accuracy of the Reverend's message and took every word that Luther and the Lutheran church taught about Jews as gospel truth.

By the time that Hitler rose to power most of Europe had been contaminated with these lies and believed them. There was also an air of jealousy in that the Jewish people always tended to prosper and recover after times of persecution. It must have been confusing to the common everyday idiot how these people who were called Christ Killers were so prosperous. I can only assume that they never read that Yeshua laid down his own life and that no man took it from Him. From France to the Nazi occupied Eastern Europe, from Norway to Greece, people who called themselves Christians showed their conscience to be seared. All nations in Europe, with the exception of Denmark and Spain gladly gave up their Jews to Hitler and hid killing machine.

In all fairness, it must be noted that there were righteous Christians that protected Jews during Hitler's reign of terror. People like the Ten Boom family and Schindler risked their lives to hide, protect and yes, sometimes smuggle Jews out of Europe. These people were the real saints, true believers in Yeshua who were willing and sometimes did lay down their lives for Jews and other persecuted minorities in Europe. They were the remnant, the called-out ones from all walks of life. Remnants are always what the true body of believer in Yeshua consist of. Many have come but few are chosen and the chosen are always who Yahweh uses for his glory.

The guilt of participation is bad for sure, but there is also a guilt for turning a deaf ear toward a problem, especially when a people or nation are able to rescue the widow, orphan and stranger from harm and death. Nations like the United States, Canada and Great Britain all turned a deaf ear to the plight of the Jews trying to flee destruction in Europe before and during World War Two. So, just what did the allies know about the plight of the Jews during this period?

The Holocaust; What the Allies knew

Some claim that the full extent of what was happening in German-controlled areas was not known until after the war. On 24 August 1941, in a radio broadcast, Churchill, who was privy to intelligence reports derived from decoded German transmissions, said: Whole districts are being exterminated. Scores of thousands – literally scores of thousands – of executions in cold blood are being perpetrated by the German police-troops upon the Russian patriots who defend their native soil. Since the Mongol invasions of Europe in the sixteenth century, there has never been methodical, merciless butchery on such a scale, or approaching such a scale.

Since the early years of the war, the Polish government-in-exile published documents and organised meetings to spread word of the fate of the Jews (see Witold Pilecki). In the summer of 1942, a Jewish labor organization (the Bund) leader, Leon Feiner got word to London that 700,000 Polish Jews had already died. The Daily Telegraph published it on 25 June 1942 and The BBC took the story seriously, though the United States State Department did not.

On 10 August 1942, the Riegner Telegram described the Nazi plan to murder all the Jews in the occupied states, by deporting them to concentrations camps in the east, where they will be exterminated in one blow, possibly by prussic acid, starting at autumn 1942. In the United States, in November 1942, was released by Stephen Wise of the World Jewish Congress, after a long wait for permission from the government. This led to attempts by Jewish organizations to put Roosevelt under pressure to act on behalf of the European Jews, many of whom had tried in vain to enter either Britain or the U.S.

On 13 November 1942, 78 Jews with Palestinian passports arrived in Palestine from occupied Poland, as a part of civilian prisoners exchange. Their horrible stories of the Holocaust, as eyewitnesses, appeared in the Jewish Palestinian newspapers on 23 November 1942.

*The allies received a detailed eyewitness account from Jan Karski. On December 10, 1942, the Polish government-in-exile published a 16-page note addressed to the Allied governments, titled The Mass Extermination of Jews in German Occupied Poland.*

On December 17, 1942, the Allies issued the Joint Declaration by Members of the United Nations, a formal declaration confirming and condemning Nazi extermination policy toward the Jews, and describing the ongoing events of the Holocaust in Nazi-occupied Europe. The statement was read to British House of Commons in a floor speech by Foreign secretary Anthony Eden, and published on the front page of the New York Times and many other newspapers.

*On May 12, 1943, Polish government-in-exile member and Bund leader Szmul Zygielbojm committed suicide in London to protest the inaction of the world with regard to the Holocaust, stating in part in his suicide letter:
I cannot continue to live and to be silent while the remnants of Polish Jewry, whose representative I am, are being killed. My comrades in the Warsaw ghetto fell with arms in their hands in the last heroic battle. I was not permitted to fall like them, together with them, but I belong with them, to their mass grave.*

By my death, I wish to give expression to my most profound protest against the inaction in which the world watches and permits the destruction of the Jewish people. The death camps were discussed between American and British leaders at the Bermuda Conference in April 1943.

The large camps near Auschwitz were finally surveyed by plane in April 1944, many months after the German air force ceased to be a serious danger. While all important German cities and production centers were bombed by Allied forces until the end of the war, no attempt was made to collapse the system of mass annihilation by destroying pertinent structures or train tracks, even though Churchill was a proponent of bombing parts of the Auschwitz complex. The US State Department was aware of the use and the location of the gas chambers of extermination camps, but refused pleas to bomb them out of operation.

Throughout the war, Britain also pressed European leaders to prevent “illegal” Jewish immigration and sent ships to block the sea-route to Palestine (from which Britain withdrew in 1948), turning back many refugees.

Note: I do believe I found one error in this article. The article mentions the “United Nations” as being an organization in 1942. The United Nations was formed on October 04, 1949, so I assume that this is a typographical error and is actually referring to the League of Nations, founded in Knowing that the combined Allies during World War Two knew that the Holocaust was being perpetrated against the Jews and other “less desirables,” and that the Allies did nothing to try to prevent this tragedy or to take in refugees trying to escape Europe is simply reprehensible. It is very easy to cast dispersion on the peoples inside of occupied nations that turned on their Jewish neighbors and the rightfully deserve to take blame, but like I said above, turning a deaf ear to the cries of millions dying in death camps is simply not excusable. The bigger the ear turned, the bigger the guilt, and who really had the biggest ear turned away, sadly, that guilt falls upon the shoulders of The United States. Let’s take a look at what the United States did, or shall I say didn’t do and what they knew that they could have averted or even ended:

U.S. Immigration Policy and Hitler’s Holocaust

During World War II, several hundred thousand American died and the United States spent billions of dollars to defeat Nazi tyranny in Europe. Only after the war was the full horror of Hitler’s rule revealed. Six million Jews died during the Holocaust. The Nazis also slaughtered other groups that they branded as undesirable: gypsies, homosexuals, communists, and other political enemies. The legacy of this era remains with us today and still raises many troubling questions.

Refugees Not Wanted

When Franklin D. Roosevelt became president in 1933, Americans were struggling to survive the greatest economic depression the country had ever seen. Many Americans feared that needy immigrants would take precious jobs or place an added strain on an already burdened economy.

America's immigration laws placed quotas on the number of people allowed to enter the United States from other countries. In 1939, the quota allowed for 27,370 German citizens to immigrate to the United States. In 1938, more than 300,000 Germans-mostly Jewish refugees-had applied for U.S. visas (entry permits). A little over 20,000 applications were approved. Beyond the strict national quotas, the United States openly denied visas to any immigrant "likely to become a public charge." This ruling proved to be a serious problem for many Jewish refugees. Most had lost everything when the Nazis took power, and they might need government assistance after they immigrated to the United States.

Shortly after she was appointed to the cabinet, Frances Perkins, President Roosevelt's secretary of labor, proposed an executive order on refugees and immigration. Perkins suggested that the State Department should give priority to immigrants seeking refuge from racial or religious persecution. The State Department objected to this order because it would antagonize relations with Germany and alienate jobless American citizens. FDR never issued the order, and State Department officials in Europe continued to reject many visa applications from Jewish refugees.

In September 1935, Nazi Germany passed laws that deprived German Jews of their citizenship. Without citizenship, Jews were legally defenseless. Many lost their jobs and property. Hitler also targeted with violence and persecution countless thousands of gypsies, Catholics, homosexuals, and even the physically and mentally impaired. With so many Germans fleeing their homeland, the State Department temporarily eased immigration quotas. In 1936, the State Department approved visas for about 7,000 German refugees. By 1938, that number had increased to more than 20,000. But an opinion poll revealed that 82 percent of Americans still opposed admitting large numbers of Jewish refugees into the United States. Despite pleas by American human-rights organizations, the U.S. State Department refused to increase the German quota any further.

On the Eve of War

In May 1939, only a few months before war began in Europe, a passenger ship called the St. Louis left Germany carrying nearly a thousand refugees, most of them Jews. Many of these people had already qualified for, but had not yet received, American visas. They arranged for temporary Cuban tourist visas that would let them wait outside of Germany for U.S. visas. When the St. Louis reached Havana, however, the Cuban government had changed its visa regulations. It refused to allow most of the refugees to land.

Forced to leave Cuban waters, the St. Louis sailed up the Florida coast. The U.S. Coast Guard followed close behind to prevent any passengers from swimming ashore. The State Department refused to allow the refugees to land without special legislation by Congress or an executive order from the president. Efforts by American Jewish organizations to work out a compromise failed. The desperate passengers aboard the St. Louis sent President Roosevelt a telegram pleading their case. He never replied.

Political realities may have influenced Roosevelt's decision to remain silent. Most Americans opposed entering the approaching European war. Many felt that America's best interest lay in avoiding foreign conflicts. Others were disillusioned by the U.S. intervention in World War I and wanted to avoid the loss of American lives. These views had strong support in Congress. In addition, Roosevelt knew that the United States was not yet prepared for war and was reluctant to antagonize the Nazi regime.

Finally, the St. Louis returned to Europe and several nations granted asylum to the refugees. But when Hitler's troops marched through Europe, the Nazis eventually caught most of the St. Louis' ill-fated passengers and sent them to concentration camps.

On the eve of World War II, a bill that would have admitted Jewish refugee children above the regular quota limits was introduced in Congress. President Roosevelt took no position on the bill, and it died in committee in the summer of 1939. Polls at the time indicated that two-thirds of Americans opposed taking in Jewish refugee children.

The War Years

At the beginning of World War II, the U.S. government did not believe reports that Hitler was carrying out a plan to murder millions of European Jews. But by November 1942, the evidence was overwhelming. Once again, American Jewish leaders appealed to Roosevelt: If the president would ask Congress to change the immigration laws, more refugees could escape the Holocaust. Again, FDR refused. Instead, he joined the British in condemning the Nazi genocide (mass killing) of Jews.

Wartime brought on a sharp decline in immigration when the government imposed even stricter visa regulations. Officials feared that enemy spies and saboteurs might enter the country in the guise of refugees. But as the American public became aware of the enormity of the Nazi atrocities, people began to demand that the United States do something to rescue the remaining Jewish people of Europe. In November 1943, the Emergency Committee to Save the Jewish People of Europe introduced a rescue resolution in Congress.

Once again, the State Department objected. This angered Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr., a Jew, who was appalled by the Nazi mass killings. Since 1933, the State Department had opposed nearly every attempt to help Jewish refugees. On January 16, 1944, Morgenthau met with FDR and summarized a report prepared by his department. The report documented the long history of State Department obstructionism in refugee matters. (This report was originally titled, "Report to the Secretary on the Acquiescence of This Government in the Murder of the Jews.")

In response, Roosevelt signed an executive order instructing Congress to implement most of the provisions of the rescue resolution. The order created a War Refugee Board “to take all measures within its policy to rescue victims of enemy oppression in imminent danger of death.”

The War Refugee Board

Soon after its creation, the War Refugee Board (WRB) aggressively mobilized rescue activities. It issued war-crimes warnings and sent food parcels into concentration camps. In the summer of 1944, it launched a dramatic operation.

With the cooperation of the Swedish government, the WRB sent a Swedish businessman, Raoul Wallenberg, to Hungary to work as an embassy official. Wallenberg was to implement a plan to rescue 200,000 Hungarian Jews who were about to be deported to the Auschwitz death camp. He rented buildings and placed them under Swedish diplomatic protection. Wallenberg let thousands of Jews stay there in this safe haven. He issued special protective passports to many others. With WRB support, Wallenberg’s efforts saved more than 20,000 lives. Wallenberg disappeared when the Soviet Army occupied Hungary at the end of the war. His fate is unknown, although in 1956, the Soviets claimed that they had discovered a report of Wallenberg’s death in 1947 in a Soviet prison.

The WRB also established sanctuary outside of Europe for rescued refugees. Fighting opposition from the State Department, Congress, and the public, the WRB convinced FDR to allow one group of Jewish Italian refugees to occupy an old army camp near Oswego, New York. To avoid violating the immigration laws, the WRB brought these victims of Nazi persecution into the country as prisoners of war.

The War Refugee Board has been credited with saving perhaps 200,000 Jews during the final months of the war. “What we did was little enough,” said WRB director John Pehle. “It was late. Late and little, I would say.” Yet others believe that, given the circumstances before the war and even during the war itself, the Roosevelt administration cannot be blamed for failure to rescue more victims of the Holocaust. The question remains a topic of debate, even today.

Immediately after World War Two, Europe was to say the least a very big mess. France was ravaged by the war as were many of the European nations. Many German cities looked like ruins rather than functioning cities. Patriots were busy rounding up collaborators and Allied Soldiers were busy rounding up Nazis that were in hiding and trying to escape into places where they could disappear forever. The Russians started to dispute territories and they soon threw up what came to be known as The Iron Curtain, making Eastern Europe into more of a slave camp than a group of nations. Many here in the States wondered if this was the lot that the Europeans were being cast because they involved the world in another bloody war that killed tens of millions and almost exterminated the Jewish population of Europe. I can imagine that to some in Europe the war and its devastation were the result of touching the Apple of Yahweh's Eye and murdering Yahweh's Chosen People. As time progressed, a large number of Camp Survivors and Jews in hiding found their way to Israel when it was finally founded in 1948. Perhaps the Goyim in Europe thought that with the foundation of the State of Israel, all would be forgiven where Yahweh was concerned. Perhaps He would forgive their murderous ways and let Europe mend.

Mending did occur in Europe, things were rebuilt and although the threat of World War Three constantly loomed over them, Europeans forgot about their misdeeds. Most of the Jews had fled to America or Israel and a vacuum was created. We all know that no vacuum likes to exist and yearns to be filled. The European nations, many which had been Imperial masters over Islamic lands began to accept Muslims as immigrants, first in small amounts and then in larger and larger numbers. In small numbers they behaved themselves and appeared to be quiet and peaceful. Europeans found themselves forging ties with new Islamic nations for the sake of petroleum and an ever-growing militarization of these nations by the Soviets. They realized that a combination of Soviet, Eastern Block and armed Islamic militant nations would be a formidable enemy to fend off. All of this considered, they became more and more pro-Islamic and anti-Israel.

I think that what has happened to Europe since the end of World War Two, in regard to Jews leaving and Muslims arriving en mass can be explained by an article written in Spain:

All European Life Died in Auschwitz

Published on 11/21/2004, 12:08

By Sebastian Vivar Rodriguez

I walked down the street in Barcelona, and suddenly discovered a terrible truth – Europe died in Auschwitz. We killed six million Jews and replaced them with 20 million Muslims.

In Auschwitz we burned a culture, thought, creativity, talent. We destroyed the chosen people, truly chosen, because they produced great and wonderful people who changed the world. The contribution of this people is felt in all areas of life: science, art, international trade, and above all, as the conscience of the world. These are the people we burned.

And under the pretence of tolerance, and because we wanted to prove to ourselves that we were cured of the disease of racism, we opened our gates to 20 million Muslims, who brought us stupidity and ignorance, religious extremism and lack of tolerance, crime and poverty due to an unwillingness to work and support their families with pride.

They have turned our beautiful Spanish cities into the third world, drowning in filth and crime. Shut up in the apartments they receive free from the government, they plan the murder and destruction of their naïve hosts. And thus, in our misery, we have exchanged culture for fanatical hatred, creative skill for destructive skill, intelligence for backwardness and superstition.

We have exchanged the pursuit of peace of the Jews of Europe and their talent for hoping for a better future for their children, their determined clinging to life because life is holy, for those who pursue death, for people consumed by the desire for death for themselves and others, for our children and theirs.

What a terrible mistake was made by miserable Europe.

Yes, it is true that Europe has denied their guilt and has tried to wear the facade of tolerance by allowing over 20 million savages to move into lands that once were solely Christian by definition. If Europe survives as an entity that resembles what it has been for thousands of years, only the Almighty knows. Europe stands on a precipice of either falling to the Islamic hordes or admitting guilt, asking Yahweh for forgiveness and being restored and experiencing the biggest revival that the Continent has ever seen.

The British, a people who turned a deaf ear toward the cries of those being murdered during World War Two have lost their empire and are just another insignificant island in a sea somewhere on Earth. They too have been overrun by Islamic hordes that, if left unchecked will take over England and murder all of the indigenous people there. Again, for the love of petroleum and deals made with Islamic monarchs, Great Britain bruised the Apple of Yahweh's Eyes by denying Jews entrance into Israel during the war and/or their own cities during the time when Jews were allowed to flee from Nazi oppression.

But we read that America was implicit in denial and turned a deaf ear toward those crying to be rescued. We read about the indifference that American diplomats and politicians showed toward the Jews during their plight. One must take into account that churches that originate from Northern Europe tend to adhere to replacement theology, the theory that Yahweh has rejected Israel forever and has taken Yeshua's Church as His physical and spiritual Chosen People. I don't see it as a wild speculation that Franklin D. Roosevelt having been a confirmed Episcopalian (akin to Anglican or Church of England) was a replacement theologian (as were many Episcopalians of the time) and turned a deaf ear to the cries of the Jews being murdered in Europe. I also don't see it as speculation that Harry S. Truman, a confirmed Southern Baptist could also have been an adherent to replacement theology. If they were into this false doctrine then it would have been very easy to ignore and/or quash any attempt to save the Jews of Europe. As is evidenced in the items found on the internet, anything done was too little and too late.

The fate that we have watched unfold in Europe over the past fifty years, in regard to the Islamic invasion thereof has not found America immune. As most know, Islam attacked America on several fronts before the attack of September 11, 2001. Only in 2001 were they effective on our homeland. As if almost immediately, Americans were put under a false indoctrination that Islam is really a religion of Peace with most Islamists being decent people who just wanted to coexist with Christians and Jews. Had Americans been versed in the history of Islam throughout the rest of the world they would have been awakened to the fact that the opposite is true. A little more than seven years later, Americans proved their ignorance by electing an Islamist into the highest office of the land, President of The United States. This individual has done as he said he would, that he would Fundamentally Transform America, meaning that he would in effect change the foundation that the nation was built upon and has existed upon since its inception.

Frankly, I don't see it as coincidence that the nations that persecuted the Jewish people and/or turned a deaf ear during the period prior to, during and after World War Two are being overrun and conquered by Islamic Invaders. Even nations like Australia and Canada, who were subservient to the British Crown turned the deaf ear and are being overrun by Islam. It can't be ignored that the Law of Reciprocity is still active in our space/time continuum. The Jewish people, and all of Israel as a whole are the Apple of Yahweh's Eye, a people Chosen by Him. Every nation that has persecuted the Jews has ceased to exist. Spain was once a power that Europe feared, now they are almost a third world nation. France once colonized much of the world, now they are a solitary nation that has been overrun and destroyed in to horrific wars. Germany once made the world tremble, but is now reduced to a second-class power. It was once said that the Sun Never Set on The British Empire, she held so much land around the world. Now she's but reduced to a little island nation northwest of Europe. The Soviet Union persecuted the Jews for many years, only to have their empire crumble at the end of the 20th Century. Now, America is in the cross-hairs of Yahweh's Law of Reciprocity. Our cities are being quickly reduced to rubble, our government is turning into a dictatorship and we are being overrun by Islamic hordes. We have an avowed Islamist in the Whitehouse who makes proves his hatred for Israel and Jews time and time again and who aids and gives comfort to the enemies of the American People.

There are many like myself that equate modern America with Babylon. Our people run to and fro, oblivious that we've been taken over already. We feast on the holy ornaments and drink from Yahweh's temple cups while the writing is on the wall. We are in a drunken stupor, knowing that something is wrong, but not wanting to do anything about it because we might look bad in the eyes of the world, a world that has acquiesced into the demands of the Islamist's and wants to destroy the very core of American culture. We are paying for the sins of our fathers. We are suffering because they turned a deaf ear to the cries of millions of Jews in Europe who were being beaten, tortured, gassed and burned in ovens. Yes, we did help to liberate Europe, but we went in to liberate Europeans, not Jews. The rescued Jews were just a happenstance, another group that was discovered by American and other allied soldiers upon their arrival.

Yes, I do feel that world guilt was responsible for the rebirth of Israel, but only at the orchestration of Yahweh Elohim. Did Yahweh orchestrate the Holocaust, I doubt it. I firmly believe that Yahweh can use the wickedness of men and turn it into glory for Him and His people Israel. Now we watch as the entire world turns against Israel and we know that there will be another Holocaust that might make the first one look like a training mission. But we know that the Law of Reciprocity will work again against the world, which will be almost utterly destroyed for its unbelief and treatment toward the Apple of Yahweh's Eyes. We also know that this Law will apply because Israel will again turn to faith in Yahweh and will be restored because of their faithfulness. We all look forward to the day when another cry will issue forth from Israel, the cry that welcomes Yeshua back when he hears Baruch Haba Bashem Adonai; Blessed is He who comes in the name of the Lord.
